Here are E. S. McCullough, engaged at a salary of $1,000 a month as "special industrial aide" for the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce committee on the coal situation in 1925 and provided with a suite in the Chamber offices, and the man under whose direction he was ostensibly to work, J. C. Chaplin, chairman of the committee. It has developed in the Senate probe at Washington, that he was engaged to form a "company union" at the time the Pittsburgh Coal Company broke its contract with the United Mine Workers of America, and that $18,926 paid by the Chamber for the salaries and expenses of McCullough and his assistant was furnished by the Pittsburg Coal Company. Officers of the Chamber now admit that the "special aide's" work ended in utter failure.

AX SLAYER CONFESSES

HIGHLIGHTS FROM GAYLORD'S STATEMENT ON C. OF C. COAL DEAL

"The chamber's only regret in this matter is that the work of the committee was not successful."

T. P. GAYLORD

"The chamber in 1925 at a large meeting unanimously approved the formation of a local organization of both operators and miners, and the plan was very favorably commented upon by the community generally."

"In every step in this matter full and complete publicity was given."

"The committee employed Mr. McCullough at a salary of $1,000 a month and expenses. In addition to Mr. McCullough's salary and expenses, John Murphy was employed as his assistant at $100 a week for 24 weeks, and the total expenditures due to these two salaries and incidental expenses amounted to $18,926."

"Unfortunately the manner in which Mr. McCullough conducted his work destroyed all confidence in him, both on the part of the chamber committee and the operators."

"Mr. McCullough's services were discontinued. This situation left the committee in an embarrassing position, as it had not sufficient funds to meet its obligations to Mr. McCullough. The Pittsburgh Coal Company thereupon liquidated the balance of the indebtedness."

FOUGHT ABOUT RADIO

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex., March 12.—Newt Burns, 24, chauffeur, who is charged in San Angelo, Tex., with the ax slaying of three Pittsburghers there, made a confession in connection with the crime today, Sheriff Frank O. Flippin, of Hopkins county, declared.

Burns was arrested last night. Sheriff Hewitt will leave for San

3 Pittsburghers Hacked to Death in Texas

SCENE OF CRIME

The Juergens' home in San Angelo, Tex., turned into a crime scene when the bodies of Mrs. Juergens, her 13-year-old daughter, and mother were found hacked to pieces, probably by an ax. The Juergens went to Texas last summer from Pittsburgh. The crime was believed to have occured fully a week before discovery. Newt Burns, family chauffeur, is under arrest in Sulphur Springs, Tex., charged with murder. Relatives here say Burns had an ungovernable temper and Mrs. Jesse Funk, a sister of Mrs. Juergens, declared this morning they always considered Burns "a little queer."

MYRNA JUERGENS

Newt Burns, said to work in a garage in San Angelo, drove Myrna, 13, now dead, to school, three miles from the home, every day.

BAN ON UNION BARED

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company was accused today, in testimony laid before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee in its investigation of the coal strike, of having warned Ohio operators that unless they severed all relations with the United Mine Workers of America the railroad would buy no coal from them. This was the most direct testimony that has yet been given in support of the United Mine Workers' charge that the railroads have conspired to destroy their organization.

Chester Penrod, president of the Robison Coal Company, Perry county, Ohio, swore that A. E. Owen, purchasing agent for the Pennsylvania, told him he had received instructions from the general offices at Philadelphia not to buy coal from any company "unless it posted notices at the tipple and other conspicuous places around its mines that it would in no wise recognize the United Mine Workers of America."

Thomas Sagle, general manager of the Roseville Coal Company, of Roseville, O., another union operator, testified that after warning him it would pay no price for coal that would warrant the Jacksonville scale of wages for miners, the Pennsylvania Railroad virtually put him out of business by removing a siding track which he had used for 15 years.

Union "Blackballed"

Frank J. Bender, secretary and treasurer of a sub-district organization of the United Mine Workers in Ohio, declared Penrod had told him that he had been informed by the Pennsylvania Railroad's purchasing agent that the railroad would no longer contribute to "that damnable trust, the United Mine Workers."

Bender said 13 mines in his district, which had signed a contract with the union and are operating under the Jacksonville scale, have lost the business of the railroads, which formerly were their most important customers.

It was announced that the United Mine Workers would present 57 more witnesses. Senator James E. Watson, chairman of the investigating committee, remarked that the prolongation of the hearings was then "a question not of time, but of eternity." When the audience laughed, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, delivered a stirring speech, rebuking the spectators for their levity and saying that the investigation was a matter of profound concern to 150,000 suffering men, women and children who were looking to the committee for relief.

A 3 Billion Stock.
Au Revoir Mr. Ludwig.
Why a Conspiracy?
Too Much Oil? Hardly.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

LAST Saturday, Wall Street employed the two shining hours of business, buying and selling more than one million shares an hour. Business in that neighborhood is really big.

One stock, General Motors, selling at $180 a share, represents a total value of nearly three billion dollars.

WE HAVE reached the age of billions. An investment of $90 in General Motors, early in the war, would be worth $5,000 now. There is no knowing what heights American values will reach.

The one thing certain is that if you gamble, you will end badly. What about the big men with millions? They don't gamble. They know what they are doing, and let the fools gamble.

MR. EMIL LUDWIG returns to Europe having seen Otto H. Kahn and other parts of America. Someone gave Ludwig this misinformation: "We have little socialism in America because we tell the state that it exists for the people. In Europe they tell the people they exist for the state, and there is much socialism."

WE HAVE little socialism here because powerful rich men that really run the country, selecting those for whom the people shall vote, have brains enough to pay liberal wages. Cut wages in two and you'd have here a radicalism that would make Europe's socialism look pale.

Ludwig says he met 25 men and three billions of dollars at Kahn's house. He'd met more billions than that, if Kahn invited the right 25—Rockefeller, Baker, Mellon, Ford, Dupont, etc.

Ludwig will write a life of Lincoln. It will interest all interested in Ludwig, not so much those interested in Lincoln. Until you know thoroughly the America of today and of 60 years ago, you cannot know Lincoln.

Mellon Is Assailed By Norris

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(INS.)—The Republican party betrayed the government of the United States in return for huge contributions from Harry F. Sinclair's Continental Trading Company's $3,080,000 Liberty Bond "slush fund," Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, charged in the Senate this afternoon.

Robinson declared the Republicans, even if they returned every dollar to Sinclair, could not reform their party for "what it took from him as the price of treachery to the nation."

The immediate dismissal of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon from the cabinet, because of his five-year silence about Sinclair bonds, was suggested by Senator George W. Norris (R.), of Nebraska, insurgent leader.

Norris declared Mellon's silence about his handling of bonds, obtained from Sinclair by Will H. Hays, former Republican national chairman, was sufficient cause to require his resignation as a cabinet member.

A. P. Moore Named to Peru

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—President Coolidge today sent to the Senate for confirmation the nomination of Alexander P. Moore, former Pittsburgh publisher, to be American ambassador to Peru.

Moore formerly was ambassador to Spain, having been appointed by the late President Harding. Officials of the State Department made mild objections to his selection to the new post because he is not a "career man," but the President made the appointment as a personal matter.

Moore is now a New York and Boston publisher.

He succeeds Miles Poindexter of Washington, who resigned last year.

C. OF C.-PGH. COAL DEAL ADMITTED

Admission that the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce received $18,926 from the Pittsburgh Coal Company in 1925 to pay the salary of E. S. McCullogh, "special industrial aide," and his assistant, in what was purported to be an impartial effort to solve the problem of the coal situation in Western Pennsylvania, is made in a statement issued from the chamber offices yesterday over the signature of President T. P. Gaylord.

The statement virtually substantiates in every detail the testimony of C. E. Lesher, executive vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, before the Senate investigating committee last week, to the effect that McCullough's principal effort was directed to forming a "company union" to displace the United Mine Workers of America after the Pittsburgh Coal Company had abrogated the Jacksonville wage agreement.

Facts brought out in Lesher's testimony and later either denied by executives of the chamber or thrown into hazy doubt by statements of some of the officers and directors of the chamber, were shown in their true light by the exhaustive presentation of the case from President Gaylord. This followed the interview which James C. Chaplin, chairman of the chamber's special coal committee, published in The Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Mr. Chaplin's interview set forth frankly the work of his committee and the part played by the Pittsburgh Coal Company in financing its expense, and the statement from

Arrest 30, Break Up Pickets

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 12.—Incited by Red agitators to violate court injunctions and participate in mass picketing, according to Sheriff Oddie Abbott, striking miners proved troublesome throughout Washington county this morning. Thirty union pickets who asked to be arrested were charged with unlawful assembly following their refusal to disperse at the Gilmore Coal Company's mine in Cecil township, near Venice. LIMERICKS TO EDUCATE DRIVERS

Cognizant of the fact that peril to motorist and pedestrian alike is increasing because of constantly-increasing street and highway traffic, and in view of the fact that last year 176 persons were killed in street accidents in Pittsburgh—one each day during January, and 21 during February of this year—the Pittsburgh Motor Club has inaugurated a campaign to bring home to each person in Pittsburgh the necessity of absolute and watchful care whether driving a car or walking on the streets or highways.

It is necessary to use some means whereby the ordinary precepts of safety and the provisions of the state motor vehicle code become fast fixed in the minds of every man, woman and child in the city.

It is therefore that the "Lack-a-Line Limerick" contest is introduced, each limerick giving some humorous but apt safety precept. The limerick is America's own and original form of meter; originated in the United States, it has always been a peculiar favorite with the American people. The Pittsburgh Motor Club has instituted this "different" campaign whereby our citizens may impress the rules of safety upon their own minds and make the process pleasant and profitable.

Every week day for a month four lines of a limerick touching upon safety will be run, and everyone is urged to try his hand at supplying the last line, which is missing in the published verse. For the two

OPERATORS IGNORE RED MENACE AT MINES, PROBERS FIND

WHAT SENATORS FOUND IN MINES HERE

SENATOR FRANK R. GOODING, Of Idaho, Chairman of Probe Committee.

"J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was the only operator we interviewed who seemed to look upon the Jacksonville agreement as a scrap of paper to be torn up and destroyed at the pleasure of the company."

"A number of miners were interviewed but we found few of them were satisfied with their conditions and some of them expressed great discontent."

"It was here at Terminal mine No. 6 where the committee found a reign of terror. Women were still nervous from the shooting up of their homes."

"Before the investigation was concluded, stories of bitter conflicts in the Pittsburgh coal field were told by some of those going to and from the postoffice for mail, at Moon Run."

"Your committee left Pricedale fully impressed with the fact that the morals there were in a very demoralized condition; that men and women were running wild and that no effort was being made by the authorities to curb these immoral conditions.

"The committee found generally that the operators themselves paid little if any attention to the morals of the community and made no effort to improve them."

The committee "found the slimy trail of an organization known as the Ohio and Pennsylvania Relief Society preaching its doctrine of disloyalty, the breaking of injunctions by mass picketing, the destruction of the United Mine Workers of America, together with the destruction of the government itself."

"A special effort was made to organize the young boys and girls into an organization known as the 'Young Patriotic Workers of America.'"

"In no place did the committee find where the Coal and Iron police had made any effort to curb the activities of this disloyal organization.

"The only efforts that had been made to rid the Pittsburgh district of these agents of the most dangerous organization this country has ever known, came from the striking miners."

J. D. A. MORROW, President of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

FIND MINE 'RED' PERIL UNCURBED

Brutality, immorality and Communism, by-products of the long drawn-out struggle in the mining industry, are being combated by distress and patriotism by the striking miners, the sub-committee of the Interstate Commerce Committee found as a result of its five-day tour through the Pittsburgh mining district.

In its 27-page report on the probe the sub-committee, composed of Senators Frank R. Gooding, Idaho, chairman; W. B. Pine, Oklahoma; Burton K. Wheeler, Montana; Robert F. Wagner, New York, and James Metcalf, Rhode Island, left to the whole committee the matter of recommendations.

Not Economic Probe.

The committee investigated only the human side of the controversy and not the economic side. It found that all the operators but J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, regarded the Jacksonville agreement, the abrogation of which precipitated the strike, to be a bona-fide contract and "not a scrap of paper to be torn up and destroyed at the pleasure of the company."

The insidious means of the Communists to fasten their tentacles on the mining industry, the committee found, was fought only by the United Mine Workers.

The committee found that, while the union barracks at present were habitable, with the coming of warm weather they would "become breeders of disease and a menace to the community." At the same time the committee found the company barracks "poorly ventilated, filthy, unsanitary, infected with vermin and hardly fit to house beasts."

A decrease in production, with a high salaried police force and the change from a low to a high percentage of Negro labor, was also noted. Many of the non-union miners are dissatisfied with conditions, the report states.

Mine Police Everywhere.

The sub-committee found:

"Everywhere your committee made an investigation in the Pittsburgh district we found coal and iron police and deputy sheriffs visible in great numbers. In the Pittsburgh district your committee understands there are employed at the present time between 500 and 600 coal and iron police and deputy sheriffs. They all are very large men most of them weighing 200 to 250 pounds. They are all heavily armed and carry clubs usually designated as 'blackjacks.'

"Everywhere your committee visited they found victims of the coal and iron police who had been beaten up and were still carrying scars on their faces and heads from the rough treatment they had received. Your committee found more or less evidence of bootlegging in the places visited, and in one community, especially, it seemed as if the morals of that community had been broken down entirely.

Assail 'Aid' Society.

"Everywhere your committee found the slimy trail of an organization known as the 'Ohio and Pennsylvania Relief Society.' The more suffering and distress the committee found, the more sure it was to find the Ohio and Pennsylvania Relief Society offering food and clothing to the distressed miners and at the same time preaching its doctrine of disloyalty, the breaking of injunctions by mass picketing and the destruction of the organization of the United Mine Workers of America, together with the destruction of the government itself.

"At first the union mine workers accepted relief from the Ohio and Pennsylvania Relief Society, but upon learning that its object was to destroy the union and next the government, they all refused to accept assistance from the agents of this dangerous organization.

"Your committee found that the Ohio and Pennsylvania Relief Society had held meetings in the Pittsburgh district in which a special effort was made to organize the young boys and girls into an organization known as the 'Young Patriotic Workers of America.'

"In no place did your committee find where the coal and iron police, or the deputy sheriffs, although they existed in great numbers, had made any effort to curb the activities of this disloyal organization. The only efforts your committee found that had been made to rid the Pittsburgh district of these agents of the most dangerous organization this country has ever known, came from the striking miners themselves. Your committee was impressed with the courage and determination of the miners to stand up for what they believed was their due, an American wage making possible an American standard of living.

"Your committee heard but little complaint about living conditions that the miners had been forced to accept while standing up for what they believed was their right, and the splendid courage of the women was especially noticeable to the members of your committee, for we also know and understand that when hardships and privations enter the home the mother's lot is always the hardest to bear.

'Food Poor, Scarce.'

"Your committee found no starvation in the Pittsburgh district, yet evidence on every hand was that the food was none too plentiful and was of necessity the cheapest that could be purchased. Your committee believes the conditions existing in the Pittsburgh district and other coal fields in the United States are of a most serious nature and dangerous to the best interest of our citizenship.

"Very little time was given by your committee to the economic side of this controversy, but we have every reason to believe that the coal industry generally in this country is not in a prosperous condition and we most respectfully urge that the investigation by the whole committee be searching and severe in every detail, looking forward to some solution by legislation that will put the great coal industry of America on a reasonably prosperous basis."

Find 'Reign of Terror.'

A "reign of terror" was found at the Broughton, Pa., mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, said the report. Women were found by the committee to be "still nervous from the shooting up of their homes." Miners' wives at Bruceton, Pa., testified that their homes had been "shot."

Mrs. Clarissa Englert of Broughton, Pa., "told the story of the iron and coal police shooting into a group of school children," the report continued, "and the brutality of the coal and iron police shocked every member of the committee."

"Men and women were running wild" in Pricedale, said the report, in condemning the authorities for not seeking to curb the "demoralized" conditions. Members of the coal and iron police there were accused by witnesses before the sub-committee of taking young girls away from their home and attacking them.

Use Dredge to Hunt Gold in Hudson

International News service.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The Hudson River off West Fifty-seventh street will be dredged for gold today.

After working many hours in the chill water, divers yesterday recovered only one of two kegs containing $100,000 which went overboard while the Italian liner Roma was being loaded Friday.

One keg, crammed with 2,500 $20 gold pieces, had not been located when the divers abandoned their search of the river floor, due to low visibility because of the muddy water. The undersea workmen expressed the opinion that it must be buried at least a dozen feet in the soft bottom, 40 feet down.

A huge dredge was requisitioned for use today.

Probe C. of C. Deal

Oliver K. Eaton, attorney for the United Mine Workers, received a telegram from Don Rose, counsel for the Pittsburgh Coal Company, today at the opening of the inquiry into the coal strike, stating that the company would lay before the committee tomorrow the vouchers representing the payments of $18,000 that it made to the Chamber of Commerce for the services of E. S. McCullough, who, as "industrial aide" of the Chamber of Commerce, was employed to undermine and destroy the United Mine Workers in the Pittsburgh district. The Senate Committee has shown great interest in the story of his abortive campaign.

At the opening of the hearing today, Senator Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, who was acting as chairman in the absence of Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, asked if there was any representative of the Pittsburgh Coal Company present. Though there was no response, Senator Gooding said that if the company desired to cross-examine Charles E. Barr, of Pricedale, the miner who testified Saturday that he was discharged by the Pittsburgh Coal Company because his wife "talked too much" to the Senate sub-committee that visited the mining camps, the committee would recall Barr from Pricedale. But Mrs. Barr would not be recalled, said Gooding, because her eight children needed her.

P. R. R. vs. Union

When Sagle, general manager of the Roseville Coal Company, was testifying, Senator Watson, who came in while Sagle was on the stand, asked him if the Pennsylvania Railroad removed the siding because Sagle employed union labor. The witness said he did not know what had prompted the railroad's action. He said he had offered the railroad coal at $2 a ton, although the lowest price at which he could make a profit would be $2.25 a ton.

Sagle and Penrod were cross-examined by C. B. Heiserman, vice president and general counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Heiserman brought out that Penrod once had been a miner and a member of the United Mine Workers, but resigned on becoming a mine superintendent.

Penrod said, in answer to questions of Senator Watson, that the lowest price at which he could sell coal at a profit, while paying the Jacksonville scale, was $2.25 a ton, but he had been willing to sell at $1.90 a ton to develop his mines.

Business—or Hate?

Frank J. Bender, of Zanesville, O., secretary-treasurer of the Sub-district No. 6 of District No. 6 of the United Mine Workers, took the stand to read a long statement concerning shipments of coal from his districts to the railroads, which he said were the principal purchasers.

Senator Watson wanted to know if the Pennsylvania Railroad boycotted operators who had dealings with the United Mine Workers because the railroad company hated the miners' union, or because the company could not afford to pay the price that the union wage scale required. Bender repeated the alleged utterance of Purchasing Agent Owen as to the United Mine Workers being "a damnable trust."

"Bread and Butter" Gone

Bender's statement to the committee was in part as follows:

"Mines on the Pennsylvania Railroad in Coshocton county have supplied that railroad company with fuel for the past 30 years or more. This railroad company has a coaling station for its engines located at Conesville, which is in Coshocton county. Two of the mines that have been supplying fuel for this coaling station have their mine railroad switch connected to this coaling station, which at most is not over one and one-half miles from the mines to the coaling station. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company reduced the price on coal to such a low ebb that these mines were compelled to give up a fuel order that they had been loading for these many years, which fuel order was transferred to some other coal field.

"A number of coal companies in the Crooksville district have signed agreements with our union, in the hope that they would get to operate their mines during the strike, which went into effect April 1, 1927. When they tried to have their Pennsylvania Railroad fuel contracts renewed, they were either informed by the railroad company or the broker who sold their coal for them that the union mines could not get fuel contracts from the Pennsylvania.

N. Y. C. Dragged In

"Other coal companies in Crooksville district operating on the New York Central Railway, were furnishing this railroad company with fuel orders, and the price on the coal was cut so low that the coal companies were compelled to close their mines because they could not meet the low price set by the railroad company. These mines are not equipped to load other than run-of-mile coal, which is the grade mostly used by the railroads for their fuel; other concerns do not want this grade of coal, therefore the operator of these mines had no other alternative but to close the mines.

"If the mines in the Crooksville district had received the same kind of consideration from the railroads on their fuel coal after the first of April, 1927, that they received prior to that time, most of the mines in that district would be in operation today under a contract with the United Mine Workers of America.

"The Columbus Coal and Mining Company, operating in Coshocton county on an open-shop basis, received fuel contracts during this strike from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

"It is needless to state that by the mines being idle for this long period of time, that it has extended a depression into other industries in this section of Ohio, some of which have closed their doors. Business men in the large department stores of Zanesville and Cambridge, O., the buying centers of this territory, frankly admit that they are losing money because of the mines being idle, a number of which could be operating if the railroads would pursue the same policy as they did prior to the strike, April 1, 1927."

Operators Open Fire

There was a long discussion, during the course of Bender's examination and cross-examination, of the decline of coal production in Ohio. William Belden, of Cleveland, attorney for the Ohio Coal Operators' Association, wanted to know if the decline was not due to competition of West Virginia mines, but Bender said he could not say.

Belden adduced that coal companies of the Cambridge district sent invitations on January 22, 1928, to officers of the local unions asking them to attend a joint conference with the operators at Cambridge on February 8 last to negotiate a wage scale.

Previously the operators had negotiated wage scales with the district or national officers of the United Mine Workers, and since they were ignored in the invitation to the conference last month, the union miners in the Cambridge district ignored the invitation.

Bender said that since the beginning of the strike on April 1, 1927, the district officers have received no invitation to a conference from the operators. Attorney Belden said he would prove that they had.

Spurned Mediation

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, asked Belden if the Ohio operators had not been invited by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis to meet the international officers of the miners' union in conference in Washington last December, and if they had not refused. Belden admitted that that was the case, and said at the proper time he would show why they refused.

Just before the midday recess was taken Senator Watson inquired of counsel for the United Mine Workers how many more witnesses they would present. He said it was desirable that no more should be placed on the stand than were necessary to prove a contention, and that one matter at a time should be taken up—the alleged conspiracy of the railroads at one time, the conditions in the mining towns at another time, and so on. So far as conditions in the mining towns were concerned, Watson said, he thought the subject had been pretty thoroughly covered by the report of the sub-committee which toured the Pittsburgh district.

Oliver K. Eaton, of the United Mine Workers' legal staff, said they would like to offer witnesses who would testify to matters not covered by the sub-committee's report. Senator Gooding called attention, too, to the fact that the sub-committee's tour had been limited to a very small section of the area affected by the strike. The investigation, he said, should be "thorough and severe."

"The Busy Probers"

Senator Watson added that the members of the committee were very busy men. He and Senators Couzens and Fess, as members of the finance committee, had tax matters to consider, he said. And he himself had in addition, he said, amid the laughter of the audience, "a personal matter in Indiana" that required his attention.

Henry Warrum, chief counsel for the United Mine Workers, said the union would try to shorten the hearings by presenting many affidavits instead of having the witnesses testify in person before the committee.

"But as a good lawyer yourself," said Warrum to Senator Watson, "you should know that a conspiracy such as we charge against the railroads can rarely be proved by the statements of the conspirators themselves. It will be necessary for us to show the conditions surrounding the plot."

An attorney for the New York Central Railroad broke in at this point and said W. C. Bower, the company's manager of stores and purchases, had been in Washington under subpena since the investigation began, and that it was important for him to get away. He asked for an estimate as to when he would be called.

Warrum said he would put Bower on the stand next Wednesday.

Senator Watson then asked again how many witnesses the United Mine Workers would call.

"About fifty," said Warrum, after consulting his associates.

"Then," said Watson, "this is a question, not of time, but of eternity."

"Full Probe!"—Lewis

There was an outburst of laughter from the audience, and John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, leaped to his feet. With scowling face and flashing eyes, he cried:

"This is no trivial matter. This is no matter for levity. Five hundred and ninety-two thousand bituminous coal miners will be vitally affected by what goes on here. Nearly 150,000 suffering men, women and children are looking to this committee for relief. This is a matter of the most profound concern to a great cross section of the American citizenship and I deprecate any effort to restrict the scope of the presentation of the United Mine Workers' cause."

Senator Watson said he appreciated the importance of the investigation, and would give all sides ample opportunity to tell their stories. He was not seeking to restrict the scope of the inquiry, he said, but merely to ascertain how long it would require.

As the operators and railroads will offer testimony after the United Mine Workers have finished, the general opinion is that the investigation will continue a month.

MELLON IS ASSAILED BY NORRIS

ate Public Lands Committee tomorrow. All have agreed to be present.

"Mr. Coolidge," said Norris, "ought to have required Mr. Mellon to resign as soon as he knew that Mr. Mellon had remained silent for nearly five years about Mr. Sinclair's bonds. It was Mr. Mellon's duty as a public officer of the government to come forward and reveal that bond transaction with Hays."

Robinson minced no words in flaying the Republican party because of the Sinclair bond deals. He described the revelations of Saturday as "disclosures of peculiarly disgusting and revolting corruption." He also declared the Republicans, they desired to reform their party, "might have to restore other contributions," aside from those made by Sinclair.

FLAYS HAYS

It was the now famous memorandum, written by the late John T. Pratt, New York Standard Oil official, before his death, that provoked attacks on the leadership of the Republican party. In his memorandum Pratt noted his having received $50,000 in Sinclair bonds in return for which he sent Fred W. Upham, of Chicago, then Republican national treasurer, a check for $50,000. In the corner of the memorandum were the names—"Weeks, Andy, Butler, Dupont."

Robinson demanded to know how Hays expected to "restore himself in the public confidence and respect or relieve the party he represents from the odium of having sold itself to the despoilers of the nation."

He recounted the long story of Hays' handling of Sinclair bonds, as Hays himself told it on the witness stand. Hays had said he sent $60,000 of Sinclair bonds to Upham, $25,000 to former secretary of War John W. Weeks and $50,000 to Pratt. Hays said nothing about Mellon or Butler.

"CROOKED" DEAL

Robinson referred to these Sinclair gifts as coming "from that chief beneficiary in the fraudulent transactions by which the naval oil reserves were bartered away." He added that Hays "proceeded by methods common to crooks with efforts to exchange the bonds with prominent Republicans for cash."

"Such records as were kept warrant the conviction that the whole transaction was corrupt," Robinson shouted. "The testimony of Mr. Hays before the committee in 1924 warrants the conclusion that he deliberately concealed the use by him, as political chairman, of the bonds obtained from Mr. Sinclair, and in that sense subjected himself to the possible charge of perjury."

FOUGHT OVER RADIO

Angelo with his prisoner this afternoon.

According to Sheriff Flippin, Burns said he had been playing the radio on the night the murders were committed. When members of the family remonstrated, Burns picked up an ax and killed them.

SAN ANGELO, Tex., March 12—(AP.)—Discovery of the mutilated bodies of Mrs. W. J. Juergens, her daughter, Myrna, about 13, and her mother, Mrs. Rosa Schirra, of Pittsburgh, Pa., in the Juergens home here, has led to the arrest of a man believed to be Newt Burns, chauffeur for the family.

The three bodies were found in the Juergens home yesterday when a neighbor became suspicious. All apparently were killed as they slept. A hatchet, a large knife and an ice pick were found near the bodies.

A search for Burns, described as chauffeur and friend of the family, was started immediately. When he could not be located here, and it was learned the family automobile also was missing, his description was broadcast. Within a few hours a man answering the chauffeur's description was arrested at Sulphur Springs, several hundred miles away. He was held without bond on a charge of murder.

Mr. Juergens, employed by an oil company at Texon, Tex., was at that place when notified of the slayings. No statement from him was made public.

One of the leads followed by authorities was the report that Myrna, a student in the Academy of Immaculate Conception here, left the school March 2, after telling her teachers her father had called for her. The school officials said the child left the playground so hurriedly they were unable to say who called for her. They said she often had been permitted to leave when her father came for her on his visits to his family.

Physicians believed the killings occurred about a week ago, when a neighbor recalled hearing screams during the night, but failed to investigate.

RELATIVES LIVE HERE

Wilbert Juergens, whose wife, daughter and mother-in-law were found slain in San Angelo, Tex., yesterday, has a brother and father residing in Brookline. Clarence M. Juergens, of 254 LeMoyne avenue, is a brother and John S. Juergens, of 2122 Pinehurst avenue, is the father. The brother said yesterday that the W. J. Juergens family had motored to Pittsburgh from Texas last summer.

At the time they made the trip here they were accompanied by Newton Burns, whom they had met in Texas. Burns is believed to have lived in Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Rose R. Schirra, Mrs. Juergens' mother, lived at 4812 Sciota street. She left Pittsburgh the day after Christmas to spend the winter with her daughter. Mrs. Schirra's husband is living at the Sciota street address, as is Miss Ida Ruppel, Mrs. Schirra's daughter by another marriage. Two other sisters of Mrs. Juergens live in Pittsburgh. They are Mrs. Jesse Funk, of 526 Gross street, and Mrs. Joseph Ryan, of 941 Greenfield avenue.

Mrs. Funk said today she had a premonition of something tragic last Friday night, reporting to her husband that her mind was filled with thoughts of death in various forms, and her misgivings were brought forcefully to mind this morning when news of crime reached here.

"Mother was quite active and traveled a great deal," Mrs. Funk said, "but dad didn't want her to leave for Texas on this trip. He said it was different from other times she had gone away, and he said he never felt so sad over the parting before."

"Burns was a hot tempered fellow," Mr. Funk said. "I recall instances of his quick temper while the family were here. They were uncalled for and we always thought him somewhat erratic, if not, actually a bit 'cracked.'"

Members of the family were greatly disturbed over the fact they had received no word this morning from Juergens.

"He will wire just as soon as he finds out the details," Funk said, "but we expected word before this."

WILL ROGERS.

Now wouldn't you naturally think if a man was told by a majority of his voters that he wasn't wanted any more, that he would naturally step out and say, "Why, certainly, put in the man who has defeated me."

Now that would be the case in any other business in the world, but not with these political babies. They say:

"You may beat me in November, but I will be on your neck till the following December."

LINDY NEAR HIS FIRST MILLION

(Copyright, 1928, by International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, still under 27, already has amassed close to his first million.

The tow-headed boy who began his climb to fame and fortune in a mail plane at two-hundred-and-something a month has earned more in a year than most people accumulate in a lifetime.

All this he has accomplished without in any way forsaking the calling which made him one of the world's greatest heroes of all time.

Although he is known to have smoked one cigaret, he has never indorsed any brand. He does not favor any particular style of clothing or golf balls and he wears no man's collar.

SPURNS MILLIONS

Millions in vaudeville contracts have been spurned with a snap of his fingers, and millions more in movie royalties have been left for those who go in for that sort of thing. Harassed almost to distraction by airplane manufacturers, inventors and operators who have offered millions to have him sit at their own glass-top desks, he has persisted in his determination never to capitalize his name for merely

Find Bride on Bus 'Seeing America'

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 12.—Maxwell Root, 21, who left here last November to "see America," has returned, not with the three men with whom he started, but with a certain young woman.

Root told of boarding a motor bus in San Francisco for the homeward journey. On the bus he met Gertrude Winsor of Denver. When the bus reached Denver six days later Maxwell and Gertrude sped for a minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Root are at home to friends at 913 West Pike street.

REFUSED CASH, HE HITS WOMAN, GRABS BABY

A beggar whom Mrs. Lillian Gebhart, 30, of East Eighth avenue, Tarentum, refused money last night in Fourth avenue, Brackenridge, struck the woman in the face and snatched her 11-month-old baby. The beggar, a young man, hit the mother in the mouth and then grasped the infant from a carriage and ran.

A crowd of young men who were attracted by the mother's screams chased the attacker for more than a mile and finally forced him to abandon the child. The chase led through back streets and alleyways of Brackenridge. The child was not harmed.

STAGES ROBBERY A LA WESTERN

An armed robber, who used wild west methods, last night held up the Thubron Tire & Supply Company office, 15 West Montgomery avenue, North Side, fired several shots into the air to frighten a crowd that blocked the front of the shop, and then escaped in a small automobile in which he had left two young women waiting. The robbery occurred during early evening, when many were passing in the streets.

John Englebarth, an attendant, told police that he was sitting in the office with the door locked when the robber smashed a glass in the door with the butt of a revolver, reached in and opened the door. The intruder then forced Englebarth to the rear of the shop and forced him to open a cash register and turn over $45. The man fired two shots into the ceiling of the shop and strode to the street.

He entered a car in which two young women were seated and drove away.

Papers Reflect Demand of Age Baker Says

PARIS, March 12.—America's newspapers illustrate the universal desire for a rapid, picturesque, intensified manner of writing, Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, said here today in a speech before the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace meeting.

"Their sensationalism is nothing more than a response to the hurrying, ever-changing mood of the people," Dr. Baker declared.

MAYOR'S PICTURE GETS RAZZING

Police and firemen are not taking kindly to the hanging of pictures of Mayor Charles H. Kline and members of his cabinet in police stations and fire engine houses throughout the city. The Mayor ordered his cabinet to pose for the picture and paid for the "art" out of his own pocket.

As a picture of "hizzoner" was unveiled in a downtown fire house last week, the fire fighters gave three cheers. Cat calls and the old razzberry followed. Even the captain joined in the banter and razzed the Mayor.

The pictures of the Mayor and his cabinet were ordered to be hung in a conspicuous place. To be sure that the "art" would be seen by persons entering the fire houses, assistant fire chiefs were detailed by Fire Chief Richard Smith to hang the pictures.

"All that is needed now for an art salon is a few pictures of bathing beauties," one of the firemen remarked as he gave the Mayor's picture the once over.

ALIQUIPPA MAN FOUND SHOT

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., March 12.—What is believed to be a murder mystery confronted police here today with the finding of William Diakidis, 30, a Greek, dead in his room with a bullet through his heart and another back of his right ear.

Diakidis, a laborer at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation plant, was found lying on the floor in his rooming house late yesterday. A revolver nearby had two empty shells. Police do not believe it possible for the man to have fired both shots, as either would have been fatal.

TRAFFIC HELD UP BY WEARY COW

Exhausted by a trek all the way from Carnegie to Pittsburgh, a weary cow selected a spot in Second avenue below Smithfield street this morning and laid down, impeding traffic and holding hundreds of interested spectators for half an hour.

The animal belonged to Joe Beckett, livery stable owner, of 1852 Forbes street. Ezra Kubick, an employe, was driving a wagon containing a newly arrived calf, while the mother plodded behind at the end of the rope.

E. B. Kolle, an agent of the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society, and several assistants trussed up the cow like a Christmas turkey and loaded it into the horse ambulance for removal to the Forbes street stable.

Beckett and Kubick were arrested on charges of cruelty to animals preferred by the Humane Society and will be given a hearing tomorrow afternoon before Justice of the Peace A. A. Davis, Emsworth.

ARREST 30 PICKETS

by state troopers at Burgettstown and 50 other pickets at Montour Mine No. 1 of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Huston were also dispersed.

Corp. Harold Pierce of Huston, accompanied by Prvt. Arthur Flanigan of Washington, found the pickets at the Gilmore mine at 5 o'clock this morning. They ordered the strikers to disperse. The men left, but returned a short time later. Once again they were ordered to disperse, but returned a second time, demanding to be arrested. Corp. Pierce took them in busses to the office of Justice of the Peace Thomas Reese of Canonsburg, where charges of unlawful assembly were placed against them. They were later released on their own recognizance.

Troopers patroled the state road in the vicinity of Bulger Station and the township road leading to the Bulger mine, and kept a crowd of 200 strikers on the move.

Sheriff Oddie Abbot of Washington county, has issued orders against gatherings of radicals anywhere in the county.

"No meetings sponsored by the Save the Union committee, the Labor party or the 'junior union,' said to be an I. W. W. organization for children, will be permitted," declared the sheriff this morning. "I have called upon the state police to assist in breaking up such gatherings. We will not tolerate un-Americanism such as these people advocate," he concluded.

In line with this policy, a meeting of the "junior union" was dispersed Saturday at Avella. About 200 children, who had gathered in Granish Hall under the leadership of Fanny Toohey, were sent to their homes and Miss Toohey was told she would not be permitted to meet with the children.

Two other meetings were broken up last week, one at Morgan and another at Midway. Steve Kemenovich, secretary of the Save the Union committee, and Anthony Minerich were scheduled to speak.

"There was no radical persuasion among our pickets arrested at the Gilmore mine this morning," declared John J. O'Leary, member of the international board of the United Mine Workers of America, today at Pittsburgh headquarters of the miners' union. "Our people were engaged in peaceful picketing and were under the leadership of two union organizers—Carl Wolcott, a district man, and Samuel Caddy, an international organizer.

"We have never entered into an agreement as to the number of pickets on the line, and so long as our pickets behave themselves and do not break any laws, they should not be subject to arrest," Mr. O'Leary continued.

A telegram telling of the pickets' arrest was sent to Philip Murray, international vice president, who is attending the Senate coal hearing in Washington. The telegram follows:

"Twenty-eight members of organization arrested for peaceful picketing at Gilmore mine by Corp. Pierce of the state police. Men are in jail at Washington, Pa. Corp. Pierce refused to state charges against the men."

Emil Phillips, in charge of the union pickets at Montour Mine No. 1 of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, said the state police blocked the road with their horses and refused to allow the Gilmore pickets to pass after driving them down the road. Phillips was a former deputy constable in Cecil township and declared the pickets were orderly and had not violated any law.

"The police blocked the road and threatened to club anybody that tried to get past them," declared Phillips. "It was at this juncture that our organizers asked the troopers to arrest the pickets if they were breaking the law."

the Forty-third Street Police Station on a suspicious person charge.

Police were called to the Bannerway house shortly after noon yesterday by a report from neighbors that a party had been held at the Beck home Saturday night and that none of the guests had been seen early yesterday. Clara Strauss, 15, a daughter of one of the dead men, had called to search for her father and had seen the victims on the floor by looking through a window from a second floor porch. She told neighbors, who called police. All the victims were found unconscious on the second floor, except Knoebel, who was asleep on the first floor, only slightly affected.

Strauss died in the St. Francis Hospital and Parker died in the St. Margaret's Hospital a short time after they had been admitted. A gas fire was burning in the front room of the second floor and a large kitchen range was lighted. All the windows in the house were closed. Police reported confiscating a small quantity of liquor.

fort in the fact that just now Mr. Sinclair may be slightly prejudiced on oil matters. In any case, there are oil fields belonging to the United States Navy that will not be dumped into the over-production.

GASOLINE consumption increased 12.4 per cent last year. California led, using one billion seventeen million gallons. If every state had, in proportion to population, as many automobiles as California, there would be 60,000,000 cars running in America, instead of 24,000,000.

The problem is not too much oil, but how to check waste that will menace the country later, unless a substitute for gasoline is found.

MEXICO'S Supreme Court approves the alien land law forbidding foreigners to own land within 100 miles of the border, or 50 miles of the seacoast. If that law stands, it means practical confiscation of practically all the best oil lands developed by American capital. Americans can keep their lands by becoming Mexican citizens, which they will not do. Failing that, their property will be sold at auction, only Mexican citizens allowed to bid. You can imagine what prices the property worth hundreds of millions would bring.

Mexico will probably discover that American capital is "sensitive" when it comes to confiscation.

PRISONER SEES FATHER'S BODY

En route to the Western Penitentiary, where he will begin serving a sentence of from six months to two years for robbery, Mike Yarsavage, Jr., 19, will stop at the county morgue and identify the body of his father, Mike Yarsavage, of Nant-y-Glo. The elder Yarsavage, mistaken for a strike-breaker, was beaten to death at Rural Ridge, Indiana township, last Monday.

Today in Indiana county his oldest son was sentenced on a robbery charge and John P. Black, superintendent of the morgue, made arrangements with the sheriff of that county to stop with his prisoner to complete the records at the morgue.

According to information obtained by the coroner, the mother is an inmate of an insane asylum, two daughters are in Morganza, and another son is in a home in Washington. The father was searching for a home for a 12-year-old son, when he was attacked and killed. The latter is now with friends on the South Side.

Oakdale Seniors Play Politics For Depot

The senior class of Oakdale High School has taken up the borough's campaign for a new depot at the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The class argued over whether it should ride the P. R. R. or the Baltimore and Ohio to Washington in June when it celebrates graduation.

The vote favored the B. & O. —by a margin of one. Another vote was taken—and the P. R. R. triumphed by a margin of one—because in the meantime the student politicians had impressed on one voter that borough officials were campaigning for a new P. R. R. station.

Raising her child on common sense

HERE'S a baby that is being brought up in the way he should go, on a plain, sensible kind of rule. His mother learned it from her own experience before he was born. "Just keep your system in good working order", her doctor told her, "and you'll never have anything to worry about."

So, of course, when the baby came she made up her mind to follow that same plan with him. The doctor gave his hearty approval. "Go ahead and use Nujol", he said. "It's just the thing for the baby. Harmless. Safe. Contains no drugs or medicine. It's the most natural way in the world to keep everything normal. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal.

Let me give you another suggestion, too. Use Nujol on the outside of the baby. In place of powder. Just swab his skin, after the bath, with a bit of cotton moistened with Nujol. That's the new method they're using in the big hospitals. It has a wonderfully soothing, softening effect on the skin. There's no need for any baby to have rashes and chafing if you use Nujol. Get a big bottle and keep it specially for the baby. Get a separate bottle for yourself."

Why don't you try Nujol in your household? It was perfected by Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey.)

Nujol can't do anyone—baby or grown-up—the least bit of harm. And so many people have found it beneficial. Be sure you get the genuine.

"Just the thing," said Doctor

STRASSBURGER LOSES

SIGNATURE BY RADIO HELD ILLEGAL

HARRISBURG, March 12.—The Dauphin County Court en banc today refused Ralph Beaver Strassburger, millionaire Norristown publisher, a pre-emptory writ of mandamus which would have compelled the State Bureau of Elections to accept his nominating petitions for the delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention.

The decision set at naught the efforts of the wealthy Norristown publisher to have his name placed on the ballot through court proceedings and the use of radio to transmit his signature and a power of attorney to sign his petitions, from Europe to the United States.

The formal opinion outlining the legal reasons for the court's decision will be handed down later in the week. President Judge William Hargest said that the order was handed down today, before completion of the opinion, because today is the last on which candidates may withdraw.

Strassburger, indorsed by the Republican administration for the delegateship, failed to affix his signature to the nominating petitions circulated in his behalf by his workers while he was absent on a European trip. The Elections Bureau refused to accept the petitions for this reason, and his counsel filed a petition in Dauphin County Court for an alternative writ of mandamus to compel the secretary of the Commonwealth to accept the petitions. The attorney general's office ruled that the Elections Bureau was within its rights in refusing to accept the petitions.

Hurried efforts were made to get in touch with Strassburger in London and a radio photogram of his signature was sent from London to New York, and brought here. The case went before the court last week, with the status of the radio signature the center of contention.

The court's order will allow the name of W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, to remain on the administration slate of seven delegates-at-large. Ainey's petitions were circulated when it became evident to the Republican party leaders that Strassburger could not return to the United States in time to comply with the legal requirements of filing.

LINDY NEAR 1ST MILLION

personal financial gain. Lindy has put all his legs in one cockpit and then given undivided attention to keeping that ship on an even keel—and the money has rolled in.

Despite his longing for obscurity, he has never been able to rid himself of the Midas touch thrust upon him by Paris last May. He has run away from more millions than any man in history. But he has not been able to remain as humble in the records of the income tax division of the Treasury Department as in his own dashing spirit.

WRITINGS BRING $300,000

Most of Lindbergh's fortune, which has congealed about him at the average rate of $100,000 a month since his Paris flight, falls under the head of "earned income"—which means work for pay at the controls of the Spirit of St. Louis. About $300,000 has come from his writings.

Two series of daily flight narratives, one from Europe and one from Central America, have netted approximately $150,000 from a newspaper syndicate.

"We," the autobiography of the Congressman's son who came to be acclaimed by Congress, has been a best seller for months. Royalties already have mounted to close to $200,000, with publishers predicting a million sales before the present year is out. As an author, Lindy earned more last year than Sinclair Lewis and Willa Cather combined.

As a director of the Guggenheim Foundation for the Promotion of Aeronautics, Lindy received an annuity fixed by his friends here at $100,000. His all-United States tour last fall added $225,000 more.

AWARDS SWELL FORTUNE

St. Louis threw $35,000 at his feet for the Paris flight. And the Pan-American flight, undertaken chiefly as a tribute to his friend and admirer Dwight Morrow soon after the latter moved to the United States embassy at Mexico City, further swelled his income for the year.

The Hubbard medal award carried $25,000 cash and a life annuity of $5,000—equal to a cash gift of more than $100,000. The Woodrow Wilson peace award, to be bestowed this month, will bring him $25,000 more. Through it all he remains a colonel in the reserve corps, the pay of which would buy gasoline for a fellow who flew less.

Lindy's expenses have been paid on virtually every flight since his return to America in June. But pilots who have escorted him declare his money is no good anywhere. Hotel managers, gasoline merchants and even taxi drivers refuse to accept his cash. His more pessimistic friends declare that his life is charmed and that, try as he will, he cannot avoid the evil luck of amassing a second million soon.

Pneumatic Pneumonia

THIS time of year smooth tires are doubly dangerous—not only the chance of skidding, but the possibility of flat tires that come when least expected, regardless of the weather or inconvenience of the place.

No one likes to get out of the car, because of tire trouble, when the wind is raw and blowing, and rain, sleet or snow beating a fast tatoo on slippery pavements. Why be exposed—pneumatic pneumonia takes too great a toll in health and comfort—and it can be so easily avoided.

Trade in your smooth, doubtful tires now for new Dual Grip Generals. Our special winter driving allowance will save you all the mileage left in the old ones. In addition you can figure that you get the benefit of free non-skid mileage all winter. The new tires will wear so slowly in winter weather that they will still be practically new when summer comes.

With tire prices now down so far, and crude rubber already considerably higher than when the present price of tires was set, this is the ideal time to purchase for next year.

The GENERAL TIRE

In Buying Generals now they will cost you less than ordinary tires will cost six months from now.

MAGEE TO FIGHT ESTEP FOR CONGRESS

James M. Magee, former congressman, will again seek his seat as congressional representative of the Thirty-fifth district, running in opposition to Congressman Harry A. Estep, who is seeking re-election, Mr. Magee formally announced last night. The Magee-Estep race is expected to be the hardest of the five elections being held in that many districts. Magee was defeated by Estep two years ago.

Mr. Magee ascribes his defeat last election to a diversion of interest from the congressional fight to the battle for United States senator and governor. The Thirty-fifth District comprises practically all of the South Side, a section of East Liberty and Squirrel Hill.

TAUGHT GIRLS TO STEAL

Home instruction of their two young daughters in how to deftly steal articles in crowded department stores was admitted in Morals Court today by Samuel Klingensmith, 43, and his wife, Elizabeth, 40, of Ardara, Westmoreland county.

The two were held for court, charged with larceny, and their children, Mary, 9, and Loretta, 13, were sent to the home of relatives in Mt. Washington.

The four were arrested Saturday after, detectives say, the girls had taken children's dresses, two women's dresses, a pair of women's shoes and other articles, totaling $56 in value, from store counters while their parents engaged the attention of clerks.

YOUTH, 17, HELD AS FORGER

Alleged to have offered a forged check for $2,029.50 to a salesman of the Nash Motor Car Company, Edward J. Neptune, 17, no home, was held for court by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. Neptune is said to have signed the name of P. B. O'Dell on a check against the American Bank at Whitmore, S. C.

Neptune was arrested Saturday in Johnstown, where he is alleged to have received a shipment of goods from a Pittsburgh store under an assumed name. He also is accused of representing himself as an agent for various Pittsburgh companies, and to have obtained goods from local wholesale companies.

The Feminine Trend in Women's Coats

Following the pronounced, new trend in fashion, our Women's Coat Department has assembled a collection of fine coats which are a revelation in what the designers have accomplished in making coats lovely and feminine in appeal.

The use of beautiful cloths, the unique combinations of cloth with satin and silk crepe with velvet, and the employment of the very new goliak and other fashionable furs — these are distinguishing marks of a group of individual models at $115.00 to $250.00. They should be seen early, by women who are seeking exclusiveness in spring wraps.

Modifications of their features are to be had in a gratifying showing of dressy coats at $49.50 upward.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, silky, and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

WOMAN SLAIN IN BRAWL AT MINE CAMP

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 12.—Wild revelry among the Negro population of the Shaw mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, car "McDonald," culminated yesterday in the murder of Miss Gussie Burch, 23.

Melvin Allmon, aged 31, who has been employed at the Shaw mine for the past year, was taken into custody at the Oakdale station just as he was preparing to board a Pennsylvania passenger train, and will be charged with the crime.

Nearly a score of witnesses, persons attending a dance at the home of "Sunny" Johnston, at the Shaw mine, were questioned by officers, but they had been able to secure but little information. A drunken orgy followed the dance, it is believed.

Miss Burch was shot in the head, death being instantaneous. Allmon says she cut him in the hand and the shooting followed.

RESCUE HERO'S BODY WASHED ASHORE

International News Service.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., March 12.—Salvage operations at the scene of the wreck of the Boston to New York liner Robert E. Lee were underway today with marine experts predicting that the steamship would be a total loss.

Meanwhile, government steamboat officials were preparing to launch an investigation of the grounding of the Robert E. Lee on the Mary Ann rocks, a mile and a half off Manomet Point.

Captain Harland W. Robinson, who was in command of the eastern steamship liner during the gale and snow on the evening of last Friday, declared that "undoubtedly the accident was caused by a faulty compass due to severe weather conditions and the snow inside the pilot house."

Marine experts were urging the establishment of a lightship at the northerly entrance to Cape Cod Canal, contending that the gas buoy now marking the spot is inefficient. A light ship blasting her steam whistle would have prevented the wreck, they said.

Wind and rain wailed a dirge around Manomet Point today for the three brave coastguardsmen who met their death when a surfboat upset a short time after the big task of rescuing 263 men, women and children from the liner was completed. A fund for the families of the dead was being raised. Funeral services were conducted for Capt. William H. Cashman.

Surfman Frank Griswold and Surfman Edward P. Stark were the other two who died. Griswold's body was washed ashore today.

Exploring the interior of the boat by divers and rescue of the baggage were the first steps in the salvage operations. Underwriters and company officials declared that the vessel can be floated, but other marine experts were skeptical. They said if the ship's plates have started to crack she will sink as soon as hauled into deeper water or moved from her berth by action of the waves.

Repairs to the damaged hull and refloating of the Robert E. Lee at high tide were included in the salvage plans. The water in the liner was midway between the main deck and the sea deck. The engine room, the fire deck and most of the hold space was flooded. Some of the cargo will have to be removed by divers. Hand baggage was rescued with the 150 passengers, but their trunks are submerged.

GAYLORD ADMITS PGH. COAL PAID M'CULLOUGH

"SPECIAL AIDE" DECLARED FAILURE

President Gaylord is an amplification of these facts. Mr. Chaplin declared that he undertook the work as a banker, interested first of all in restoring normal prosperity of the community by having the mines reopened and giving employment to the greatest possible number of men.

Misrepresented, Claim

The Gaylord statement is prefaced by the complaint that "the action of the Chamber of Commerce in 1925 in connection with the coal situation has been seriously misrepresented, and the Chamber desires to make a statement of just what happened." Then follows a review of the coal situation, printed in the Pittsburgh newspapers at the time, setting forth the allegations that Western Pennsylvania operators could not compete with the southern fields. It tells of the action leading up to and the appointment of the special committee.

Gaylord's Statement

The statement of Mr. Gaylord follows:

"In view of the fact that the action of the Chamber of Commerce in 1925 in connection with the coal situation has been seriously misrepresented, the chamber desires to make a statement of just what happened.

"Under date of June 23, 1925, the chamber received a letter from James C. Chaplin, stating that a number of prominent business men felt the chamber should take some action in regard to the condition of the coal industry in view of the fact that the whole community was suffering very seriously from the depression of business resulting therefrom. Accompanying this letter was a recommendation for action signed by 15 men prominent in commercial, manufacturing and financial Pittsburgh.

"Following the usual course of procedure in the chamber, the president of the chamber referred this communication to the proper committee, which in this case was the Committee on Manufacturing and Mining.

"On July 1 a statement was given to the press by the Chamber of Commerce to the effect that a group of prominent Pittsburgh business men had asked the chamber to take some action in regard to the deplorable condition of the coal business in this district. This statement contained the following language:

"'The subject matter of this communication has been referred to the Committee on Manufacturing and Mining, of which Mr. B. G. Follansbee is acting as chairman in the absence of Mr. T. J. Gillespie, who has gone to Europe. If any citizen of this district has any suggestion to make which might be helpful in the solution of the problem, a communication in writing addressed to Mr. Follansbee at the Chamber of Commerce will be given consideration.'

"This statement was printed in the Pittsburgh newspapers and a number of communications was ceived in response thereto.

"The Committee of Manufacturing and Mining presented its report going very fully into the coal situation in this district and the disastrous effects resulting therefrom, a copy of this report is given you herewith. I quote the latter part of it which fully explains the chamber's position.

Blame Nonunion Pits

"'The great stimulus given to the coal industry during the war caused the opening of a great deal more coal than was needed for normal consumption. The excessive costs forced upon the operators of this district, of which more will be said later, furnished a golden opportunity for the owners of coal in other districts. Kentucky and West Virginia in particular have great beds of coal equal in quality for most purposes to the Pittsburgh coal. These were promptly opened. The nonunion portion of the industry expanded and prospered at the expense of the union fields until today nonunion fields are shipping 70 per cent of the coal being mined and have a capacity to supply the entire demand of the country. A few years ago the mines operating under the union scale produced 70 per cent of the coal used. Today they are producing about 30 per cent, and this percentage is steadily falling down. There is no limit to the amount of coal that can be obtained and operated in the nonunion fields. The customers of these operators have an assurance of a steady supply of coal, because they are not interfered with by the ever recurrent strikes which have marked the history of recent years in the union fields. From every angle, therefore, we are at a hopeless disadvantage.

"'It would seem upon the face of these facts that miners and operators alike would see the necessity of getting together upon a basis which would enable them to live. Attempts have been made to accomplish this object without any success whatever, and it becomes necessary to consider the reasons for these failures.

"The Under Dog"

"'In the history of the coal industry the four states, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, were for years the dominating factor and the operators of these four states formed and still maintain an organization for the purpose of negotiating wages with the United Mine Workers of America. The conditions of the industry have changed. Coal fields have been opened which are not within these four states and the conditions and interests of the operators of the four states themselves are not the same. The operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are not interested in permitting to the Pittsburgh field the enjoyment of the superior advantages which nature has given it. Their interest is the other way. In this organization the Pittsburgh operators represent one-eighth of the voting strength of the whole. In other words, they are in the minority and in the various negotiations in regard to wage scales have been forced to go along with the majority voting strength in the other three states named.

"'This organization in its constitution provides that "it shall be international in scope." It purpose is to organize all of the mine employes "on the American continent." It actually has local unions organized not only in various parts of the United States, but in Mexico and Canada. It is quite clear that this organization, international in scope, cannot undertake to protect or safeguard the interests of any particular locality. If it is necessay to sacrifice the Pittsburgh district in order to carry out what the leaders believe to be for the benefit of the organization as a whole, then a district must be sacrificed. The leaders of this organization have repeatedly asserted and still assert that the interests of the United Mine Workers of America require the present scare to be maintained at any cost. Thousands of its members who were working in mines in this district have gone into the nonunion fields and are working at the nonunion rates. This is winked at, but if they undertook to work at nonunion rates in the union field of the Pittsburgh district they would be most severely disciplined and most of them do not dare to undertake it.

Blame Outside Forces

"'We have, therefore, this peculiar situation. The miners and operators alike in the Pittsburgh field have had in reality no real voice in the management of their own business. The operators have been overruled by the members of the operators' organization from other states, and the coal unions of the United Mine Workers have not been permitted to act for themselves in their own interest because all matters of wage and working conditions are determined by an international organization.

"'Your committee has seriously considered the recommendation of an attempt to organize the Pittsburgh district on a strictly nonunion basis. After mature deliberation we believe that it would be a mistake for the Chamber of Commerce to raise this question. The real problem which we must face is the problem of getting the operators and the miners of this district to work jointly for the common good of themselves and of this community. Our good faith in this matter might well be questioned if we should undertake to use the present deplorable situation as a leverage for forcing a radical change of that nature.

Postpone New Union

"'The Pittsburgh operators were bitterly opposed to the present wage scale, but they were overborne and had to agree to it. The result shows that they were right. It has destroyed the industry in this district and if it continues in effect until April, 1927, there will be no industry here to consider.

"'This, we take it, is as injurious to the miners as to the operators. We are informed that at various mines in this district the miners, many of them, either formally or informally, have approached the operators with a view to making some arrangement under which they could both work and live. We believe that this suggestion, which has been made by the miners themselves in various parts of the district, should be taken up by the chamber and given effect in a way which will not only solve our present problems, but will put the industry in this district on a sound economic basis. In other words, we suggest to the miners of the Pittsburgh district that they form a Pittsburgh district organization which shall be independent of the United Mine Workers of America, and which shall have to consider only the interests of the miners in this particular field. We suggest to the operators that they likewise form an operators' organization for the Pittsburgh district, which shall be interested only in the prosperity of the Pittsburgh field. These two organizations, if so formed, will have a common economic interest, namely, the continuous operation of the coal mines of the Pittsburgh district. With the natural advantages which this district has, with its favorable location and the great markets and the quality of its coal, we should be able to maintain good living conditions here as against any other field.

Inflation Charged

"'We realize that the Jacksonville scale now in effect at the union mines contains glittering promises to the miners: $7.50 a day for day men and a mine rate which enables a miner, when working full, to clear from $9 to $10 a day, are attractive, but of no value unless work can be obtained at those prices. The fact of the matter is that no organization of men can overcome economic law. These prices are above the current value in the labor market. Men who have been working for less than half those wages will gladly pour into the industry, as they have been doing by the thousand. The tides of the ocean cannot be swept back with a broom. The fiat, even of an international union, cannot give permanently the value to labor which it does not have, any more than the fiat of the German government could give value to the figures printed upon their paper marks.

"'Both operators and miners have had a very unpleasant but convincing demonstration of this truth, and we believe that they are now willing to get together on the basis of reality and find a solution which will not only benefit them but restore prosperity to this entire community.

"'We, therefore, submit the following resolutions:

"'RESOLVED that the Chamber of Commerce recommends to the miners of the Pittsburgh district the formation of an independent organization, representing the miners of this district.

"'RESOLVED that the Chamber of Commerce recommends to the operators that they form an independent organization representing the Pittsburgh district.

"'RESOLVED that we recommend these two organizations, so formed, to enter into conference for the purpose of arriving at a sound solution of their problem, which will permit the revival of the coal industry in this field.

"'RESOLVED that the President of the Chamber of Commerce be and he is hereby authorized and instructed to appoint a committee of the chamber to take up the subject matter of these resolutions and endeavor to carry them into practical effect on a basis that will insure the permanent prosperity of the industry in the district.'"

Report Printed

"This report was approved by the board of directors July 16, 1925; was unanimously approved at a largely attended special meeting of the chamber held July 21, 1925. The full report was then given to the press and was fully reported, and was printed verbatim in the issue of "Pittsburgh First," the official publication of the Chamber of Commerce, of date July 25, 1925.

"In pursuance of this action of the chamber the president appointed a committee, choosing its membership from the 15 men who had signed the letter to the chamber. The committee was as follows: James C. Chaplin, chairman; James Rae, F. R. Babcock, A. E. Braun, J. D. Callery, James H. Childs, James B. Haines, Jr., J. E. Lewis, F. H. Lloyd, H. C. McEldowney, Robert Repp, Hamilton Stewart, John B. Watson, A. W. Wyckoff and William T. Todd.

"This committee thereupon organized and proceeded in its endeavors to carry out the purposes of the chamber as expressed in the resolutions.

"In accordance with the usual practice of the chamber, this committee undertook to secure subscriptions to pay the expenses of its operation. The chamber's budget is restricted, and it is its custom in all cases of special work requiring extra funds to authorize the committees to secure contributions for the purposes of their work.

"The committee took up the matter of forming a local operators' union with the operators of the district and also employed E. S. McCullough to assist the miners in forming a district union.

"Mr. McCullough came to the committee highly recommended, had had about 40 years' experience in the coal fields and was at the time Labor Commissioner for the Northwest Virginia Coal Operators' Association.

McCullough Failure

"The committee employed Mr. McCullough for a year at a salary of $1,000.00 a month and expenses. In addition to Mr. McCullough's salary and expenses John Murphy was employed as his assistant at $100.00 a week for 24 weeks and the total expenditure due to these two salaries and the incidental expenses amounted to $18,926.00.

"A preliminary subscription of $5,000 was obtained from the Pittsburgh Coal Company with the expectation that the rest of the funds necessary would be raised from other sources including other operators. The work of the committee progressed satisfactorily for a time, but thereafter unfortunately the manner in which Mr. McCullough conducted his work destroyed all confidence in him, both on the part of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the operators.

"As a result no one felt like making any further contributions and Mr. McCullough's services were discontinued. This situation left the committee in an embarrassing position as it had not sufficient funds with which to meet the obligations to Mr. McCullough. The Pittsburgh Coal Company thereupon liquidated the balance of the indebtedness in order to protect the chamber from a very embarrassing situation, the payments being advanced from time to time as required.

"On August 8, James C. Chaplin, the chairman of the committee of the Chamber, made a preliminary report, copy of which we give you herewith, in which he advised the public of the employment of Mr. McCullough and the purpose of his employment, and this report was printed on August 8, 1925, in 'Pittsburgh First' and was given to the press.

Failure Only Regret

"As a matter of convenience for the committee Mr. Field, accountant for the Chamber, kept a record of the receipts and expenditures of the committee. All receipts were deposited in a special account in the Colonial Trust Company and all checks were approved by Mr. Chaplin.

"The Chamber's only regret in this matter is that the work of the committee was not successful.

"The Chamber in 1925 at a large meeting unanimously approved the plan of a local organization both of operators and miners and the plan was favorably commented upon by the community generally.

"That report took the position that there was no possibility of a successful operation of the coal mines in this district in conjunction with the United Mine Workers of America under their present organization and the chamber has never taken any action revising that position.

"At every step in this matter full and complete publicity was given. Every action of the chamber was given to the public in full and most of it was printed in the local newspapers from time to time.

"The chamber, therefore, feels that the attempt to treat this matter as something which had been concealed and which was of a perverted nature was a deliberate attempt to mislead the public."

T. P. GAYLORD, President,
The Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh.

Ruth Elder To Fly Into Movie Firmament In Film Based On Ziegfeld Show, Reports Say

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 12.

A GIRL with Ruthh Elder's looks and brains wouldn't let an opportunity go by without looking into the movies, I said as much when she was in Hollywood and Paramount made tests of her. Now I repeat my first little remark with some added information, In other words, the tests took, and the world's most famous aviatrix will add to her fame by making a motion picture for Famous Players-Lasky,

What better could serve to illustrate Miss Elder's glory than Florenz Ziegfeld's "Glorifying the American Girl"? For two years the film company has been searching in Diogenes fashion for a young lady worthy to uphold this title and for two years the production has been postponed, waiting for such time as the right exponent of Mr. Ziegfeld's taste could be located. If advices sent secretly under cover of night to me are true. Miss Elder will come back to Hollywood and make "Glorifying the American Girl" for Famous.

I must necessarily add it is reported that she will return to Hollywood, but my story comes from such authentic source I am willing to put the stamp of authenticity upon it.

The spacious new bungalow built for Winfield Sheehan while he was in New York hasn't interfered with his activities. He has already engaged W. K. Howard to make two pictures on the Fox lot. Bill wants to make "The Last Cab," the Puffy story he was to have produced for DeMille, with Rudolph Schildkraut, but so far it hasn't been settled. Winnie has several plays he is considering for his new director. Bill Howard was borrowed from Cecil De Mille, who has him under contract. Many of the De Mille players and directors are being farmed out or else are not having their contracts renewed, all of which indicates that Joseph Schenck's offer to Cecil De Mille to move onto the United Artists lot may come true. If Pathe makes pictures with any financial limitations it is certain Cecil De Mille will accept some of these offers being made him. He isn't the type of producer who could or should be curtailed in his productions.

IRISH APPROVE JIGGS' FILM

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—"Bringing Up Father," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, has been endorsed by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. This is the first time this organization has endorsed a picture since "The Callahans and Murphys" aroused so much discussion among the Irish societies.

In a letter to Louis B. Mayer of the M-G-M studios, Patrick J. Henry, county president of the A. O. H., said that a committee of the Los Angeles branch of the order had called at the studio, in response to an invitation, to view the picture. The committee consisted of Henry and C. F. Horan, national director.

"This was the first picture produced under the new arrangement, whereby our society, through its local representatives, was to co-operate with you by suggesting what might be acceptable or otherwise in Irish films," Henry wrote.

"The question of Irish films was fully discussed at the national convention of the A. O. H. in Buffalo last year. The Hibernian organization in Los Angeles was naturally looked to, being on the ground, to take the necessary steps in canvassing the situation with regard to forming a co-operating committee upon whom the studios might call for advice.

The A. O. H. committee believes that the film, 'Bringing Up Father,' is entirely free from adverse racial implications; that it is good, clean comedy and that the interpretation produced by the director is exceptionally praiseworthy in giving to the screen a Jiggs and Maggie true to 'life,' without either vulgarity or farcical ingenuity."

Hersholt, Bennett in Griffith Picture

Jean Hersholt and Belle Bennett have been signed to play the father and mother in D. W. Griffith's next picture for United Artists, "The Battle of the Sexes." It is understood the director is seeking the services of Mary Philbin and Phyllis Haver to round out his cast of principals.

"The Battle of the Sexes" was made by Griffith in 1913 as a four-reel feature. It scored a success at the time because of its daring modern theme.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Advent of Spring Thrills Pittsburghers as Colony at Palm Beach Turns to Boxing Exhibitions

WE WHO have stayed up North all through the long winter are now experiencing a delight that those who have been in the South throughout the cold weather are deprived of—the intoxication of the first days hinting that spring is not only coming, but is really here.

Those at Palm Beach, though, seemed quite undisturbed by the loss of this spiritual exaltation, the gift of the northern spring, and are going about their mundane affairs with brows unruffled by regret. Now after concerts, and dances, and dinners, and yachting parties, and golf tournaments, the Palm Beach society folk are becoming interested in prize fighting. And in Palm Beach a prize fight is a society affair, attended by conservative matrons, long noted for their dignity.

On Friday Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Edward F. Hutton and Col. E. R. Bradley entertained 450 friends at the boxing bouts and tea at the Oasis Club. Among these guests were Mrs. Henry R. Rea and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Phipps.

The Frank Vernon Skiffs gave a dinner Friday night at the Casa Marcheta, at which the James Francis Burkes were guests. Eric Zardo, one of the guests, gave a brief piano recital after the dinner. Mr. Burke, by the way, was one of the speakers at the Palm Beach Press Club dinner Thursday night.

Palm Beach not only has its boxing matches, concerts and charities, but its art exhibitions as well. The Palm Beach Artist Association has opened a display of paintings recently. Among the patrons for this exhibition is Alfred G. Kay.

The James E. Duncans and their daughter, Betty Duncan, of Washington, Pa., and the R. G. Johnsons, of this city, have returned to Miami after a fishing trip at Long Key.

With but three weeks of March left, Pittsburgh society folk are beginning to return to the city from the South. Many will stay just long enough to pack their trunks with costumes suited to the continent, and then off they will be to Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Marshall, who have been spending some time at the Three Toms Tavern in Thomasville, Ga., are returning to their home in the Schenley apartments.

After spending the greater part of February in that beautiful island, Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson McCandless and their little daughter, Ellen, arrived in New York Thursday. Mrs. McCandless and her daughter will not return to Pittsburgh immediately, though, for first she is going to visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Baltzell Showalter, of Washington.

Of course you remember the "coming out" party of Elizabeth Rutan, one of the December social events. After making her bow to society the debbie, her sister Martha and her mother, Mrs. Frank E. Rutan, of Sewickley and Bryn Mawr, will sail on March 14 for Europe.

While some are just starting for Europe, others are just returning. Mrs. A. J. McBirney, of Fifth avenue, and her cousin, Miss Anne Griffiths, have just come back from Egypt.

There is one member of the younger set who can not begin her travels until June, and that is charming Nancy Miller, daughter of the William Booth Millers, of Sewickley, for Nancy, as you know, is a student at Smith College. Her parents visited her recently after they had been to New York and Atlantic City.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Frances Virginia Dixon, daughter of Mrs. William John Dixon of North Braddock, and Milo Gwosden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Gwosden of Woodlawn, which was solemnized February 15 in Louisville, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Gwosden are now traveling in the South.

Miss Margaret Forrester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Forrester of Wood street, Wilkinsburg, is home from Maryland College for the spring vacation.

Miss Marcella M. Lutton and Miss Catherine A. Lutton of Walnut street, leave shortly to make their home in Los Angeles.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Roll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winfield Roll of Ridge avenue, Coraopolis, and H. Russell Weller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Weller of Mercer, was solemnized Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Roll home by the Rev. Dr. A. J. R. Schumaker of the Pittsburgh Baptist Association. The bride wore white satin embroidered with pearls, and her tulle veil was held with a bandeau of Chantilly lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Edith Louise Roll, as maid of honor, appeared in apricot tulle over taffeta, fashioned in bouffant style, while the bridesmaid, Miss Florine Elizabeth Weller, sister of the bridegroom, wore a similarly-made frock of blue tulle over taffeta. They carried spring flowers. F. Edward Weller of Cleveland was his brother's best man. Mrs. Harry Andrew Offutt of Butler sang, and Miss Margaret Davidson of Coraopolis played the wedding music. A dinner followed the ceremony, with covers laid for 15 at the bridal table. Mr. and Mrs. Weller have left for a western trip and After April 1 will be at home in Amherst street, Buffalo.

At a bridge party given Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Samuel Dougald in Elizabeth street, Mt. Oliver, announcement was made of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Emily Wright Dougald, to Harry G. Solbach, of Dormont. Miss Eleanor Nesbitt, whose engagement to Samuel W. Dougald, Jr., was recently announced, was joint hostess. A fall wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCune, of Bartlett street, have returned from a trip to Florida and the Bahamas.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Verner, of Morningside avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Anna Verner, to Karl William Gundlach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Gundlach, of this city. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

IRVING COLLEGE CLUB HOLDS CHARTER DAY

Charter Day was celebrated Saturday by the Pittsburgh Irving College Club at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Frank Schomberg, St. Marie street, East End. On March 12, 1857, Irving College was chartered at Mechanicsburg, Pa., "for the education of females in the various branches of general knowledge" and these words of the old document were read to the members on Saturday by Mrs. P. H. Rinehart, daughter of Dr. E. E. Campbell, who was president of the college for 34 years. General discussion of the charter, recent news from Irving, current events and music completed the program. A social hour followed in charge of Mrs. Schomberg, Mrs. L. L. Cooper, Miss Ida Franzmann and Mrs. Howard E. Reed.

THELMA STILL BEING HELD

Thelma Williams, "Miss Pittsburgh of 1926," is still being held by Federal authorities in Detroit, although nothing could be learned about her arrest excepting that she is being detained as a witness in a Department of Justice case. She was turned over to the detention home yesterday after being questioned by Thomas G. Wilcox, Department of Justice chief at Detroit.

Government agents are continuing their search for three men whom they will charge with staging fake beauty contests, it is said. The Federal agents say that Miss Williams always won the contests. Charges of violating the Mann act also will be placed against one of the three men, it was announced.

37 NABBED IN TWO RAIDS

North Side police staged two raids on alleged gambling houses yesterday and arrested 37 men and confiscated gambling equipment in each place, the raiders reported. John Polinski, alleged proprietor and 20 visitors were arrested in a house in Tripoli street, and John Kolsak and 15 visitors were arrested in a house in Alpine avenue. The two men were charged with keeping disorderly houses and the others with visiting disorderly houses.

GIRL IN AUTO ACCIDENT REPORTS $300 LOSS

Helen Barton, Tustin street, reported to police today that she was in an auto accident at Forty-fourth and Butler streets last night and lost her pocketbook containing $6 and a diamond ring valued at $300.

WIDOW MUST FACE CORONER IN MURDER

Arrested in connection with the murder of her husband, Mrs. Mary Spehar, 27, of 4520 Stanton avenue, will be turned over to the coroner today. The husband, John Spehar, a Butler street saloonkeeper, died last Sunday in the St. Margaret's Hospital from a fractured skull and a bullet wound in his chest, suffered, police say as he was putting his automobile away in a garage in the rear of his home.

Lieut. David Corbett of the homicide squad ordered the woman's arrest. At the time of the killing she told police that three men had attacked her and her husband outside the garage, knocking him to the ground with a pick handle and shooting him as he lay on the ground. Detectives, however, believe that the man was killed in his garage. It is their theory they say that the husband surprised his wife with an unidentified man in the garage and a fight followed, during which the husband was slain.

"I USED TO BE ILL A GREAT DEAL"

Then ALL-BRAN brought new health

Mrs. Richardson wrote a free and voluntary tribute to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN after she had amply proved its value in relieving constipation and promoting health.

May 8, 1927

"I used to be ill a great deal. Through the winter I always had endless colds and coughs and was forever taking purgatives. Now I almost never have a cold. I haven't taken medicine or needed any for years. And I have better health than I ever had in my life. This is not just a fad with me. I have been eating ALL-BRAN for about four years."—Mrs. M. G. Richardson, 1528 Eighteenth Ave. N. E., Seattle, Wash.

Constipation causes dozens of troubles. Headaches, sleeplessness, aching backs, dizziness, sallow cheeks—these are only a few of the outward signs. But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings prompt, natural relief. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100 per cent bran. A healthful cereal. Delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sprinkle into soups. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

RAPS CLARK FOR "STRIP" POLICE

As far as police conditions in the "Strip" are concerned, Director of Public Safety James M. Clark is "either grossly deceived by his inferiors or totally ignorant from a personal standpoint."

This opinion of Clark was expressed by John D. Houston of the James W. Houston Company, in a letter received by Council today in which the writer reiterated his complaints of the lack of proper police protection in the vicinity of Liberty avenue and Fourteenth street.

His former complaint, Houston said, resulted in a formal report from Clark. Shortly after the report was received, the Houston warehouse was entered and a quantity of sugar, in 100-pound sacks, stolen. A window, he said, was forced open, and would have been seen had a policeman passed the place.

"We pay out several thousands of dollars annually in city taxes," wrote Houston, "and while one cannot expect very much for his money, it would seem that he was at least entitled to protection from the criminal element that infests this neighborhood. Instead of asking for a report from the Director of Public Safety, which we know in advance will be hopeless, we would ask you to issue instructions to him to have this district properly patroled and to install a call box from which the policeman on the beat may be checked."

NAB BURGLAR IN STORE

Detected collecting loot in a downtown clothing store early this morning, an alleged burglar was captured by police who surrounded the store. He was taken to the Central Police Station, where he said he was Andrew Cooper, 25, of Youngstown, O. He was arrested in the Feldman Clothing Company store, 406 Smithfield street, where he had set aside clothing valued at $75.

Patrolman Richard Currie said he saw the man working in the store and he summoned Capt. James Hoey and Lieut. Dennis Hennessey. While two of the officers stood guard outside one of them entered the store and arrested Cooper, who had gained entrance by climbing a fire escape in the rear and breaking a window. A charge of being a suspicious person was lodged against him.

PAYS FINE; BACK IN TOILS

Fined $10 last Thursday on a suspicious charge, after spending three weeks in St. John's Hospital recuperating from a beating at the hands of a policeman, James Salone, 46, of 1110 Irwin avenue, was back in Allegheny Police Court today to pay a fine of $100 for selling moonshine.

Salone was arrested February 17, and was beaten when he resisted Patrolman James Shaw, according to the latter. Released Thursday after paying the fine, he was arrested again Friday night when police found several pints of moonshine in his confectionery store.

LOOT BRIGHTON ROAD POSTOFFICE BRANCH

Thieves who broke open the money box of Postoffice Station No. 59, in the drug store of William McConaghy, 2809 Brighton road, early today, took $47.85 in stamps and $15.29 in cash. Fifteen dollars also was taken from the store cash register. Entrance was gained through a side window.

BILLS ENTERED BY WHEELER, LA GUARDIA

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, today introduced in the Senate a bill for the relief of the striking coal miners' children. The measure calls for the creation of a federal child relief board, for which $75,000,000 is to be appropriated.

Senator Wheeler has been deeply impressed by the suffering of the miners' children in the Pittsburgh district. He visited the strike area twice last month, once alone and independently, later as a member of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee in its investigation of the strike. He visited many of the strikers' homes.

The bill follows:

"Section 1. That there is hereby created a board to administer relief for children in distress in prolonged strikes such as those in the bituminous coal mines, children of the unemployed and of other parents in extreme poverty including children of farmers in distressed agricultural areas, to be known as the Federal Child Relief Board, to consist of the Secretary of Labor, the chief of the children's bureau of the Department of Labor and the Secretary of Agriculture.

"Section 2. The board shall have power to make contracts for the purchase of foodstuffs and clothing for children and to pay cash to the parent or parents of children of the classes above enumerated, and otherwise to provide for their welfare but nothing herein shall be construed to authorize the placing of children in institutions. In distributing such relief the board shall as far as practicable avoid duplication of effort and keep administrative expenses to a minimum by utilizing the services of available social agencies and of such co-operative organizations, health agencies and county, parish or local governmental agents, or agencies, as are qualified for this work.

"Section 3. For the purposes of this act the sum of $75,000,000, or so much thereof as is necessary, is hereby authorized to be appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929.

"Section 4. The board shall maintain its principal office in the District of Columbia, but may maintain such branch offices and employ such clerical and other help as may be necessary.

"Section 5. This act shall take effect immediately."

Representative Fiorello La Guardia, of New York, who also investigated personally conditions in the mining camps near Pittsburgh, introduced a bill identical with Wheeler's in the House of Representatives.

YVONNE HUGHES

Love leads to independence, so say Yvonne Hughes, former Follies beauty, and her 23-year-old husband, Gordon Godowsky, son of the celebrated pianist and composer, Leopold Godowsky. The youth disinherited by his father after quitting Harvard and a career for marriage, and his bride, were discovered yesterday in a crowded hotel room, the groom playing "Among My Souvenirs" and "Blue Heaven" on the portable phonograph while his bride busied herself at the wash tub. The elder Godowsky sailed for Europe several days ago, failing to bid goodby to the newlyweds.

Girl Flier Finds Fireproof Suit Not So Good

VINCENNES, France, March 12.—(AP)—A young birdwoman, Suzanne Bigot, discovered what she claimed was a non-inflammable compound which would protect the pilots of a blazing plane long enough for them to make a landing.

To prove to doubters the efficacy of the liquid, she donned a flying suit and hood and then sprinkled alcohol over the suit and set it afire. She soon blazed like a large Christmas pudding. The combination may have been fireproof, but it didn't keep out the heat and within 20 seconds Suzanne was screaming for help.

Four soldiers beat out the flames.

Smiling, Suzanne doffed the "fireproof" clothing and announced she would try again. The "fireproof" clothing is steeped in her compound.

REPORT ALLEGHENY ICE PACK THAWING

KITTANNING, Pa., March 12.—With the 20-mile ice pack in the Allegheny River, from Clinton to Templeton showing signs of rot, persons who have been crossing it daily today gave up the practice. Smooth, exquisite skin is woman's most alluring charm

In the luxurious bathrooms of great stars and in the dressing rooms of the big film companies this soap cares for the skin of the most beautiful women in the world.

"A smooth lovely skin is always important for a girl but a star has to have the smoothest skin in the world—make-up shows so in the close-up under the bright blazing lights. I keep my skin like satin by using Lux Toilet Soap."

Vera Reynolds

"Nothing is more important to a girl than lovely skin. A screen star especially must have rarely exquisite skin, 'Studio Skin,' to face the blazing Klieg lights confidently. I take the greatest care of mine—I always use Lux Toilet Soap for it keeps my skin so beautifully smooth that the close-up is no ordeal."

FIERCE Klieg lights blazing down drenching the star's skin with light—the camera mercilessly recording! Only exquisitely smooth skin—"studio skin"—can defy the cruel lights of the close-up which permit of very little make-up.

Smooth, exquisite skin is essential for popularity, leading motion picture directors declare.

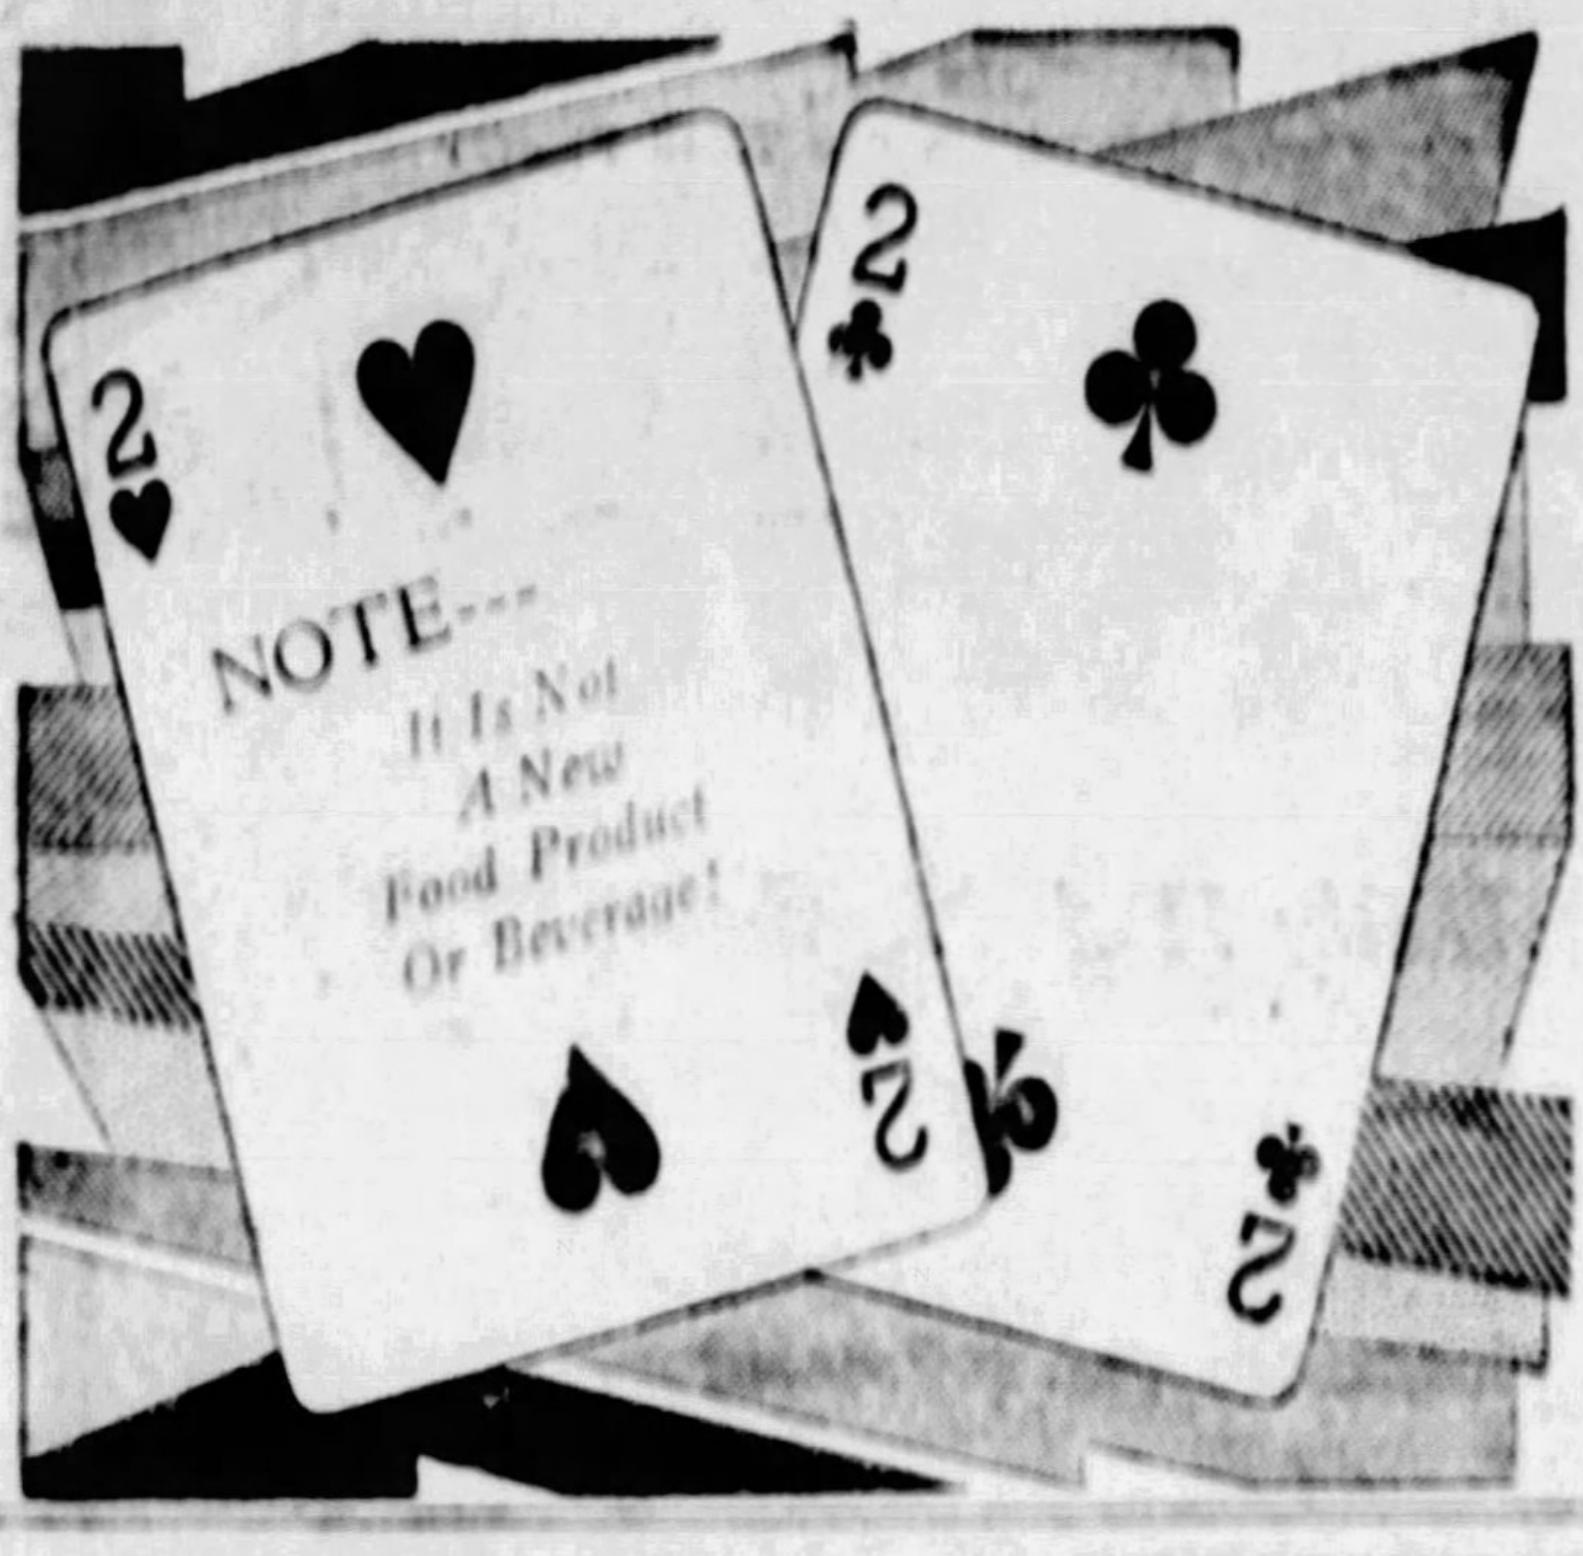
HUNT BABIES' POISON SLAYER



ADVERTISE IN THE SUN-TELEGRAPH

UNCLE DYING OF SAME 'ILLNESS'

Universal Service.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., March 12.—Aroused by the discovery of traces of poison for which there is no known antidote in the organs of one or two slain children, authorities yesterday began an investigation into the deaths of Richard Bohle, 4; his sister, Arvila, 2, and into the fatal illness of their uncle, William Sims.

The discovery of poison was made by Dr. Ralph W. Webster, toxicologist of Rush Medical College, Chicago.

THINK POISONER KNOWN

After a conference between State's Attorney Louis Kunkle, Dr. Charles Mayfield, coroner, and Police Chief Kruse, it was indicated that they possess clues to the poisoner.

Special attention will be paid to a disputed estate in which the Bohle and Sims families were to have shared, it was said.

Physicians here in attendance upon Sims, the uncle, have given up hope of saving his life. The same kind of poison which is now believed to have taken the lives of the two children is ending his life, they said.

The symptoms in all three cases are similar.

"He may die any minute," according to Drs. Frank Warren and C. Richard Vye, "and he may live two months."

SINGER'S WIFE DIES IN LEAP

ROME, March 12.—Signora Nazareno de Angelis, wife of the noted Italian basso, committed suicide yesterday by leaping from the fourth story window of their apartment. She was killed instantly. It was said she had been suffering from neurasthenia for some time.

De Angelis, at the time, was at the Opera Theater, where he was appearing in a performance of "Aida."

MYSTERY VEILS HENDERSHOT'S 'ILLNESS'

WASHINGTON, March 12—Whatever may be the circumstances surrounding the illness at Emergency Hospital here of Lester J. Hendershot, of East Elizabeth, Pa., inventor of the enigmatic "fuelless" airplane motor, they continued to be clouded in deep mystery today as physicians and attendants of the institution declined further to throw any light on the subject.

Reports from several apparently authoritative sources seem to indicate rather pointedly that Hendershot was removed to the hospital from the office of a patent attorney here with whom he is said to have been conferring regarding his mysterious motor. The inference drawn from statements made in more or less informed circles is that Hendershot suffered injuries while demonstrating his startling invention, perhaps an electrical shock.

STILL AT HOSPITAL

The inventor was at the hospital today, and hospital authorities refused to reveal any of the circumstances, rendered more dramatic by the mysterious behavior of Col. Lindbergh early last week when he turned around at Scott Field and flew back to Washington, remaining in seclusion here throughout the day when Hendershot is supposed to have been injured.

Police of the Third precinct, who maintain an hourly watch on accident cases brought into Emergency Hospital, have received no report and said that the hospital authorities were under no obligation to furnish such a report.

Police were continuing an investigation into the report that Hendershot's injuries were caused by an explosion or an electric shock in a local office building. He is believed to have been in Washington preparatory to opening negotiations with the Patent Office in an effort to secure a patent on his invention.

Although no definite connection can be established between Col. Lindbergh's sudden and mysterious return to Washington, necessitating a sleepless night in the air, and Hendershot's presence here, some foundation is given such an assumption by the fact that the trans-Atlantic flyer left the Capital the next day accompanied by Maj. Thomas Lanphier, commandant of Selfridge Field, and his attorney, Henry Breckinridge, both of whom have been associated closely with Hendershot in tests of the new motor.

When Skinny Men Grow Manly

Five or 10 Pounds of Flesh on Their Bones Make a Lot of Difference.

Out in the country they used to say "Just as thin as a fence rail" and after Jim had somehow managed to grow more shapely and add more weight they used to say.

"Jim's a real good looking fellow since he took on flesh."

And that's the way it goes all over the world; the skinny, gaunt man can never be attractive or look manly until he puts more flesh on his scantily covered bones.

Many thin men have gained in weight and at the same time in vigor and attractiveness—no thin man can do it unless he tries.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores, or any drug store in America.

FEAR 200 BURIED BY LANDSLIDE ALL DEAD

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Pulling Wrong Cat's Tail a Step in Human Behavior

We Do Not Inherit Instincts, Which, However, Are Inherited Habits

In the great Sunday Sun-Telegraph yesterday Dr. Dorsey explained how culture is back of habits. The higher the animal the less set are inborn responses. This is demonstrated by studies of the instincts of men and monkeys. Habit has become a most important element in human behavior. Yet we never achieve complete mastery of ourselves.

Culture Response to Environment

CHAPTER XXX.

OUR nervous system is no ladder; it is built around a tube. It has plenty of reflex arcs, but it is surmounted by a brain whose big business is to learn and to profit by experience.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

The baby's spinal cord is largely organized at birth; but its big brain is a clean slate. There is nothing known it cannot learn. With man, plastic behavior reaches its highest point.

We do not inherit instincts, but an instinctive mode of vegetative and reproductive reactions; also an instinctive activity which by the nature of the stimulus says "yes" or "no," a positive or negative response. With such activity, we can learn to walk and pull a cat's tail; we can form habits. We bump our head against the table; our next response to table is conditioned. We pull the wrong cat's tail; our habit of response to cats' tails is conditioned. All our responses are conditioned. That is the way we learn to behave. We do not require instincts; we can acquire habits. If we get set in them, we can forget our brains and live like ants.

Add it up: instincts are inherited habits. Have we more than a chimpanzee? We cannot say. But we can say that both of us have enough to start out in life; if not, we are defective and do not go far. We can also say that our inheritance of reflex arcs exceeds that of the chimpanzee by several ounces of neurons. As a consequence, we have more nervous machinery in general, more neurons to load, more paths to carry the load.

Man's Wide Range

But the fundamental difference between man's and chimpanzee's inheritance is in parents. Once a chimpanzee, always a chimpanzee; but a man may become a skunk or a saint. Think of all the kinds of people you know!

Man's inherited habit-to-live can be modified into thousands of ways of living. We do not inherit habits of shaving, wearing kimonos, three meals a day, plug hats, skyscrapers, abhorrence of pork, four wives, faith in Sunday schools or belief in higher education for women. We do inherit parents who do not want us to disgrace them and who do their best to bring us up in the way we ought to go.

Which means that human inheritance varies from age to age and cradle to cradle. Little the newborn cares about a silver spoon in his mouth — he inherited the habit of responding to an empty stomach; or whether the roof over his head is copper or thatch—he inherited the habit of crawling in out of the wet.

To describe human adjustments in terms of instincts or analyze specific human behavior—or our own consciousness—into instinctive acts, is to stir the mud. Human culture is the accumulated responses of the man-animal to his man-made environment. It accumulates, it varies, because man can and does talk. This seems a handicap at times, but in the long run it has had enormous consequences. Without speech as an organized tool of exchanging, acquiring, and transmitting experiences, human culture is inconceivable.

Birthright of Culture

Life learns. An ameba probably learns new tricks not inherent in original protoplasm. Man also must learn by experience. But if you tell me "the water's cold," or "that's a toadstool," it saves me time. It is this enormous assemblage of others' experiences in the form of objects and descriptions which make human culture what it is and man's birthright today what it is.

An engineer will build an airplane in less time than it took him to learn to drive his first nail. But in an entire lifetime he could not alone assemble the materials for the airplane, or, without benefit of accumulated knowledge, learn how to make one nail.

We inherit no nail-driving habit. We do inherit a motor mechanism which feels good when functioning. We took our first lesson in driving a nail when we banged the rattle on the side of the crib. Later, stimuli of nails, hammer, soft pine, an environment holding other stimuli to activity; countless reflex arcs, some already learned in responses to such stimuli; thumb smashed, probably, but the nail is finally driven. And more nails and more, until finally the carpenter drives nails from force of habit like an instinct.

We learn to skate in summer and to swim in winter, said James. He meant that our gradually rising curve of learning reaches a crest—and stops for a while. During summer we consolidate all that we learned during winter. With the next winter we start from a new level. It is even more true that we learn both to skate and to swim when we learn to walk, just as we have made progress in learning Chinese when we have learned English. But to learn Chinese, or to skate, or to dance on our toes, we must start early; our muscles soon get set in their ways.

First Is Hardest

It is the first walk that is the hardest. The steps we acquire later in life are mere child's play compared with the first step the child learns to make. Balancing the body on one foot on a wire rope is only possible because we learned first to balance the body on a ball a half-inch in diameter. We speak of such complex acts as tennis, typewriting, piano playing, etc. They are complex, but the complex and difficult part was learned by the time we could walk across the room and put a finger in the cat's eye.

Do we learn these acts, or are they innate responses that appear in due time? We know that the newborn's legs are not only weak, but are not yet shaped for an upright gait, and that its spine has not yet taken on human curves; legs and spine grow human. Several years elapse before they are entirely human in character. But they are human enough to walk on within 12 or 15 months.

The great, the essential, the refined, the delicate movements are learned within three years. That little mechanism grows up with us. Throughout life we call upon it to run, to swim, to climb, to dance, to jump, to "hold 'em," to "knock 'em stiff."

GUEST IS KILLED IN FALL DOWN STAIRS

Injuries received when he fell down stairs in the home of Carman Morra at 821 Conemaugh street last night caused the death of Michael Ross, 42, of 5 South Wheeler street, early today. The man was rushed to the Pittsburgh Hospital a short time after he had tripped and fallen down stairs. He died as the result of a fractured skull.

FEAR 200 DEAD IN SLIDE

SANTOS, Brazil, March 12. (AP.)—Gaping cracks in the side of Mount Serrat, towering in the center of this stricken city, today threatened new disaster as 1,500 volunteers dug steadily into the ruins of Saturday's slide.

The known dead stood at 59, and it was feared that the ponderous mass of earth crashing down upon the sleeping city had crushed out 200 lives.

Women, wearied by weeping and waiting, and terror-stricken children stood around the scene, remnants of families shattered by catastrophe. They hoped that out of the mass of earth, crumbled wall and rocks, the rescue workers would dig forth friends or relatives still alive.

From the debris was taken a woman who had been buried 22 hours in a room with the body of her husband. Other injured persons were brought forth crushed. The authorities held out little hope that any would be taken out alive. They said the mass of earth was so great that even many of the bodies interred would probably never be recovered.

A man who had left his family of eight sleeping peacefully returned to the place where his home once stood to find it demolished and his family dead. Most of the bodies recovered, nearly all in night clothes, were those of children.

3 WIVES, 1 HUSBAND HURT IN ROWS

Family quarrels yesterday put three North Side wives in hospitals and one husband was locked up after he had his injuries dressed.

Edna Vettick, 32, of 502 East Lacock street, told police her husband kicked her in the abdomen. She was taken to Allegheny General Hospital, and police are searching for the husband.

Rose Johnston, 37, swallowed a disinfectant following a quarrel with Joseph Johnston at their home, 1207 Allegheny avenue. Johnston was arrested.

Marie Hill, 25, wielded a butcher knife, she told police, after her husband, Paul Hill, 24, had choked her in their home, 4 Ketchum street. Both went to the hospital for treatment, the woman being detained there for observation and Hill taken to the police station after a cut on his right hand had been dressed.

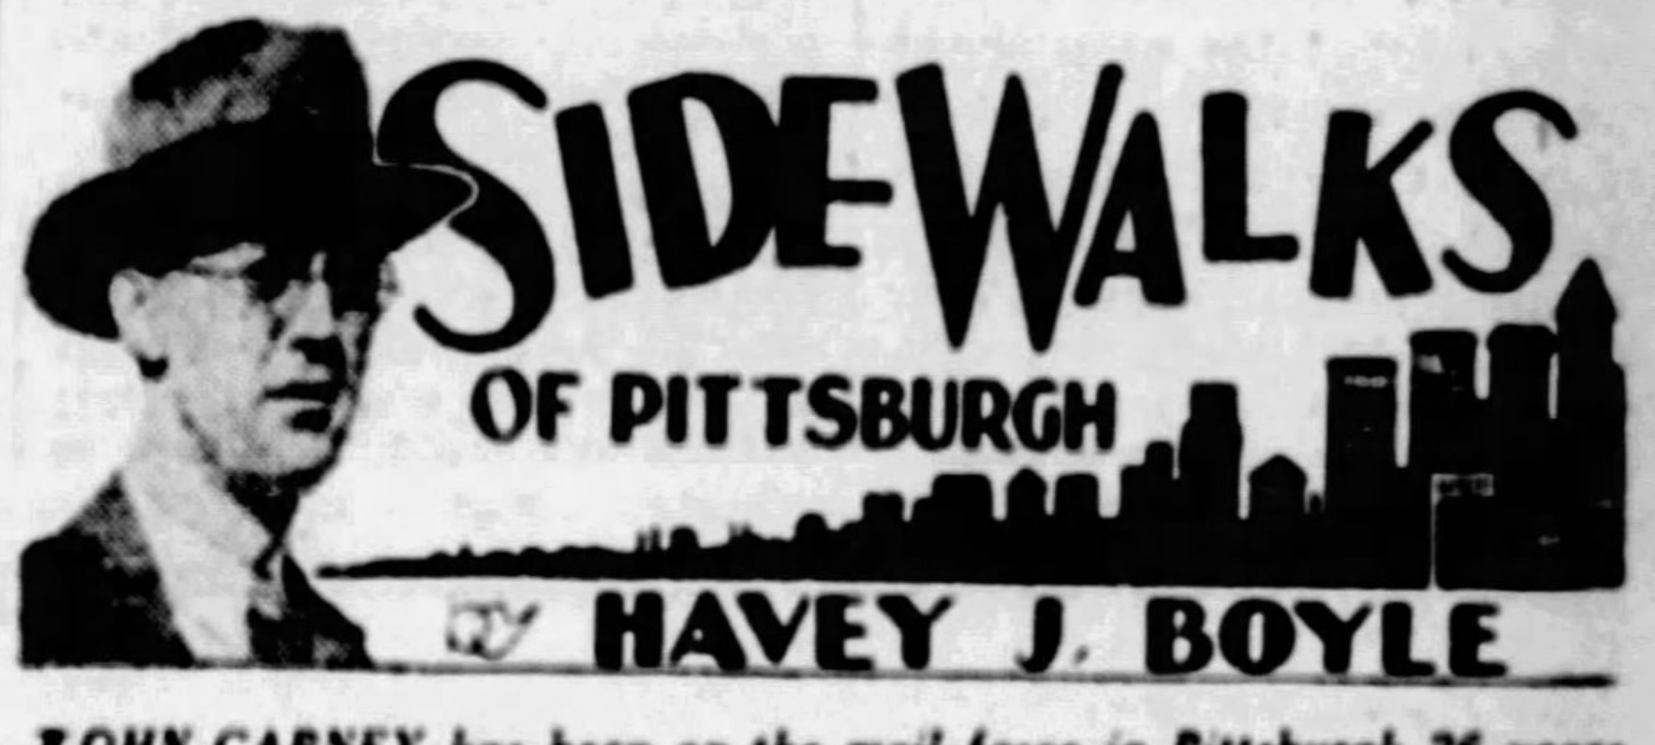
WATER DAMAGE CASE MARS FRANKLIN RECORD

FRANKLIN, Pa., March 12.—This borough's long record for keeping its skirts free from litigation was broken Saturday when John Grasser filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $3,000 due, he claims, because of negligence on the part of the borough in repairing a water line. He asks $1,500 for repairs to his property and a similar amount for time the property was idle.

RAMOS' MOTHER-IN-LAW

MRS. HENRY H. ROGERS

It was long the boast of Mrs. Henry H. Rogers, wife of the Standard Oil millionaire and mother of Mrs. Artura Ramos, the former Countess Salm, that she had always successfully dodged newspaper camera, but at Palm Beach the other day the tradition was shattered when this photograph was snapped as she stepped from her car.



SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

JOHN CARNEY has been on the mail force in Pittsburgh 26 years. Naturally, he knows something about the town, through which he has moved daily in a capacity that brings him many and diversified contacts. He was in a reminiscent mood the other day when he stopped in.

He was then dressed in what is known as the lunch uniform of the letter carriers, that is to say, the trousers belonging to the uniform but the coat and hat of the citizen. We can always tell uniformed men even when they are not wearing their uniforms. They nearly always put on their hats as if they were caps. Mail-men, policemen, and street car men, for example, always appear strange when not in uniform. After much cogitating on this phenomenom we have come to the conclusion that it is because they adjust their hats as if the hats had peaks on them. But to digress no longer:

* * * *

JOHN CARNEY in his boyhood days was an amateur boxer of some capacity. He remembers quite a few of the historic personages in Pittsburgh in boxing and in cousin sports. As Mr. Carney crossed one leg over another and gazed ruminatively toward the ceiling we pulled out a pencil and jotted down a few notes as he went on.

OH, MY! DID I HURT YOU ?

* * * *

"GEORGE SMITH, now a street car man working out of the Tunnel barn," said John, "was one of the best foot racers we ever had. Foot-racing, you know, was great sport some 25 years ago. It lost out when some of the slickers reached in and cooked a few races. George Smith, as I say, was one of the finest. You should talk to him some day. He'll tell you about going twice to England where once he won the Sheffield handicap which in foot racing was what the Kentucky Derby is to horse-racing in this country. He can tell you about Harry Hutchins, the famous English runner of that time, who on a circular track, mind you, ran 300 yards in 30 seconds.

* * * *

"PETE WELSH was another good runner around Pittsburgh in an earlier day. The fastest man I ever saw was John Lobert who later became a professional baseball star. John Lobert was a member of the old Beltzhoover Athletic Club, which I believe, turned out more good players than any other organization around. Otto Knabe, Frank Schltz, Joe Schultz, and a number of others were members of that club.

* * * *

"FRANK SCHULTZ who is now a carpenter, was one of the best all-around athletes I ever have seen. He could box, play ball, and run. Better than this, he could tell about his experiences in a fashion that would bring a high price on the vaudeville stage.

* * * *

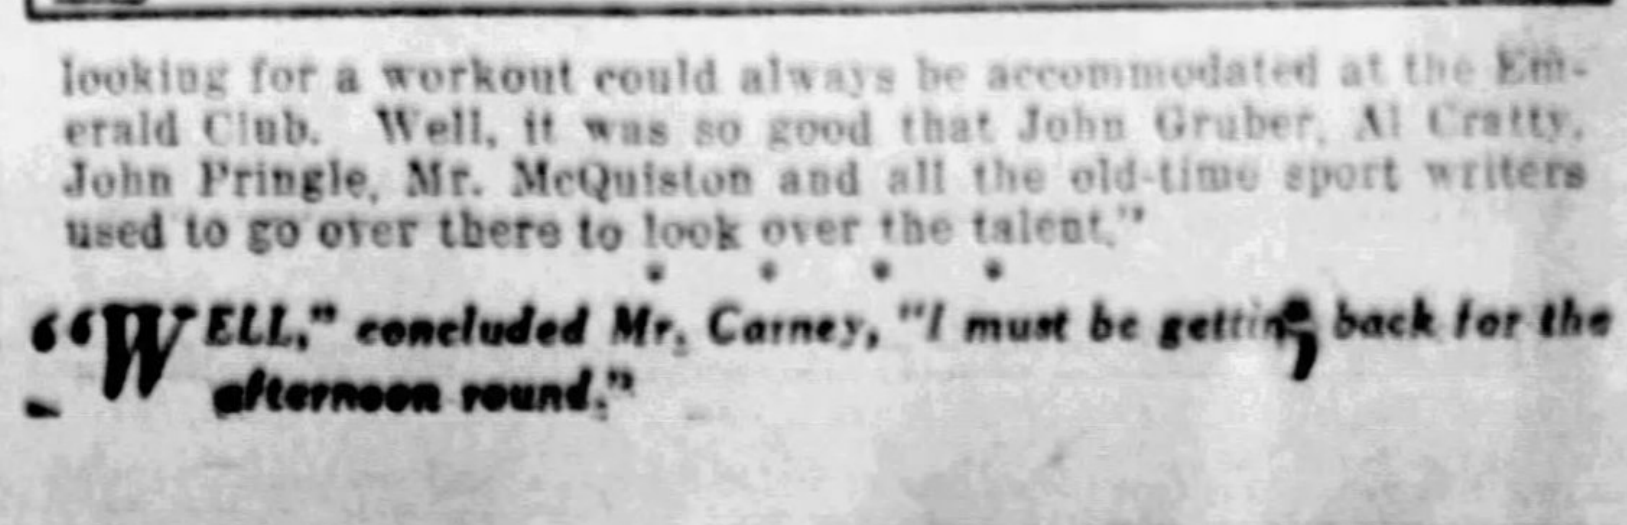
"I DON'T suppose you remember when John Morin, the congressman, played professional baseball? Well, he was pretty good and went out as far as Montana to play.

* * * *

"I REMEMBER of a visit the great John L. Sullivan paid this district. He fought in a theater in McKeesport. He fought a fighter named Cocky McCoy. He hit McCoy once. McCoy landed against the scenery and knocked all the draperies down.

* * * *

"THE mecca for Pittsburgh's sport enthusiasts at one time was the Emerald Club on the South Side. Those mill boys had plenty of steel running through their veins. Any stranger looking for a workout could always be accommodated at the Emerald Club. Well, it was so good that John Gruber, Al Cratty, John Pringle, Mr. McQuiston and all the old-time sport writers used to go over there to look over the talent."



* * * *

"WELL," concluded Mr. Carney, "I must be getting back for the afternoon round."

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good-looking, charming and 19, meets Saxon Rhodes, a young architect, and falls in love with him. Marza warns her that he will not make a good husband. Jerry sees Saxon kiss Tess Willi, but still loves him and refuses to marry Heine Ross. Saxon finds her sketching and they declare their love. Saxon's uncle sends him abroad to finish his studies. Tess Willi also goes; Jerry is jealous. No letters from Saxon, she cables; he writes that he has been ill. Heine again declares his love for her and begs her to let him tell her something. Jerry earns $150 for making panels for an exclusive shop.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SHE wrote to him and wished that he were here.

He wrote and wished more wildly she were there.

"Much lovelier than last year. There's only one thing wrong about it—you're not here. You should be here. We're going off soon on a ramble all through France. There are things I want to see. Stallings is coming with us. There will be John and Antoinette. We haven't told Tess. And I hope she doesn't hear of it and trot along. Enough of Tess is plenty.

"John and Antoinette have the most joyous understanding. They're free as birds and wild about each other. And they've had two precious years. Well, it's all right if one is immortal to keep waiting and losing. Waiting IS losing! All we have is the NOW. If we don't take this, we've nothing. This is their philosophy, and it seems to work out to everyone's peace and joy. Why is an emotion worthy only when it carries a guarantee that can't guarantee to last forever? In a world of perpetual change, of borning and brevity and dying, why such ironic homage to permanence?

"There's the fragrance of hyacinths invading this window, and in the room below a girl is singing. I'm a little mad, Jerry dear, with the spring and flowers and wanting—wanting you. But suppose we'd had these years—all this color and richness shared! It would be ours always—this much at least. I love you terribly."

She read this again and again with strained heart and moist, burning eyes.

CHAPTER XVII.

THE last of the tulips flaming in their boxes on the roof garden . . . the last of the springtime. . . .

Jerry emptied the watering-pot and leaned on the rail looking down past the sheer Greenwich hill. The city's skyline changing; ambitious towers scribbling defiance on the blue, tranquil heavens. Far to the south, the new telephone building raising a mighty girth in strong and kingly eminence.

She smiled happily. He would build such things—tall, inspiring, poetic! Etch his name on the very stars! Oh—rambling all over France now—half-mad with the flowers and springtime and loving—loving of her.

She began to dream. She was nothing but a warm, tremulous longing these days; nothing but a thrilled, pervasive expectance. Where was he today? Where would he be tomorrow? Wanting her yet? That letter of his was a call.

She wrote back one of the bold, infinitely young letters that puzzled his mind and lit fires in his senses.

"Why in the world didn't you get your brave bunch to carry me all over Europe, your companion of joy, before this belated hour? All my life I've wanted to do just such stirring, danger-mad things. Oh, why is the world not rightly managed! Why could we not have seized this glorious adventure? I'm for Antoinette when it comes to living blazingly, riotously, daringly. And in the here and now!

"Everyone who believes in life must believe in this kind of life. Otherwise you are a champion of suicide—spiritual or physical. What's the odds, except that you get decently buried for the one and go about an animated emptiness in the other?

"Oh, Saxon, why am I not in France; why am I not this moment under a golden tree, you beside me in the heavenly wilderness? Enough without the jug; without the book! The fault is yours! You're just a year and a half too late in asking me.

"Did you not know you had only to speak and I would have followed; that your wanting a thing and sanctioning a thing, makes it right for me?"

Many times Jerry pondered that last line and told herself with a pang: "The terrible thing is that it's true!" He had this incredible power.

But suppose she had gone and they had had these mad, sweet years together?

She leaned over the flower boxes, lost in an excited languor. The two years would be drawing to a close now, but they would have been intense and dazzling, with supreme moments to last as long as memory. When she was an old, old woman—though, of course, she never really believed that she, TOO, could grow old—but when she had lived a long, long time, there would still loiter about her this perfume from a radiant past.

Two precious years vanishing now—allowed to slip away because one has the hope of gleaming future years—years filing young and provocative through shining gates of an endless future.

Future years become the present. They also vanish!

She closed her eyes sharply on this thought. Yes—vanish, if one is fool enough to let them!

She wouldn't! Seize them—somehow.

She became restless, excited, burning. This menace of a long, painful postponement was often creeping into her dreams now. He had hinted this. The high years lost in waiting—fervor dunning.

No—not for her!

She clasped her hands behind her head and whistled a sprightly challenge through the lilting April air.

They weren't going to Europe—she and Marza. Things had happened; two apartments idle; a new heating system to be installed; Marza's old sister ill in Chicago; Marza terribly agitated over this and getting ready to leave now.

She went with Marza to the train. A moment before the whistle blew, Marza said abruptly: "Jerry—I may send for you."

"You mean if your sister dies?"

Marza seized the arm of the seat, her face white and convulsed. "She isn't going to die! What made you say that!"

"I don't know except that she's old. Isn't she old and very ill?"

"She—isn't—going to die!" She drew the girl to her and kissed her warmly: "I hope you won't be lonesome, pet. I hope I won't be too long from you."

Jerry climbed down the steps and as the train started, ran quickly, wanting to wave to her mother. But Marza didn't see her. She was leaning heavily on her hands, her white, beautiful profile etched in anguish on the window.

Jerry stared after her—wondering—troubled.

Very quiet on the top of the hill now. The whole world cleared for the thought of him.

She worked. Early and late. For a dream rose and grew splendid in her thought.

She had an order for six posters from an advertising concern—the beginning perhaps of that blessed future they would make together.

She wrote naively: "Six posters! It means that my average, if I'm only lucky—and I always have been—consider meeting and vamping you! Well, it means that my average might easily be $100 a month. Think that's enough for my part of a double blooming? I love you. And wish for autumn days, for red-gold nights and red-gold kisses. Oh, save a hundred thousand."

"You're putting quite a flash in that," said Sylvia Page, looking over Jerry's shoulder. "Don't waste yourself on commercial work."

"One must eat."

"Yes—but you don't have to do an advertising poster with the fervor of a Whistler."

Jerry thought, concealing a beaming laugh: "This isn't a poster. This is a symbol. Of love and a two-fold flowering!"

Oh, wait—wait till next September! She counted piercingly on this.

In the middle of June came a sudden, exciting, wholly unexpected message.

She stood in the hallway trembling, giddy with shock and gladness.

"Dear Jerry: Arrived in New York today. Left Paris suddenly without time to cable. Leave at once for home. Five days more. Love. Saxon."

Five days more! She went about delirious with expectance. Frightened—singing—lost. In the midst of a traffic jam she came to an abrupt halt—five days more! It was a mercy she wasn't run over, the way she had to stop now and then for these radiant sighs.

As the days dwindled and there was but the last night of waiting, she was in a panic—What had brought him home suddenly? Would he be the same? She recalled him in the moment of farewell running back for that inspired moment—his lips so tender on hers.

Ah—she would know the moment she looked at him—know when those light thrilling eyes turned on hers if his heart had changed.

Midnight—the bell ringing, Jerry paddling to the door. The yellow telegram thrust in her hands.

"Jerry—ride across the bay, please, and take the train to Port Costa. You can get on there. I want to see you first. I want to see you alone. Love, darling girl. Saxon."

"Here," said she mistily, and slipped a dollar into the messenger boy's hand. One of the blessed shining dollars that would build that holy, happy future.

CHAPTER XVIII.

DREARY Port Costra—stretch of vacant land grown with stubble on either side of the railroad tracks. A girl in blue with lavender collar and lavender cuffs, stepping along jauntily; flinging her head with an eager flash: "Two minutes more, World, ole dear!"

She was afraid of this first moment and ran to meet it, trembling. Would it be as high, as heavenly, as sweet—oh, as one dreams such things shall be?

She was always sure afterwards that he wasn't laughing when he grabbed her so swiftly to him, hiding his face for an instant against her own. He was crying—a happy kind of cry, but he swept a hand across his eyes and said huskily: "Hello there! Jerry!"

It was always sweet to think of this. And that his eyes were lighted—warm and brimming.

They said very little. She found it easier and more eloquent just to tuck her hand in his and to steal long, happy glances at his face.

He was thinner, a tightened look about him, the fighting face strengthened. Not as careless. Something of the boy gone. Yet he seemed sweeter to her—finer.

She looked darker to him and more winsome; a little appealing sprite, sitting beside him, her hand tucked happily in his.

She wanted to hear his voice—just the sound of it saying commonplace, everyday things that would relieve the strain—bring him near.

So he told her why he came so suddenly. Paul needed him. His course was finished. Then his sister was to be married.

"And, Jerry, two years is a mighty long time away from things you want."

She moved her hand softly in his: "Might you be meaning one wild Jerry King?"

"Darling thing! You haven't changed. I was so afraid."

But it was not till evening that the strain between them melted. They found that bench at the reservoir where they had spent the hour of farewell.

I THINK IT'S JUST FUNNY, THE WAY THE BOYS HAVE ALL GOTTEN GIRLS, JUST TO MAKE ME JEALOUS.

OH! WHAT A TERRIBLE THOUGHT!
John Held J

"My dear, I'm ACtually GURgitating with GLEE at this point! I mean I'm simply WHIFfling and BURBling with JOY, no less, because I mean since ARab and his BROTHer and those odd souls NOIsy and PHWHEN have been trying VIolently to make me all hot and BOTHered by purSUing these SILly little FLAPpers, my dear, who don't care WHO NECKS them or anything, I've had LOADS of time to sort of reFLECT on LIFE and everything, do you know what I mean? And, my dear, I've HONestly come to the conCLUsion that a girl of my iDEALS and CHARacter and all is simply WASting her TIME when she goes OUT with these POISonous PIPsqueaks because I mean you simply GET nothing OUT of it by associating with boys like that if you are an intelLECtual TYPE or something, I mean, because they simply have NOTHing to give you MENtally, my dear, do you know what I mean? And I think it's HEAPS better to be aLONE with your THOUGHTS than just being BORED to TEARS with the soCIety of some FOUL adoLEScent who is just CONsecrated on seeing if he can NECK every girl he MEETS—you know the type! I mean I think I'll sort of STUDy this YOGI philOSophy that everybody is all-of-a-BIB-and-TUCKer about at this point, my dear, beause I mean the iDEA of it is TOO inTRIguing because I mean ONE of the things you're s'posed to DO in it is to KNOCK seven TIMES on your STOMach and I mean just THINK how reDUcing that must be!"

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator from New York

Make "Prevention" Your Health Slogan

ERASMUS used to teach that prevention is better than cure. There is no doubt about this.

Everybodoy knows it is easier to keep well than it is to get well. It is easier to keep thin than it is to get thin. It easier to stay good than it is to reform. Certainly prevention is better and easier than cure.

DR COPELAND

For many years I spent my life "curing" people. One by one these sick people who came under my care had to be dealt with as individuals. I can think of few callings in life more satisfactory. To have the privilege of restoring a blind man to sight is equal almost to the joy of the person restored.

You can understand that this is no mean privilege. But I have come to believe there is a higher privilege, and that is teaching people how to avoid disease.

When we discover the cause of cataract and can teach the public how to live so that nobody will ever have cataract, that is a higher privilege than operating upon the patient and giving back the lost vision.

Nobody can question that to bring up a child from its birth in such a manner as to guard against infection and disease is a great accomplishment. To teach a manner of living that will guarantee health all through a long life, means that we have added materially to the economic wealth of the world.

It is amazing how many days are lost on the average out of every year of the life of an individual. If we could teach the rules of personal hygiene and have them conscientiously followed, it would be true of every individual, not only that he would live longer, but that he would be much more useful to society and much happier than he could otherwise be.

This is a roundabout way of saying what Erasmus stated. Nobody can doubt that prevention is better than cure.

Almost every disease a man has, almost every pain a woman suffers, almost every ailment that come to plague the child, almost every one of these things is something that could be prevented.

When we come to accept this fact and to realize its significance, we will be ashamed to admit that we do not feel well. Sickness will be regarded as a reproach.

I hasten to say that we have not reached that point as yet. It would be cruel indeed to frown upon those who suffer, and to find fault with those who are really sick. But as the world progresses, I am confident we will reach a time when the importance of preventing disease will be even more highly regarded than it is at present.

Answers to Health Queries

J. S. Q.—I am an office girl and very thin—would beef tea and chicken broth be very nourishing under the circumstances?

A.—Yes, but you should also follow the general rules for good health. A good, general tonic would be helpful. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

F. Q.—How can I whiten my teeth?

A.—If they are really yellow, it would be wise to go to a dentist and have him give them a thorough cleaning. After this cleaning, you should make it a habit to brush the teeth and gums carefully after every meal and before retiring.

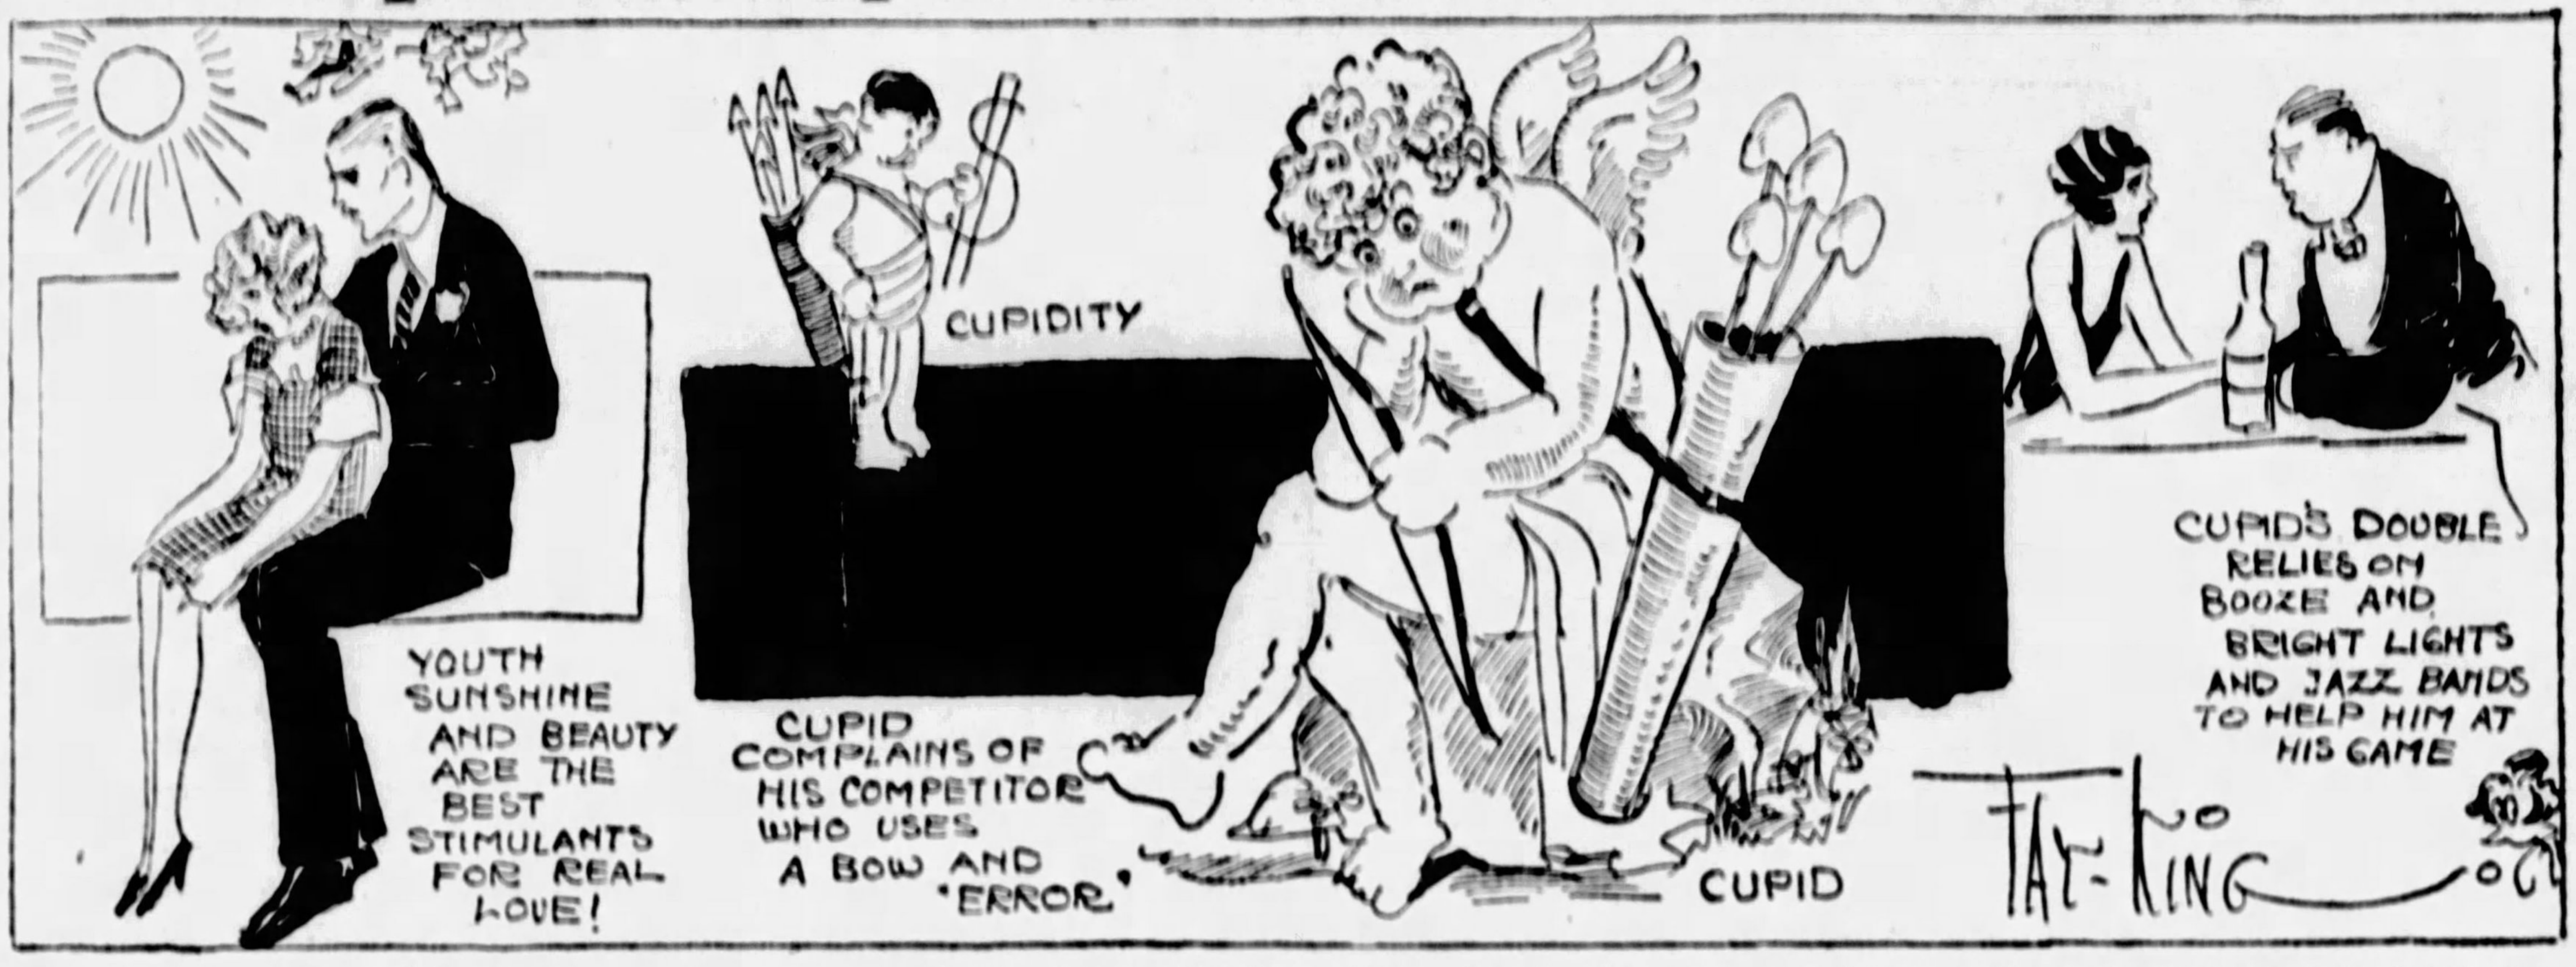
Cupid vs. Cupidity Discussed by Fay King



CUPIDITY
YOUTH SUNSHINE AND BEAUTY ARE THE BEST STIMULANTS FOR REAL LOVE!
CUPID COMPLAINS OF HIS COMPETITOR WHO USES A BOW AND 'ERROR'
CUPID
CUPID'S DOUBLE RELIES ON BOOZE AND BRIGHT LIGHTS AND JAZZ BANDS TO HELP HIM AT HIS GAME
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

CUPID is having his problems these days trying to figure how to outwit his unscrupulous competitor who uses a bow and error, and aims for divorce instead of happiness.

The trouble is that, like all unreliable propositions, this double can make his sort of love appear to be more real than real love.

Aided and abetted by subtle surroundings, moaning saxophones, colorful drapes and deadening drinks, he spins his spell upon the unaware and does his deadly work.

The young and foolish and inexperienced believe that this is the true realm of romance.

They do not stop to think that anytime anything depends upon outside influence to enhance it, there is something wrong.

The real estate man who sells phoney lots in the swamp lands must have a more convincing line of gaff and a more influencing personality than the man who sells good land and need only take the prospective buyer to see for himself.

The man who has a shady business proposition to put over is more apt to present it with drinks and a few sirens on the side lines to dissipate his victim's concentration and good judgment.

In Amsterdam the diamond merchants buy their best stones under daylight at noon.

Real love, according to Cupid's best statistics, is best stimulated in sunshine and wholesome surroundings.

The pretty girl may wear a gingham gown, and the honest youth drive a farm tractor. Their hearts beat as one and their love thrives in the hearts of those who love them best and long for their happiness.

Cupid's unfair competitor is known as cupidity. He thrives in synthetic surroundings. Lack of real love is made up for with greed and luxury, false ideals and temporary excitement.

His love matches cannot stand the test of time and varying lights in life that prove the real from the unreal.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

THESE MODERN WOMEN

NO MATTER how much a woman may know about men, the "NEXT man" will always be either a brand new shock or a surprise.

* * *

There is something about a big sin or a great weakness that inspires a woman to stick by the sinner and "pull him through;" but the way a man argues over a two-minute egg or shoots the shades up or bangs the door may drive her to an asylum—or divorce.

HELEN ROWLAND

An idealist is a poetic soul who is content to love a woman from afar—and to let some sordid, hard-boiled materialist marry her and support her.

In these sultry days of scorching vamps and "warm babies" nothing gives a man such a refreshing thrill and relief as to meet a girl who serenely and sweetly offers him a little ICE for a change.

A man can turn his conscience on or off like an electric bulb, but it always shines brightest when it "forbids" him to go on kissing a woman whom he has tired of kissing.

A woman will have herself peeled alive in order to keep "that school-girl complexion," but a man is perfectly happy and self-satisfied if he can just manage to hang onto a few strands of that college-boy hair.

To a man a "scene" is something to run from, anywhere outside the theater; but to a woman it is something with which to brighten up the evening after a long, dull day.

In these days, when girls MUST seem what they're not, bobbed hair, abbreviated skirts and a backless evening gown often cover a high-necked conscience and a long-sleeved soul.

The trouble with the flapper who is determined to "see life" is that she won't believe that any of it is worth seeing by daylight.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" By Adele Garrison

Surprising Emotion of Philip Veritzen When Brought Face to Face With Eleanor

MR. GEORGE LOGAN JACKSON'S slip of speech went far to confirm the opinion I already had formed of the former acquaintanceship existing between him and the young mistress of The Larches. He had begun to address her as "ma cherie," but had stopped short and substituted "Miss Lincoln." The very substitution had betrayed his realization that the familiar endearing term would reveal friendly relations unwarranted by their ostensibly short acquaintance.

Of course I knew that if both young people had been the genuine Americans which they pretended to be the appellation, "my dear," would have meant less than nothing. I had heard too many youths of good background and schooling applying it to girls with whom they had but the slightest acquaintance, to be shocked or disturbed at hearing it in such informal fashion. But I was sure that both the young people belonged to a more formal society than ours, an alien one, in which the use of so familiar an expression to an equal on short acquaintanceship would be an offense unforgivable.

I had but short shrift for my imagination, however, when we entered the veranda. Miss Lincoln had not met Lillian, Marion nor Mr. Veritzen, while Mr. Jackson was a stranger to everyone save Mary, Dicky, whom he had met but a few seconds before, and myself. The task of getting the necessary introductions performed without awkwardness absorbed my attention to the effective exclusion of everything save the admonition Lillian had given me to watch Philip Veritzen's reaction to his first sight of Miss Lincoln.

He was standing beside Noel as our little group came up the veranda steps, and I saw that without appearing to do so he was tensely watching for Miss Lincoln's first appearance. The veranda was but dimly lighted, so that he could not have made out her features until she was standing close to him. But when I brought them face to face for an introduction, I saw an expression of blank amazement flash into Mr. Veritzen's eyes. So great was his poise that it was gone almost as soon as it appeared, but I had seen it with amazement as great as that portrayed in that flashing look.

For there was but one interpretation to put upon the famous producer's reaction to the sight of Miss Lincoln. He had expected to see some particular young woman, and another one was confronting him.

There was no hint of his perturbation, however, in the somewhat flamboyant air with which he bent before her, making his kiss of her hand something very like an obeisance. And I noticed that her eyes searched his face in puzzled, almost troubled fashion as he straightened himself again and began to talk to her in the deep musical voice which his admirers banally compare to notes of an organ.

"Mrs. Graham has been speaking of you," he said, but I was caught at the moment into another group and for several minutes was able to pay no more attention to the oddly assorted pair.

Then Katie announced dinner in her very best manner, and we went out to the dining room just as we happened to be standing, for purposely I was making no attempt at having my dinner formal. When we reached the tables, with a word or two of quiet assignment and Dicky's unobtrusive aid, our guests settled into place, Dicky at the head of the table with Lillian at his right hand and Mother Graham at his left, while I, at the foot, had Mr. Veritzen at my right and Junior, in high fettle at being permitted to sit up for this company dinner, at my left. Purposely, I arranged the seating so that Noel and Mary were seated together as were Miss Lincoln and Mr. Jackson. But I placed Miss Lincoln across the table from Mr. Veritzen, that I might be the better able to carry out Lillian's injunction.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, March 13

If you would be wealthy think of saving as well as getting.—BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

THIS day will offer many avenues of advancement and achievement through initiative and enterprise as well as by means of speculative ventures. But these carry some hazards and may exact outlays and extravagances which should be carefully considered, lest loss accompany some measure of success. Likewise safeguard against treachery and fraud.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of splendid opportunity for gain and success through fine initiative as well as speculation and chance. But unusual outlay and expenditure may offset advantages unless care be used; also protect against fraud and trickery.

A child born on this day should be energetic and resourceful and disposed to take long chances, in which it may reap success if on guard against treachery.

DR. Copeland, U. S. Senator from New York State and Ex-Health Commissioner of the City of New York, is recognized as one of the world's foremost health authorities

Dr. Copeland Says:

"Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many cathartic compounds. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. Their effects upon the bowel and its lining membranes are far less irritating. Many mineral waters possess qualities making them soothing and healing. Sugar-coated pills are pleasant to take, but this fact may add to their danger. They are no less habit-forming and drastic because they appeal to the taste. Mineral waters contain elements found in the blood, most of which are in higher percentages than the blood, are unattractive to it and pass through the system, flushing and cleansing the intestinal tract."

Over the years, Pluto Water, with its mineral content, has been the efficient enemy and corrective of constipation. Its action is gentle, natural and thorough, flushing the bowels and washing away impurities. It is non-griping and non-habit-forming, toning up the intestinal tract and restoring its normal functions.

Is Backache Keeping You Miserable?

Constant Backache Is Often an Indication of Sluggish Kidneys

DOES every day find you stiff and achy? Do you suffer constant backache, headaches and dizzy spells—feel always tired and drowsy? Are kidney secretions too frequent, scanty or burning?

Know then that these are often signs of sluggish kidneys. Colds and grip increase poisons and bring extra work to the kidneys. When the kidneys act sluggishly, waste impurities remain in the blood and cause many unpleasant symptoms.

One is apt to feel tired and drowsy—to have nagging backache and annoying headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not working right is shown by too frequent, scanty or burning secretions.

Thousands rely on Doan's Pills after winter's colds. Doan's, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys, and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. They have earned a nationwide reputation. Ask your neighbor!

DUQUESNE HIGH'S basketball floor likely will be packed to capacity next Wednesday night when the Duquesne Lafayettes, champions of the Allegheny County League, meet the McKeesport Cyclers, composed of former Morry players, in the first of a three-game series to determine the professional championship of the Greater Pittsburgh district.

This series bring together the two outstanding professional quintets operating in this vicinity this year and their contests should be productive of spirited competition.

While the McKeesport Cyclers are expected to take the floor a slight favorite over Ed Minnick's Scarlet Hurricane, the Lafayettes will not be without their supporters. The Lafayettes, while not displaying the same consistency that marked their play of last year, nevertheless showed enough class to defeat the best teams obtainable in this section.

Both teams engaged the Rosenblums of the American Professional League, the Cyclers winning with points to spare, while the Ohioans got revenge at the expense of the Lafayettes.

SWEEPING through its amateur basketball schedule without the loss of a single contest, the North Side Community House today boast the championship of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., succeeding the Don Gordon Club, last year's titleholders, who were eliminated from the tournament by their successors. The Community House climaxed its brilliant season Saturday night when it defeated the Pittsburgh Lancers in the tournament finals at Duquesne University.

Showing brilliant form from the opening game of the season, the Community House passers never slackened their pace and triumph proved no surprise to those who followed the team consistently.

OFFICIALS of members of the Community House are planning an elaborate affair for their champions as a reward for their excellent work in amateur basketball this winter.

The North Siders lost only one contest all season and that to the second best college quintet in this section. Westminster College of New Wilmington turned the trick, defeating the North Siders on the New Wilmington court.

THE Goldensons of the South Side will entertain the J. J. Mieles, first-half champions of the P. & O. League at the South Side Market House next Friday night in a contest that should develop into one of the best of the season.

Before withdrawing as a member of the P. & O. League the Goldensons were one of the Mieles strongest rivals for the championship and the contest next Friday night should draw a large turnout of fans, as both teams are well supported.

The Goldensons have been coming along in fine style after a series of tough reverses and are picked to defeat the reigning champions of the P. & O. League.

Incidentally, the race in the second half of the P. & O. League has ended with three teams, the Junkers, Bashes and Somermans, in the a triple deadlock for first honors. The Bashes defeated the Junkers in the last game on the

Newton Still Leads Field

NEEDLES, Cal., March 12.—Amid the honking of more horns than Needles ever before has heard, and with cheering crowds on all sides, the first man to arrive from Danby in the eighth lap of the Los Angeles to New York marathon reached here shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It was John Cronick of Saskatoon, Canada, who battled the sultry heat and dusty desert roads for eight hours, 44 minutes and 20 seconds. The start was made at 4:59 a. m.

Cronick was followed by Arthur Newton of Rhodesia, five minutes and 10 seconds afterward. Newton's time was 8:49:30.

Newton is still leading the field. The slender, sunburned Englishman continued to average seven miles an hour over the 57-mile route that was covered yesterday, and although he trailed Cronick into Needles, he continues to set the pace in elapsed time.

Andrew Payne of Claremore, Okla., was third. His time was 9:25:20.

He was followed by Arne Souminenen, Nester Erickson, Giovani Clarizio and Eddie Gardner.

Today a flotilla of flat-bottom rowboats manned by Indian oarsmen will carry the runners across the Colorado River. Then the big climb will begin, the trail leading into the mountainous districts of Arizona and New Mexico.

Oatmen, Ariz., is the goal of today's journey. Oatmen's altitude is 2,000 feet, that of Needles is 480. That means a climb of more than 1,500 feet in 15 miles averaging about 100 feet a mile.

Olli Wantinen, 86-pound Detroit Finnish runner, who had held a position among the leaders consistently during the earlier stages of the race, fell before yesterday's hard grind and was carried in from a point five miles out.

Mojave Indians paid tribute to Nicholas Quomawahu, the Arizona Hopi Indian, long distance runner, sending a 12-piece Indian brass band to escort him over the last two miles of Sunday's lap.

Traveling in a huge truck, the red-skinned musicians led a parade of machines manned by Mojaves. The band played its loudest pieces and the other tribesmen offered their best war whoops.

Quomawahu responded and broke into a fast sprint, his first running since he injured his ankle several days ago, to finish the heat.

IN THE TRAINING CAMPS

Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—There weren't as many base hits splattering against the walls and outlying portions of the enclosure at Wrigley Field yesterday, but Joe McCarthy's Cubs were able to turn eight safeties into three runs, and beat the Los Angeles Coast League club, 3 to 1.

Much better pitching on the part of Weathersby, a left-hander, and Cunningham, a right-hander, enabled Los Angeles to keep the Cubs more in bounds than the Hollywood club had been able to do.

WHITE SOX VICTORS

SHREVEPORT, La., March 12.—Fair weather and dry grounds finally got together in the land of the midnight rain, and, as a fitting commemoration for the occasion, the White Sox went forth to victorious conquest against the Shreveport Sports, eking out a 9 to 7 triumph in the first of their 24 scheduled training games.

Six pitchers, three apiece, saw action in the battle which went toward the White Sox from the start.

INDIANS PLAY WELL

NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—The Cleveland Indians played errorless ball yesterday and defeated New Orleans, 6 to 2. Bayne, Harder and Collard were the Cleveland pitchers. Each worked three innings apiece. The Indians scored six runs in the fifth inning.

REDS CLOUT HARD

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 12.—(AP.)—Clouting the St Louis Browns' pitchers for 19 hits, the Cincinnati Reds won the exhibition game here yesterday, 5 to 2.

Blaeholder, one of the three pitchers for the Browns, was the only one able to check the Reds' onslaught. The score:

R. H. E.
Browns .... [illegible]— 2 8 1
Cincinnati .... [illegible]— 5 19 1
Batteries—[illegible], Blaeholder and Schang, O'Neil; Lucas, Kolp, Sweeney and Wingo, Picinich.

GIANTS, BEARS TIE

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 12.—(AP.)—The New York Giants and the Newark Bears played a 13-inning game yesterday which ended in a 4-4 tie when it was called on account of darkness.

Walter Johnson used Mamaux, Bentley, Russell and Lyle, while McGraw used Henry, Levy and Walker on the mound. The score:

A'S DRILLS CUT IN HALF

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 12.—(INS.)—Only one workout is on schedule for the A's today and tomorrow, for Connie Mack is fearful that his Athletics may go stale before the pennant race opens one month from today. The A's start their spring training series of 20 games on Wednesday. The Mackmen lost their second contest with the Phillies Saturday by a 5-to-2 score.

NATS SEEK SHORTSTOP

TAMPA, Fla., March 12.—(INS.)—Manager Bucky Harris is somewhat worried over the Senators' shortstop job. Three youngsters, Reeves, Gillis and Hayes, are all trying for the berth, but none of them is displaying any batting prowess. The heaviest hitter in the spring exhibition games probably will get the job, as there is little difference in their fielding.

BRAVES REDUCE SQUAD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12.—(AP.)—The Boston Braves have felt the pruning knife for the first time this season and as a result Gower and Brush, rookie pitchers, and a catcher named Miller are on their way to join the Providence club. The warriors have a stiff exhibition schedule ahead, but Manager Jack Slattery isn't worrying and he has told his men not to. He feels it is all part of training and shouldn't be taken too seriously.

CARD ROOKIES IMPRESS

AVON PARK, Fla., March 12.—(AP.)—Two rookies, John (Pepper) Martin and Gus Mancuso of the Cardinals have made a major league impression here and caused a veteran manager to say they were the finest pair of recruits he ever laid eyes on. It is conceded that Martin will find a regular berth if he continues his good fielding and hitting. Mancuso has been doing the brunt of the catching while Bob O'Farrell conditions himself slowly.

CARRIGAN LIKES HURLERS

BRADENTON, Fla., March 12.—(AP.)—Bill Carrigan, who manages the Boston Red Sox, thinks he has some good pitching talent in Bennett, Cremins and Morris, rookie twirlers. The trio held Buffalo to seven hits at Sarasota yesterday while Carrigan watched their work from the sidelines. When the teams meet again next week Carrigan hopes to have Charley Ruffing of 1925 fame in the box. Ruffing, who has had two off seasons, is working hard after reporting late.

NO RULES FOR NEWARK

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 12.—(AP.)—Never known to have felt the lash of a manager's tongue for breaking training rules, Walter Johnson, veteran of more than a score of major league campaigns, in his first instructions as a minor league manager, has placed his Newark Internationals on their honor as far as their conduct off the field is concerned.

"We had a meeting the other day," said the speed king in discussing his team's prospects, "in which I told the boys that there would be no training rules unless I was forced to make some. The players may go out and have a good time and all I ask of them is that they take care of themselves and give me their best."

BRESSLER SEEKS RELEASE

CINCINNATI, March 12.—(AP.)—Rube Bressler, holdout outfielder on the Cincinnati Reds, will seek to buy his release from the Redlegs in Orlando, Fla., today, Walter Kopf, his brother-in-law and business associate, said.

Bressler, Kopf said, has been in communication with Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, relative to obtaining a berth with that team.

President C. J. McDiarmid of the Cincinnati team, said it was acceptable to him if Bressler bought his release and signed with Brooklyn.

Kopf said Bressler left here for the Florida training camp and would meet with Manager Jack Hendricks today.

HOYT TALKS CONTRACT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12.—(INS.)—Waite Hoyt, star pitcher of the world's champion New York Yankees, will dicker with Col. Jacob Ruppert over Hoyt's contract today while the colonel's hired men are crossing bats with the Boston Braves in their first exhibition of the season.

Stanley Coveleskie, veteran spitball pitcher, and Catcher Benny Bengough reported with Hoyt.

LEACH, PRUETT JOIN PHILS

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 12.—(INS.)—With the arrival of Fred Leach, outfielder, and Herb Pruett, pitcher, the roster of the Phillies is complete today with the exception of John Schulte, rookie catcher, who has given no idea when he will report. The pitching of Sweetland, Miller and Benge was the feature of the Phils' work against the A's Saturday, which enabled Bert Shotton's squad to ring up their first victory of the training camp season.

SOCCER NEWS

by TOM BIRKS

IT IS hardly possible that the protest of the Heidelberg Club against the Magyars will hold up the playing of the Magyar-Swissvale game scheduled for Cleveland next Sunday. The laying of the protest is rather belated.

It should have been done on the field, in fact, Capt. O'Donnell would have been justified in taking off his team unless Referee Jarvis had cleared the goal mouth.

There were only 500 fans on the field, and 200 of them did their best to hamper Heidelberg's attempts to score in the second half, and also help the Magyar defense by keeping the ball out of play when the opportunity occurred.

The Magyar officials should have been able to restrain that home crowd. Every goal scored found the entire home crowd on the field congratulating the players, and it has been evident in every game the writer has seen. In fact, at Luna Park in 1925, when the Chicago Swedish-Americans played, the writer who was referee, warned the home officials that if the crowd invade the field a second time the game would be forfeited. That stopped visits to the playing field.

Swissvale will try to succeed Sunday where Heidelberg failed. There is every reason to feel that Swissvale is a better soccer club than the Magyars, and only need an even break to eliminate the Forest City team. It is too bad that Pittsburgh teams have to play at the Magyar field.

There is nothing fair about the tactics employed by the home crowd, and if Swissvale gets the run-around next Sunday, it is quite possible that Pittsburgh teams will refuse to play against the Magyars in future competitions, and forfeit the right to stay in the tourney.

TO FETE PITT SQUAD

REGULARS, BEATEN AGAIN, PEEVED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, March 12.—There will be no diamond competition on the Pirate training card today, according to an announcement made this morning by Manager Donie Bush. Just the same, the ball orchard will claim the Pirates in two workouts with much time devoted to the regulars. The champions will aim to find ways and means of stopping the rambunctious Hooligans who yesterday made it three in a row over the first team. The score of the contest was 11 to 8.

Bush is not exactly peeved at his regulars, but there was no hilarity in the first squad after taking a third one on the chin. The first wallop they did not seem to mind, the veterans figuring they would "lay on MacDuff" in the games that were to follow, but after the second setback, the club was quite serious. The losing habit is not to be condoned, so naturally the Regulars are a bit het up over their last reverse.

Camp games do not have any special significance: in Bush's estimation the practice periods afford better opportunities for correcting flaws. So this morning and this afternoon have been set aside for intensive drills. Bush stated he would try to run off three more games before the club breaks camp. The Yannigans realize the worst they can get is an even break and they are apt to be as "loose as a goose" as they challenge the first team in the remaining tilts.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

WHETHER there will be two fights or only one this year for the heavyweight fistic crown will depend largely upon the outcome of the 15-round battle between Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko, scheduled for tonight in New York.

Jack Sharkey.

If Sharkey wins, it will be reasonably safe to assume that he will be sent against Gene Tunney in the first of the proposed two title bouts at the Yankee Stadium in New York on June 14.

The winner of that event, practically certain to be Tunney, will then be matched for another fight in September with Tom Heeney or the victor

TO TRANSFER LOCAL HOCKEY CLUB TODAY

The Pittsburgh Hockey Club will officially pass to Cleveland ownership today, when President Frank Calder of the National Professional League and his committee of three will meet in New York to complete the deal which has been hanging fire mysteriously for more than a month. The committee was appointed to investigate the matter at a prior meeting in Toronto.

Despite persistent denials from Horace Townsend, president of the Duquesne Garden Holding Corporation, it has been no secret for some time that I. O. Wener, of Philadelphia, obtained an option on the local franchise and players and recently sold his option to Cleveland interests.

PASO ROBLES, March 12.—Barney Dreyfuss stole a leaf out of the Prince of Wales lexicon and looked on his subjects incognito yesterday as they staged their frolic. The Pirate owner and Mrs. Dreyfuss came rolling along the famous Kings highway just as the game got under way. They quietly entered the park unannounced and cheered for both sides.

THE Pirates sprung one of the greatest center fielders of recent years when Bill McKechnie flashed Kiki Cuyler on the circuit. Donie Bush shocked the league with a real thrill when he introduced Lloyd Waner in the middle garden, and now comes Adam Comorosky, who rambles about the vast range with the agility and cleverness of a Speaker, Carey or Cuyler.

AND how the bowlegged sprinter does get over the ground. Comorosky is listed as one of the greatest center fielders that ever flashed in the Western League. Bush does not like to move Lloyd Waner, but it is doubtful whether Sprout, with all his class, will be as good as Comorosky when the Polish boy gets his bearings. He's a ball hawk from away back.

WALTER OKESON TO VISIT HERE

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 12.—As a result of steps taken by Graduate Manager William G. Theurer, of W. & J., Walter R. Okeson, of Lehigh University, recently named by a group of eastern colleges to select football officials in place of the old central board, recently abolished, will meet representatives of the various colleges in the tristate district comprising Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia. Okeson will explain to these colleges at a meeting in Pittsburgh, on Friday, March 23, what the new alignment will mean to the colleges and the benefits of affiliating.

Reluctance of numerous colleges in this district to go along with the new movement since the abolition of the central board, prompted Theurer to seek more enlightenment from Okeson. The Wash.-Jeff. manager conferred with Managers Earl E. Davis, Clarence E. Overend and Harry A. Stansbury, of Pitt, Carnegie Tech and West Virginia respectively and they sanctioned the plan of having Okeson meet the managers and coaches of the various teams in the district.

Okeson is scheduled to meet a group of Western New York colleges at Syracuse on Saturday, March 24, and agreed to come to Pittsburgh on the day preceding. The exact hour of the conference and the place of meeting have not yet been determined and will not be announced until Theurer secures answers to letters he has sent to the managers of the various Tristate colleges.

Pittsburgh at Chicago.

THE Pirates, Pittsburgh's representatives in the National Hockey League, should advance into a deadlock with Detroit for third place in the American group standing tonight when they meet the Hawks in Chicago. Winning over the Hawks, 5-2, here Saturday night while Detroit was losing to Ottawa, the Pirates moved up to within two points of the Cougars, and they can even the standing by winning tonight while Detroit is idle.

The decisive manner in which the Pirates overwhelmed the Hawks in their Saturday engagement here prompts the belief that the locals will have no difficulty in repeating when the two clubs renew battling in Chicago tonight.

TURF STAR DIES

MACON, Ga., March 12.—The Hanover Shoe Farms stable lost a promising futurity candidate when the 2-year-old trotting colt Czar Hanover, succumbed to influenza here. He was a son of Dillon Axworthy, 2:10¼, and Czarevna, a mating that has produced such stars as Reyna Dillon, 2:05½; Charlotte Dillon, 2:09¼; Pilot Dillon, 2:09¼; Micro Dillon, 2:09¾, and The Cossack, 2:09¾, trotters, and Hamsa Dillon, 2:09¼, pacer.

IMPROVED, RISKO MAY SURPRISE GAMBLERS

By DAMON RUNYON,
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Of his fight with Thomas Heeney, it doesn't seem to me that Jack Sharkey is a logical 2 to 1 favorite over the bouncing baker boy, Johnny Risko of Cleveland in their battle at Madison Square Garden tonight.

I saw Thomas Heeney and John Risko battle 10 rounds out in Detroit, and it was a brisker engagement than that between Heeney and Sharkey. And while Heeney won, his margin was not wide.

Then Risko and Heeney both licked Paulino Oo-Seray, the Beezark of the Basque, in just about the same fashion. I would say Risko and Heeney are fairly close

Aquatic Stars At P. A. C. Tonight

Attractive mermaids and stellar mermen will disport themselves in the water tonight at the Pittsburgh Natatorium in the annual aquatic gala under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Aquatic Club.

The program is a most interesting one, with a pair of Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. championship events featuring the card. The meet has drawn entries from every club in the district which fosters swimming, and some keen contests are anticipated.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

NOW that an editor has told his city editor to go down into the coal mines to find out how a coal miner fares in these days of strife, don't be surprised if some day an editor should call in his sports editor and ask him if Jack Dempsey still can fight, and, if he replies he doesn't know, tell him to go out and get first-hand knowledge from Jack himself.

If that should happen to this humble servant, he'd be willing to take Jack's word for it.

COMES to hand another letter from Bill Heckman, our Los Angeles correspondent, who writes that he went out to see Paulino and George Godfrey eliminate themselves in the Coast city recently, and thought it was worse than that.

"The Spaniard went into his shell and Godfrey didn't get a good shot at him," Willyum, who used to manage Tommy Crowley, says in his missive. "And when it was over, you should have heard the fifty million Spaniards yell about the decision. Perhaps fifty million

Women Jockeys In Race at Tia Juana

TIA JUANA, Mexico, March 12.—(AP.)—Nine feminine jockeys competing in the first annual Coronado town plate of six furlongs, furnished the feature of the program for the thousands of turf fans at the track here yesterday.

The race was won by Miss Ardeth Schneider, a junior college freshman of Long Beach, Cal., who piloted E. E. Watson's Holly Boy to a neck decision over the favorite, Hominy, ridden by Miss Ruth Parton, Texas horsewoman.

Miss Schneider displayed excellent riding ability to overtake the flying Hominy near the end of the race. Holly Boy paid $50.80 by the $2 mutuels, and covered the six furlongs in 1:14 4-5.

A platinum wrist watch was presented Miss Schneider by Racing Judge Schilling, and Miss Parton was given a gold medal.

CHAMPS LEAD CUEISTS

CHICAGO, March 12.—(AP.)—The national pocket billiards titleholder and his two immediate predecessors led a field of 10 today in the round robin championship tournament. Two of them were undefeated and the third has lost one of his five games.

Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y., the present champion, won his fourth straight match last night without a defeat, when he turned back Peter Durocher of Chicago, 125 to 72, in nine innings. Erwin Rudolph of Chicago had a stiffer battle to win his fourth straight game from Pasquale Natalie of Baltimore, and share the lead with Taberski. Natalie had Rudolph down, 91 to 19, at one stage. Ralph Greenleaf of Philadelphia, another ex-champion, is in third place with four victories and one defeat.

Harry Oswald of Pittsburgh, although suffering his fifth straight defeat, showed to better advantage than heretofore in losing to Greenleaf, 125 to 99, in 13 innings. Greenleaf had a high run of 26 and Oswald one of 22.

The schedule today paired Joseph Concannon of Washington with Harry Oswald of Pittsburgh and Durocher with Harry Wood of Duluth in the afternoon games. Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia will open the night round with Onofrio Lauri of New York, and Taberski is to play Oswald in the last game of the evening.

schedule to bring about the deadlock. The Sianos and Somermans likely will meet in a playoff to determine which club will oppose the Mieles for the title, as the Junkers are reported to have withdrawn from the competition.

DRIBBLES

Capt. Sykes Reed and Stash Wrobleski, the star guard of the undefeated Pitt Panthers, will appear in the lineup of Braddock American Legion quintet when it opposes the Enoch Rauhs at Columbus Temple tomorrow night. St. Richards will meet the Schenley High varsity team in the preliminary game.

The E. P. Junkers had three games in which to clinch the second-half laurels of the P. & O. League and were defeated each time they attempted to wine the laurels.

Quite a number of local fans will journey to Cleveland this week for the opening game of the playoff series between Cleveland and Fort Wayne for the western division championship of the American League. Pip Koehler, former Morry star, is in the Fort Wayne lineup. This winner of this series meets the victor of the eastern playoffs.

LEADERS FALL AS TOURNEY ENDS

NEW leaders in the second annual national Knights of Columbus duckpin tournament appeared in clusters Saturday at the Duquesne Council's Oakland alleys when the affair was brought to a close. Out-of-town entrants held the spotlight on the final day, Oil City, Sharpsburg, Homestead, Ambridge, Donora, Franklin and Butler pin topplers taking their turns after local entrants had supplied the targets in the form of good marks at which to shoot.

Late singles entrants turned in many high scores, but none was able to match the 540 which M. Roll had recorded earlier in the week. The new leaders to appear Saturday were: Weber, 538, third place; Clifford, 535, fourth place; Owens, 527, fifth place; Gratz, 515, sixth place. Golvash and his great all-events total of 1,535 were not even threatened.

The greatest disturbance was noted in the five-men team event, in which new leaders moved into the first four positions. Sharpsburg No. 2 finished in front with the impressive total of 2446 and Sharpsburg No. 1 followed with 2399. Pittsburgh No. 1 gained the third notch with 2296 and the No. 1 team won fourth honors for Homestead with 2228. Duquesne No. 1, New Kensington No. 3 and Homestead No. 2 were other late starters that finished well up front.

The final day also produced new leaders in the doubles sector, Green and Voller going out in front with 1,006. Kelly and Kilcullen rolled into third place with 962 and the 948 recorded by Huber and Stuffle gave them fifth position.

in a bout between Heeney and George Godfrey.

IF RISKO cops the honors tonight, however, Tex Rickard will hardly ask the public to pay fancy prices for the questionable privilege of seeing Tunney cut the baker boy to ribbons, inasmuch as Risko has already been beaten by Heeney, as well as by Sharkey also, before the talkative tar skidded off the winning track in his meeting with Jack Dempsey last July.

Sharkey ought to win tonight without serious trouble if he is anywhere near his real form. Risko is a dangerous, tireless, rough fellow of the type that is continually coming in, a kind of opponent that Sharkey at times has appeared not to like, but the Sailor beat the Cleveland man in 1925 and is so far his superior in speed, boxing ability and quick punching that he ought to do it again if he is in shape and sticks strictly to business.

THAT Sharkey, if he wins tonight, will get the Tunney match on June 14, instead of Heeney, is a safe guess.

Jake Schaefer.

As a matter of fact, Rickard has already paved the way for a Tunney-Sharkey fight in June by engineering things in such a manner that Sharkey has been listed as first challenger by the New York Boxing Commission.

When Heeney went before the commission to file a title challenge he was informed that he would be placed second to Sharkey on the roll of challengers.

This was manifestly unfair, as Heeney has beaten Risko, knocked out Maloney, fought a draw with Sharkey and recently eliminated Jack Delaney. Sharkey on the other hand was idle for half a year and in his exhibition against Heeney he showed no sign of his old form.

Just the same, Sharkey stands first in line for a match with Tunney on the official list. Perhaps somebody promised him something like that as a "solace" for losing to Dempsey through his seeming stupidity and by leaving his jaw uncovered after he had the fight practically won.

CHAMPIONSHIP competition in another line is on the bills for tonight in San Francisco.

Young Jake Schaefer will open a match with Edouard Horemans for the world's professional 18.2 balkline crown.

The men are to play 1,500 points, and the match will be the second under the new system of five blocks of 300 points each, instead of three blocks of 500 each, as formerly.

Schaefer, who regained the title by defeating Welker Cochran last December, shapes up as having the better chance to win, but you never can tell about Horemans. At times he is invincible.

In fact the Belgian has already dethroned Schaefer, having nosed him out with an unfinished run of 74 in Chicago on December 2, 1925, the match in which Schaefer protested against a decision by the referee that he had shot off a frozen ball.

BUT with all due respect to Horemans and his possibilities, Schaefer, when in form, is the greatest billiardist of his day, just as his father was in an earlier era, and if he is "right" this week he ought to win by a comfortable margin.

This will be the last balkline title match for many months, as Felix Grange of France is the next eligible challenger and will not make a trip here until next winter.

Willie Hoppe.

WILLIE HOPPE is so far ahead of the field, as a result of his success in taking three out of four games last week, that he can walk in and win the American Three-Cushion Billiard League's championship race.

The race will end one week from tomorrow night, and the remainder of the schedule is of such a nature that Hoppe can hardly be headed by either Johnny Layton or Allen Hall, the only players who have been pressing him. Layton made a sensational spurt recently, during which he won nine games in a row, but since that streak he has lost three out of five.

Hoppe has two games yet to play with Augie Kieckhefer, and one each with Hall, Layton, Harry Wakefield and Clarence Jackson. He needs four out of six to cinch first place, provided Layton wins all of his remaining games.

ALL honor to Coach Cliff Carlson and the greatest college basketball team that ever stepped upon a floor. By going through a complete season without suffering a single defeat in a total of 21 games played, they have hung up an amazing record that will hardly be duplicated immediately.

THE slight stature of the Pitt players and the hard nature of their schedule makes their achievement all the more notable.

Coach Carlson.

It is not as if they had merely beaten all rivals in their own district. In addition to conquering all of those teams, they trimmed five Western Conference outfits (four of them on their own floors in a space of five days), beat Notre Dame also, downed last year's Eastern champion team, Dartmouth, and extended their steam-roller operations until they had flattened such other Eastern quintets as Army, Syracuse and Colgate.

In 21 games they made a total of 992 points, or an average of 47 3-7 per game.

The perfect season that was made complete by Saturday night's 45-to-24 victory in the final game at State College, stands out as the most sensational feat in the history of college basketball.

It was not due singly to coaching skill, or to exceptional work on the part of one, two or more players, but to a combination of all. None could have turned the trick without the others.

A. M. A. BOXING TOURNEY ENTRY LIST IS CLOSED

The entry list closed Saturday for the annual junior A. M. A. boxing championship tournament, to be held Friday and Saturday evenings under the auspices of Islam Grotto, M. O. V. P. E. R. at Motor Square Garden.

The list is a large one, and makes certain that the fans are in for two evenings of rare fistic fun. The preliminaries will be disposed of on Friday, leaving Saturday clear for the semi-finals and finals.

Patrick J. Conley, of the Hazelwood A. C., has entered the 126-pound division and is confident of doing well in the tourney. Lemuel Starks, of the Williams A. C., is to compete in the 135-pound class.

George Collier, of Beaver, Pa., will be a contestant in the 175-pound brigade. Robert Smoller, of the North Side A. C., will try his luck in the 147-pound class.

Many clubs have entered full teams and will make a try for the point trophy, a handsome cup which goes to the team making the best showing.

to warm up, the veteran crammed a roll of slippery elm in his mouth, and the game had hardly started when the ball was taking queer dips. But the Regulars were meeting the elusive offerings with much effect.

CARMEN HILL seems to have more stuff than any of the five aces. Hill's lame back appears to have responded to the warm weather of the past several days. The players were soaked in perspiration as they gamboled on the greensward yesterday. The first string batters were not taking any toe hold as Bunker let fly with mid-season stuff.

MORE than one veteran thinks Joe Cronin belongs on shortstop. Sunny Joe's play is a daily feature of the squad contests. With Harris on first, Jones on second, Cronin on short and Gottlieber on third, the Yans have the Regulars "faded" in pepper.

PETE SCOTT relieved Joe Harris at first base. There's a versatile boy, who should make a hit with Pirate fans. Pete can play the outfield, first and do a fine job under the bat.

Prospects for the 1928 season are dim, with a new wall to be built and only one regular, Capt. Fred Miller, in the lineup. Niemiec, Collins and Chevigny will carry the heavy burden in the backfield, while the quarterback berth may go to either Joe Morrissey or Jim Grady.

The full schedule follows:

October 13—Navy at Chicago.

October 20—Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

October 27—Drake at Notre Dame.

DUKES TO FACE HARD FOE IN BRADDOCK

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

What may well develop into the feature game of the play-off series for the W. P. I. A. L. championship will be staged in the Pitt Stadium tonight when the doughty Braddock High quintet faces Duquesne High, ranking favorite to cop the title.

Duquesne, a team that has made a sensational record in its two games played in the series thus far, will face its toughest foe in Bill Evans' smart Braddock five tonight. Duquesne has won two games in easy fashion, limiting its opponents to 18 points in the contests.

Braddock, also boasting two victories, those scored over opponents possibly a bit more worthy than the two vanquished by Duquesne, will be the underdog. The Braddock defense is a capable one, but critics do not give the team's offensive the credit that is given Duquesne.

Har-Brac and Ford City have fallen before Braddock, and the Dukes hold victories over Connellsville and Dormont.

The present series is the ninth in 11 years in which Braddock has been an entrant. The Evansmen always have been in the title race, either in their section or in the final, and only once have they finished out of the money in their sectional play. They lost once in the playoff, after having finished in a tie.

The Duquesne record for the present season is a brilliant one, and the play of the team has been consistently fine all year.

MEHLHORN VICTOR IN FEATURE MATCH

MIAMI, Fla., March 12.—(AP.)—Johnny Farrell, New York, and Gene Sarazen, former American open golf champion, went into the semi-final round of the annual international four-ball golf match here yesterday by defeating Joe Kirkwood, Albany, Ga., and Henry Ciuci, New York, 3 and 2.

Tommy Armour, national open champion paired with Bobby Cruickshank of New York, also turned in a victory, beating Harry Hampton, Chicago, and Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City, 4 and 3.

MacDonald Smith, Great Neck, N. Y., and Bill Mehlhorn, Pittsburgh, won the other semi-finalist position, beating Charles Mayo, Flushing, L. I., and Wilfred Reid, Detroit, 7 and 6.

SET SKI RECORD

DALARO, Sweden, March 12.—(AP.)—Two minutes and 41 seconds were lopped off the record for ski races of 90 kilometers yesterday when the record holder, Hedlund, and another Swedish runner raced over the course to finish in a dead heat in 5 hours, 33 minutes and 26 seconds.

Spaniards can't be wrong as a usual thing, but they were this time.

"Jack Perry, the former welterweight boxer of Pittsburgh, visited me the other day. He's out here acting on the stage and doing bits in the movies, and he's a light-heavy now and talks like a preacher."

TOM HEENEY, the 'eavyweight from Haustralia, the Land Down Under, has compiled quite a nifty record in fighting his way into the finals of the elimination series, where he will meet the winner of tonight's Jack Sharkey-Johnny Risko bout. If you don't believe it, take a peek at his ledger since he arrived in the Land of the Free about a year ago:

April 1—Beat Paulino Uzcudun in 10 rounds, but Paulino got decision.

June 24—Defeated Jack De Mave in 10 rounds.

August 21—Won on foul over Bud Gorman in three rounds when he had Gorman ticketed for a knockout.

September 8—Defeated Paulino again in 15 rounds, but the judges called it a draw.

September 30—Knocked out Jim Maloney. In one round, of course.

October 26—Defeated Johnny Risko in 10 rounds.

January 13—Boxed 10-round draw with Jack Sharkey.

March 1—Defeated Jack Delaney in 15 rounds.

That makes eight fights against the tough ones in less than a year, or one bout more than Jack Dempsey has had since he knocked out Jess Willard back in 1919. Give Honest Tom credit, boys. He may not be a Pavlowa in action, but he at least is willing and a hard-worker and gets there.

IT MAY not be any of our business, or the public's, but it seems more than passing strange that in these shakeups in the Pitt athletic staff the local university is managing to keep submerged more and more one of the most capable athletic chiefs in the land in the person of Karl E. Davis. As graduate athletic manager of Pitt for years, Karl was largely instrumental in building up the system that is bringing such excellent results, and yet he is seldom heard of these days when he should be reaping the benefits of those years of labor. It was the work of such men as Davis that made it necessary for Pitt to go out and build a huge stadium to house its athletic crowds, and it would seem that more fullsome use of his services could be made at this time, a critical one in the institution's athletic history, with the stadium indebtedness hanging over its head.

GRIMES, Kremer, Miljus, Meadows, Hill, Fussell, Wotta pitching staff!

If the Pirates can't repeat their pennant triumph this year with that crew of slab artists for the first-string work and the second-base gap plugged by Sparky Adams, what does a club have to have to win in this here, now, National League?

You said it, Imogene!

A FEW weeks ago, in the Motor Square ring, Jack Katkish knocked out Nick Susnell with a blow to the Adam's apple that left the victim perfectly conscious but gasping for breath as the referee counted him out. Last week, in the same ring, Tug Phillips stopped Jack Hoak with a ramming right to the body. Both winners were trailing until they landed the deciding blow, which came in the seventh round in each instance. They are on the Motor Square Club's all-star card tonight, Phillips meeting Pete Petrella in the windup and Katkish boxing Rudy Ceder in the semi-final. It's a cool million to change for a dime that they can't repeat their victories in precisely the same manner.

BIG GRID GAME IS AWARDED

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 12.—The annual football game between Washington and Jefferson and Bucknell, scheduled for October 17, will be played at the Municipal Stadium, Johnstown, according to announcement today by Graduate Manager William G. Theurer. Decision to take the contest, one of the most important on the Wash-Jeff schedule, came after a long period of consideration during which several sites for the contest were investigated.

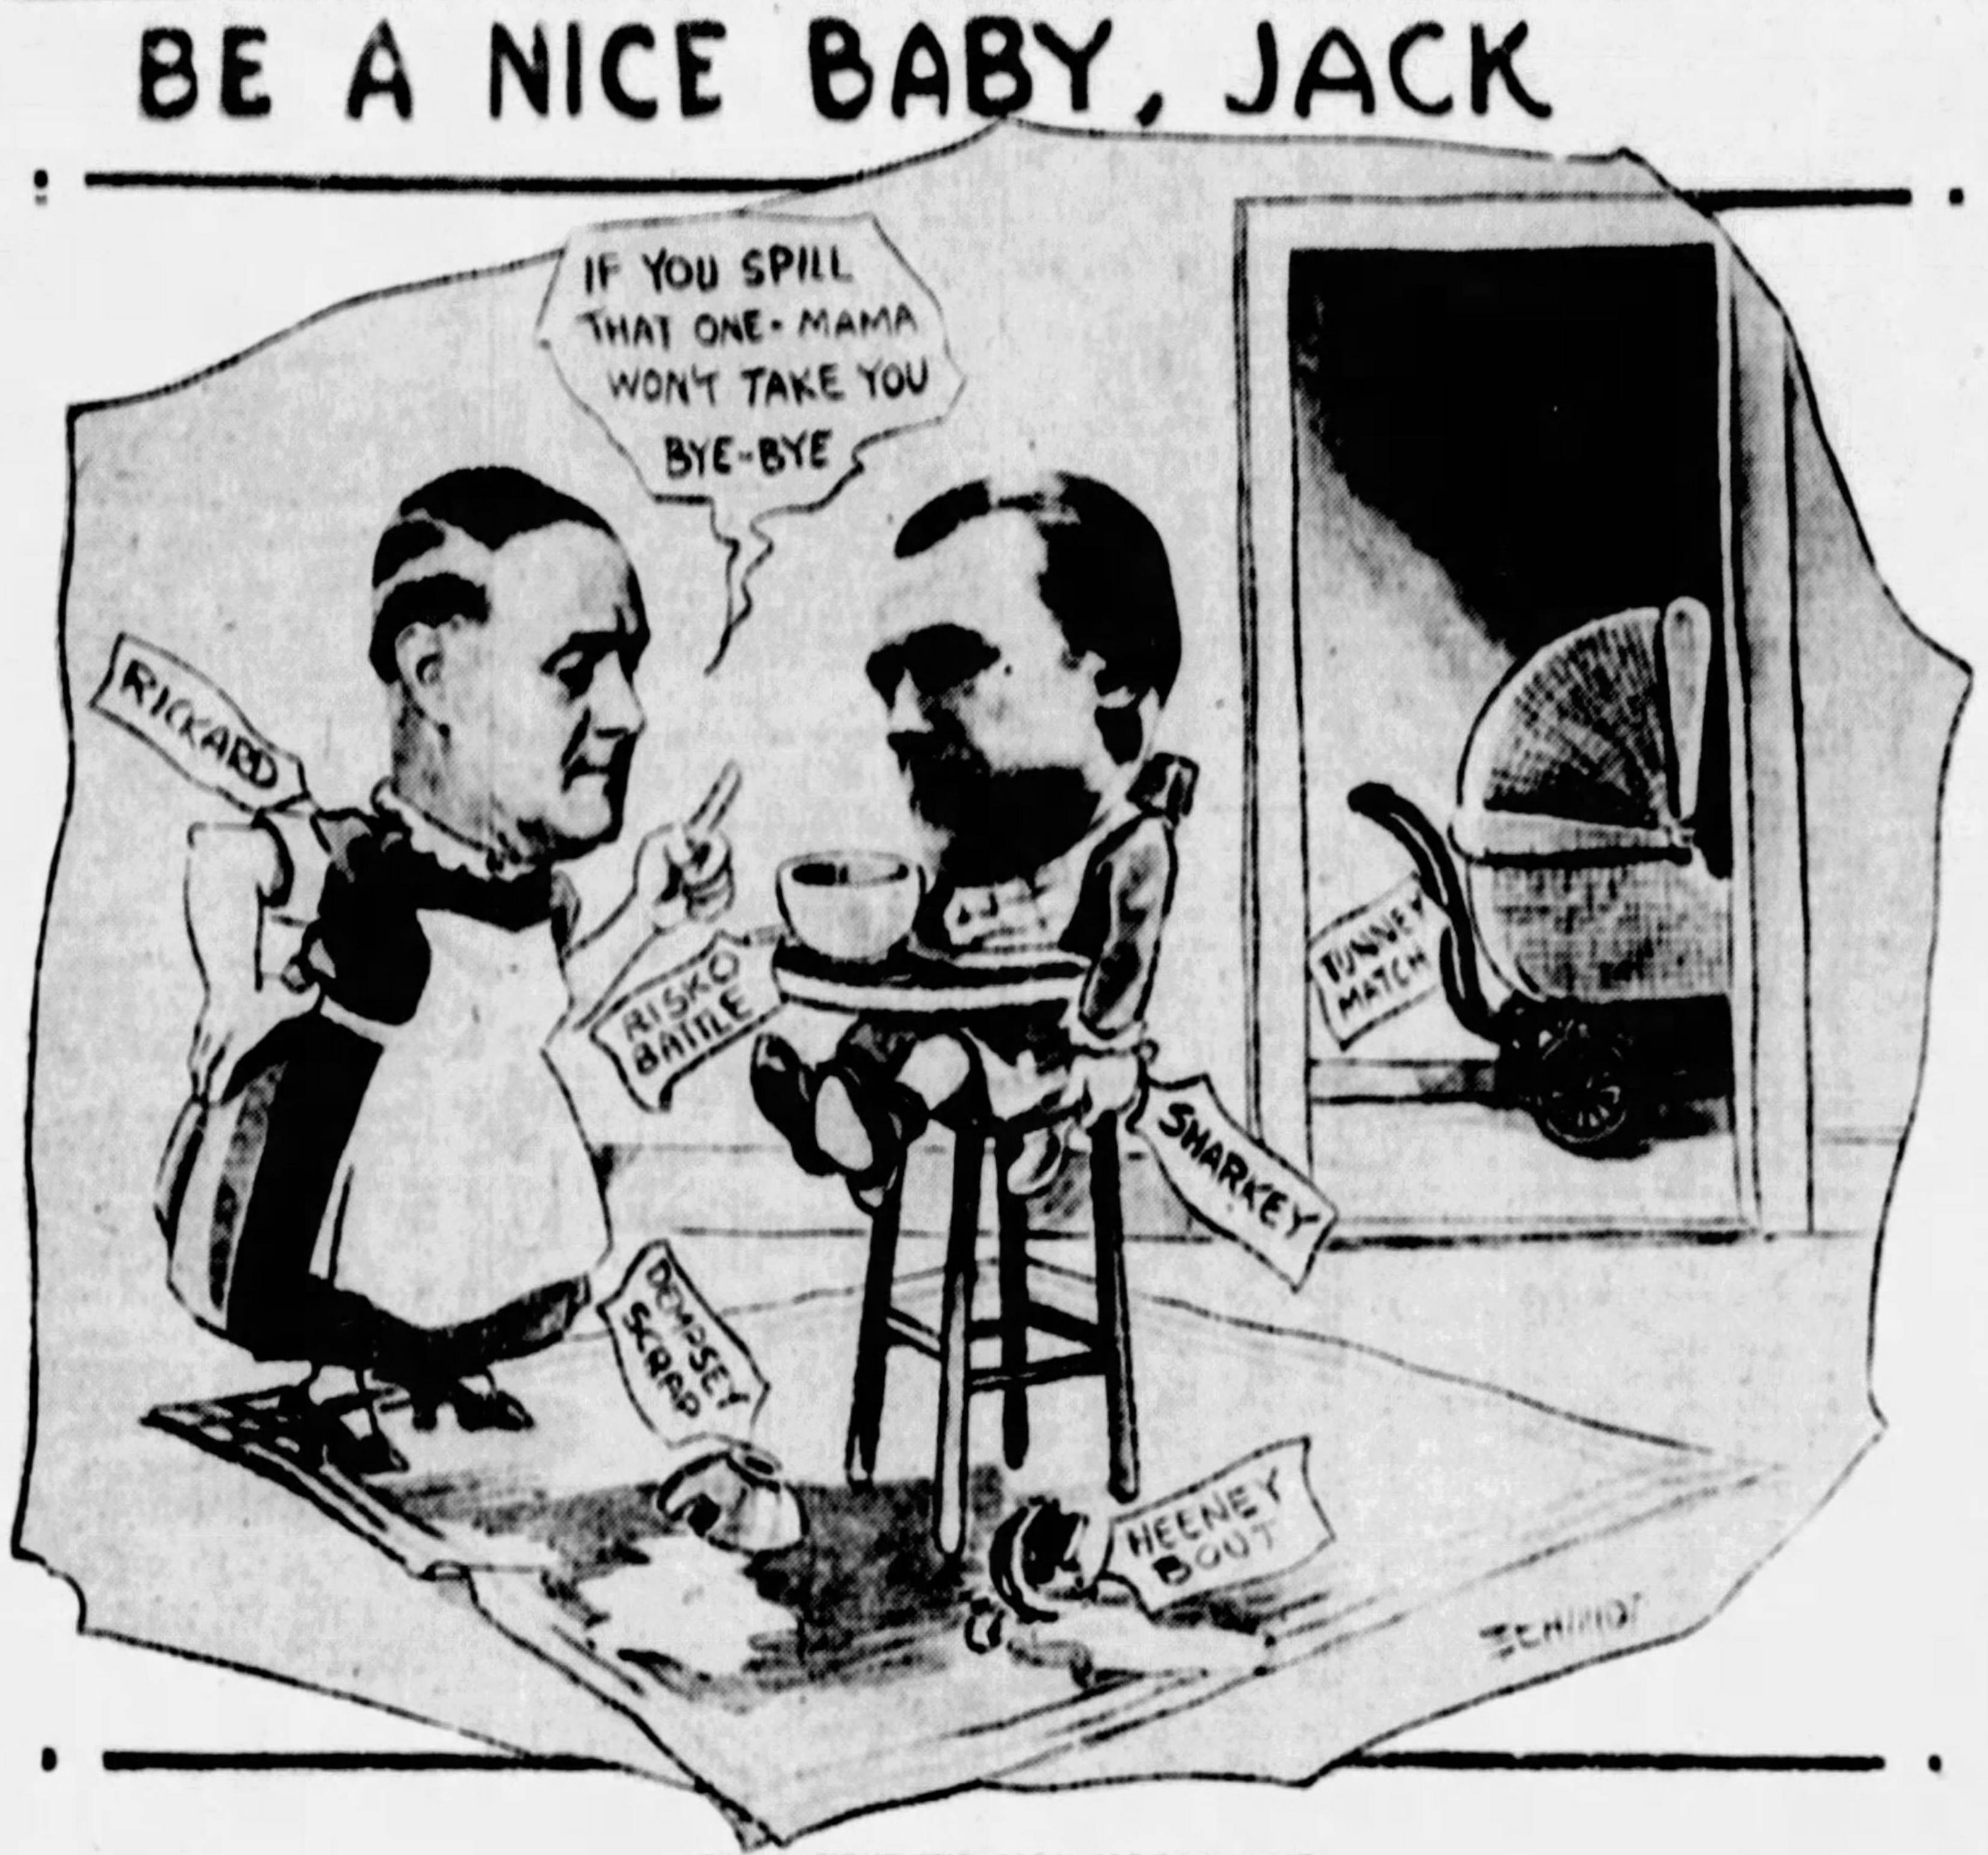
HIS LAST CHANCE—BY SCHMIDT



HE'D BETTER NOT FOOZLE IT

Jack Sharkey, the bad, bad boy of the heavyweight division, who lost to old Jack Dempsey last summer and then came back recently and permitted himself to be held to a draw by Tom Heeney, answers the gong against Johnny Risko in a 15-round battle in Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight. If he loses he's through as a prospective opponent for Gene Tunney in a titular match, for the winner tonight will face Heeney in a final elimination for the right to fight Gene.

Sharkey Favored to Win

in the matter of ability, and a lot of citizens thought Heeney should have had the decision over Sharkey.

Thus there is no way you can figure Sharkey to be double the fighter Risko is, as the price would imply some folks are figuring, unless you go back to a fight that Sharkey had with Risko in 1925, when Sharkey won a 10-round decision over Risko. It was an easy victory for Sharkey.

But if you go back that far you find that this was before Sharkey's terrible fight with Sailor Eddie Huffman in Madison Square Garden, which almost ruined Sharkey in New York, it was so bad.

Risko, in the early stages of his boxing career, was mainly a punching bag for all comers. He was just a tough fellow, and everyone was willing to fight him because he was easy to lick. He couldn't hit, and he couldn't box.

If you had suggested along in 1925 and 1926 that the baker boy would ever be seriously regarded as a heavyweight contender you would have been deemed off your gazumpus. He was licked by Romero Rojas, Sully Montgomery, Jack Renault, Jack Sharkey, Gene Tunney, Jack Delaney, Young Stribling, Mike McTigue, Leo Gates, Tommy Loughran, Harry Persson, George Manley.

Pat McCarthy held him to a draw. Chuck Wiggins knocked him out. He lost on a foul to Jim Slattery. Loughran beat him even. So did Jack DeMave. Pat Lester and Tiny Jim Herman stuck with him for 10 rounds. From 1924, when he started boxing, if you could call Risko's efforts such, down to the summer of 1927 Risko was just a catch-as-catch-can heavyweight.

His most notable achievement in that time was the defeat of Paul Berlenbach. He dropped into New York a year ago and knocked out Eddie Huffman. In June, of last year, Risko commenced to win battles with some regularity, and he had eight in a row when he lost to Heeney.

He used to throw a left hook, then throw it again and again, with little variation of his style, bouncing in at his opponents as he threw his hook. Against Heeney and Paulino he was doing quite a little infighting and also heaving a heavy right hand rather frequently.

He is a dead game fellow and always willing to mix, but a fighter of that type is usually easy for a good boxer, such as Sharkey.

I saw Sharkey in Boston and he looked very good. His weight, which is now around 190 pounds, shows that he is in excellent physical condition. He was beyond his best fighting weight for Dempsey.

I doubt that he will ever again be as good a fighter as before he met Dempsey. To begin with, Sharkey is now a comparatively wealthy man, and wealth in his game brings about a mental sloth and resignation to the fates of fighting that is bound to take something out of a man.

However, that isn't saying that Sharkey cannot beat Risko.

Heidelberg Defeats Harmarville, 8-0

By TOM BIRKS.

PLAYING one of the final games yesterday in the American League schedule, Heidelberg had little difficulty adding two more points to its championship total by swamping the Harmarville eleven by an 8 goals to 0 score at Heidelberg yesterday.

Just as in previous games played in a sea of mud, the 1927 amateur champions put up a brilliant display and the Green and White upriver team never had a chance with that charging front line.

The first half was good, the Green and Gold forwards only netting the ball twice, Buff and Puck Donnelli scoring.

The second half, however, found the steam roller working and goals came fast, Kusis, Donnelli, Chapple, McCosky and Grilli all finding the net, and the game finished with the champions easy winners by the score named. The lineup:

HEIDELBERG.		HARMARVILLE.

COMMITTEE MAY NAME WEST VIRGINIA CAPTAINS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 12.—(AP.)—Under a recommendation made to the athletic board of control at West Virginia University by the Varsity Club, official organization of sports lettermen, Mountaineer athletic captains would be appointed by a committee composed of coaches and Athletic Director H. A. Stansbury.

Announcement of the recommendation of the lettermen was made today by W. T. Latham, president, who was captain of the football team last year. He said the athletic board was urged to act immediately on the proposal.

in the little wooden grandstand and bleachers to watch the Regulars and Yannigans in their third meeting. A delightful day attracted the natives for many miles, and they surely did whoop'er up as the Hooligans came from behind to register the victory.

LEHENY WILD

Lack of control on the part of Regis Leheny enabled the Yans to score eight runs in the eighth inning, their big round, snatching the laurel right out of the grasp of the first team. The Oakland Kid had as much stuff as anybody would wish to see, but his aim was away off. Perhaps the experience will be a fine thing for the 19-year-old performer; coming at this time it may impress upon his mind the value of accuracy. In any event, he walked six batters and the Yans managed to inject four hits into the inning.

Through it all Leheny showed no inclination to retire and Bush allowed him to take his medicine. As he absorbed the beating his behavious won the admiration of more than one veteran. Leheny eventually got the Yans out and then he went back and retired the side in the closing frame.

Regis tried hard to start something on the offensive in the Regulars' half of the ninth. He beat out an infield hit by a dash to first, moved along to second on a low throw and scored on sprout Waner's double. But Bunker Hill had too much stuff on the ball and Adams and Paul Waner were retired.

The biggest thrill of the afternoon was furnished by Joe Harris. The strong-armed slugger rammed the ball against the left field fence, which is 400 feet from the home plate. The drive hit half way up on the barricade, the crack of the ball on the bat and on the wooden fence furnishing two distinct explosions.

Once again Adam Comorosky was in the thick of a Hooligan victory. Swinging in the cleanup notch, the bowlegged Pole resembled Honus again as he poked out fiery drives which were followed by beautiful sprints around the bases.

Westminster, D & E High

By JESS CARVER.

THE PLAY of the undefeated Pitt Panthers, national collegiate basketball champions for 1927-28, was easily the dominant factor in the tri-state district campaign which closed with the games of Saturday night.

Almost from the very first, after the Panthers made their sensational sweep through the West, and after they displayed the class and power that was destined to carry them to the most brilliant heights ever achieved by any Pitt or any district varsity team, it was easy to see that, aside from the competition in the Conference, that the battles would be for the runner-up berths and not for leaderships. And in the Conference, another fine team early discouraged other entrants that might have cast covetous eyes on the title—and I refer to Westminister's sophomore team at this point.

Pitt completed a season that will not be equalled for some years to come. The Panthers swept through a hard 21-game schedule, averaging 47 1-7 points per game, defeated the best teams in the mid-west and in the East, and made mincemeat of local opposition. Three members of the Panther varsity scored more points than the leader, Schaff of Pennsylvania, in the Eastern Intercollegiate League, and the same three out-scored the Western Conference leader, Murphy, of Purdue.

Charlie Hyatt, the big star of the Pitt team, scored more points than both men, with 292.

The Panthers easily won the Big Four title, for the second year in succession, defeating Carnegie Tech thrice and Wash-Jeff and West Virginia twice each.

Westminster and Davis-Elkins followed the Panthers in the sensationalism of their showings, while Carnegie Tech and Waynesburg were the big disappointments of the year. Other teams finished about as they were figured to, though Bethany and Thiel showed vastly more power than they were expected to exhibit.

The Conference

Westminster early gave indication of possessing the best team in the league, and sweeping aside the opposition furnished by Duquesne, Thiel, Geneva and Bethany, piled up an early advantage. Victories over Thiel and Bethany were easily repeated, and Waynesburg fell twice, while the Dukes and Geneva managed to turn in victories over the crack U. P. five later in the race.

Waynesburg, failing to win a Conference game, upset all the dope, as the Jackets and not the Dukes were doped to give the United Presbyterians the toughest fight. Thiel beat Geneva and the Dukes in upset games, and Bethany showed class in scoring double wins over Thiel, Geneva and Waynesburg.

With a green team, Chick Davies brought his defending champion Dukes along slowly, and placed them solidly in second place by topping Westminster in the second game of the series, after having lost by a 43-18 score in the first encounter.

Had the Dukes been on their toes the night they played Thiel here in Pittsburgh, they might have eventually worked into a tie with Westminster, but Thiel beat Duquesne and a couple of days later, lost to Westminster for the second time and the race was over.

The District

In the district as a whole, the fight for the runner-up position was a keen one, with four teams in the running almost up until the final games. Westminster clinched the position by taking 11 out of 14 games, with Davis-Elkins third, Duquesne fourth and West Virginia fifth. The Crimson of Grove City was in the running until they faltered against Pitt, and after that were barely able to save sixth position from Geneva.

Davis-Elkins distinguished itself by defeating West Virginit three times, though two of these victories were offset to some extent by a pair of defeats suffered at the hands of Salem. Salem was the only team able to beat the Hurricane this year.

West Virginia lost to D. and E. three times, to Pitt twice and to Wash-Jeff once, and finished in fifth place. The Mountaineers had a much better team than their record would indicate, unfortunate injuries handicapping Coach Stadsvold to some extent.

Nine of the 15 teams in the section finished their campaigns with percentages at or above the .500 mark. Carnegie Tech and Allegheny, the latter the defending champions, brought up the rear, the Tartans failing to win a single game in 13 starts and the Methodists winning one, from Wash-Jeff. Allegheny failed to even scare the boys as defending champions, and was out of the race from the beginning.

There were a number of outstanding players in the section this year, and I believe that the ability of most players was a little above the average.

Hyatt of Pitt was the best in the sector and probably the best in the country. Capt. Reed, Wrobleski, Wunderlich and Zehfuss of Pitt could have played on any team. Black and Taylor and Glenn were the best West Virginia could produce. Robinson and Gilchrist and Saunders starred for old Wash-Jeff and Angelo was the outstanding performer on Bob Thorn's Grove City team.

Westminster offered Delahunty, Capt. Lewis and Sparky Connors and the Dukes presented a trio of fine performers in Benedict, Rosenberg and the diminutive Stephens. Geneva had Friedman, Rubenstein and Merriman and Thiel the Bost brothers and Stan Berkman. Rush and Telfair of Bethany were both good, as was Capt. Hamil. White and Frank played some good basketball for Waynesburg. Nesbitt and Bajr were the best Allegheny could produce, and Harpster and White were the bright spots in Tech's otherwise dark season.

1928 Market 'Boom' Mostly Mythical, Analysis Shows.

By B. C. FORBES

YOU probably have been led to believe that Wall street has had a ripsnorting bull stock market this year. These cold facts may therefore astonish you:

Average quotations on the New York Stock Exchange are not as high today as they were in the first week of January.

Average quotations are still below the level reached five months ago.

Industrial stocks are only a point or two above the average touched last September.

During January a representative group of 216 stocks listed on the New York Exchange shrank in value $277,500,000.

During February the same securities dropped much more, $418,900,000, making a total shrinkage for the first two months of this year of more than $725,000,000.

The only groups of stocks which advanced last month were the motors, mail order and food issues.

Declines were shown by all these groups: Railway, utility, oil, baking, chain stores, department stores, leather, mining and smelting, motor equipment, railway equipment, rubber, steel, sugar, tobacco.

Such prominent stocks as the following are today selling substantially below their last year's best quotations: U. S. Steel, Woolworth, American Telephone, N. Y. Central, Houston Oil, Atchison, American Tobacco, Chesapeake and Ohio, American Smelting, Baltimore and Ohio, American Sugar, General Electric.

Many prominent issues, as the accompanying tables show, are now some distance below the peaks they reached earlier this year.

The "great bull market of 1928," you will thus see, is very largely mythical. The erroneous impression has been created by the extraordinary spectacular speculation, by bullish cliques, in a handful of well-known stocks. Those who have not followed the market closely have been misled into imagining that the stock market as a whole has been booming tremendously.

GENERAL MOTORS has been mainly responsible for the recent furore. Its sensational rise has featured the front pages of metropolitan newspapers almost daily. When you have a corporation that has 17,400,000 shares outstanding it does not take a rise of many points to add globular millions to its "total market value." The front page stories have naturally played up this phase of the advance in General Motors stock.

On Saturday, March 3, the day's rise exceeded $87,000,000; on Monday it was $35,000,000; on Tuesday, $60,000,000, and on Friday, the most sensational day of all, the gain exceeded $160,000,000, thanks chiefly to an official announcement that some 200,000 shares had been purchased at a cost of about $30,000,000, for the General Motors Managers' Securities Company, the G. M. vehicle for sharing profits and paying bonuses to employes.

The "total market value" of General Motors stock at Saturday's close was $2,745,000,000. The final quotation was 157¾, off two points from Friday's close, representing a decline in the "total market value" of approximately $35,000,000.

THIS little table brings out how a number of representative industrial and railway shares have moved down from their high points of the year:

INDUSTRIALS.

	1928 high.	Saturday's close.	Decline from high.
Adams Express	211	190	21
Am. Ry. Express	138	117	21
Am. Sugar pfd.	78	60	18
Firestone Tire and Rubber	234	180	54

On the other hand, some other stocks, notably industrials, closed on Saturday much above their low levels of the current year. Examples:

STILL other issues have fluctuated widely and now stand somewhere near half way between their maximum and minimum quotations of the year. There have been about 30-point swings or more already this year in such issues as International Silver, Vanadium Corporation, Detroit Edison and Adams Express, the extremes for the last stock having been 211 and 95, a spread of 116 points.

THE foregoing shows how very unevenly and erratically the stock market has moved since the opening of the year.

What of the future? My own guess still is that many of the stocks which have been boomed—and this includes many bank stocks—will find distinctly lower levels during 1928, but that numbers of good oil, utility and other stocks which have been out of favor will enjoy a considerable measure of recovery.

MOTORS QUIETS DOWN, RADIO ACTIVE

NEW YORK, March 12.—(AP.)—Speculation for the advance was on a somewhat broader scale in today's market. Radio, General Electric and American Linseed, with extreme gains of 7 points or more, were in the forefront of the advance, while General Motors, the leader in the wild markets of last week, quieted down considerably, but held fairly steady in the face of heavy profit taking sales.

Heavy demands for currency, presumably to meet Federal income tax payments, probably accounted for the higher renewal rate on call loans, but had no effect on the rise in securities values. The unexpectedly large increase of 122,242 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment, and tended to stimulate buying on the part of small traders.

Independent motors, which are expected to show good first-quarter results, were again heavily bought. Chrysler, Packard and Hupp all moved up 2 to 3 points to new high levels for the year. Stewart Warner Speedometer and some of the other accessories also were well bought. General Motors sold down 1⅝ points in the early trading, but made up its loss by early afternoon. U. S. Steel common crossed 148 to a new high on the current recovery for a gain of more than 3 points.

Radio held within a few points of the top figure of 127½ established in the first hour of trading and General Electric, which has large radio holdings, hovered around its peak price of 140¾. Continental Baking A broke 3 points to a new low at 34 and heaviness developed in Greene Cananea Copper, Dupont and Johns Manville.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Union Trust at $10,100.

A sale of three shares of Union Trust Company was recorded on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today at $10,100 a share, the highest price ever recorded for any issue in the local market, and, in the opinion of local brokers usually informed in regard to bank stocks, the highest price ever recorded anywhere for a bank stock. Today's price compares with a reported sale "over the counter" last week at $9,000 a share. Traders here were unable to recall any stock ever having reached such price with the exception of Standard Oil of Indiana, which at one time sold on the New York Curb at around $12,000 a share, prior to a distribution of a 900 per cent stock dividend. Today's sales in the official market make Union Trust the highest priced stock in the world, according to brokers here. The transaction was made through Moore, Leonard & Lynch on the selling side and C. D. Halsey & Co. as the buying house.

Bethlehem Steel.

Buying of Bethlehem Steel has come from interests who were identified with the substantial advance in that stock last year when dividend talk was heard in all quarters. The letup in steel buying and lower prices postponed the resumption of dividends, but continued improvement in steel demand and prices are likely soon to bring about a renewal of dividend talk. Bethlehem's advances in the past have been popular and attracted a large public following.

Public Coming In.

Public participation has expanded substantially in the past few days. Outsiders have been active buyers of stocks, and thus far their purchases have been margined more conservatively than at any time in months. In addition to this demand there has been heavy odd-lot buying of standard dividend paying industrials which have been paid for outright and taken out of the market. Most commission houses have adopted the policy of cautioning against over-extension on the long side and are advising clients to keep accounts in liquid condition. This has been an important influence in maintaining generally strong margins.

Stronach Nail Company.

The establishment in the Pittsburgh district of a new nail mill with a capacity of more than half a million kegs annually was announced yesterday by E. S. Eggers, president of the Stronach Nail Company. Headquarters of the company have been established in the Union National Bank Building. For its local plant the company has purchased a 10-acre site at Ellwood City, with over 110,000 square feet of mill building floor space.

The company manufactures a special nail invented by H. E. Stronach, recently head of the industrial department of the West Coast Lumber Trade Extension Bureau and now vice president of the Stronach Nail Company. There has also been developed a special type of nail making machine and machines of this type are being installed in the Ellwood City plant. The nails are patented in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

The plant will be in full production by early spring. The company contemplates locating five other manufacturing units at strategic shipping points in this country, as well as in Canada and in England. Pittsburgh will be the center of the company's manufacturing and sales activities.

It is said that approximately 65 per cent of the remaining timber supply in America is of such a nature that it is easily split by an ordinary nail and so reduces its commercial value. The special nail has a blunt, triangular point instead of the diamond shaped point found on ordinary nails. This feature is said to minimize the tendency of wood to split, inasmuch as the nail punches a hole for itself, instead of spreading the fibers of the wood apart.

The manufacture of these new nails was begun two years ago. The officers of the company are E. S. Eggers, president; J. Henry Leonard, vice president and treasurer; Harry S. Stronach, vice president and sales manager; R. F. Kiefer, vice president and plant manager, and Walker McCune, secretary.

Steel Employes' Stocks.

Some stock market observers believe the recent strength of United States steel common in part may have been due to purchases by the corporation for the 1928 employes' profit-sharing plan. Sugar Industry Improves.

The report of the American Sugar Refining Company will be presented to stockholders at the annual meeting tomorrow. It will indicate the difficult time refiners had in 1927. Since the close of the year, however, there has been a distinct improvement in the refined business, thanks to the sugar institute, which is operating without ostentation, but none the less effectively. CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 12.—Unexpected higher quotations for wheat at Liverpool and bullish domestic crop reports led to price upturns early today in the wheat market here. Corn also developed strength, influenced by adverse weather for corn movement. Opening at ⅛c to ⅝c advance, Chicago wheat later held near to the initial range. Corn started ⅛c off to ⅛c up and subsequently hardened all around. Oats were easy. Provisions tended upward.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 12.—A firmer undertone developed in the raw sugar market early today. Prices advanced 1-32 of a cent to the basis of 4.49c for Cuban. Sales included about 50,000 bags of Porto Rican for March shipment at 4.46c and 32,000 bags of Cuban in the same position, at 4.49c.

After declining 7 to 3 points under liquidation, and trade selling in response to the easier London market, raw sugar futures firmed up on covering and a little outside buying, influenced by the higher spot market. All early losses were recovered and prices at midday were net unchanged to 1 point higher.

Refined sugar prices were unchanged at 5.70@5.75c for fine granulated, with a fair inquiry reported.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 12.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 4 points, sold off slightly under offerings, probably influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables, then steadied on reports of dry weather in West Texas and Washington advices indicating a large survival of boll weevil at some Texas points.

May contracts sold up to 18.60c and October to 18.19c, or about 2 to 6 points net higher. The market was quiet, but steady at the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported quiet steady market in Liverpool and that demand for cotton cloths was well sustained, with manufacturers and spinners well engaged.

YOUNGSTOWN TURFMEN SELL VICTOR FRISCO

HARRINGTON, Del., March 12.—Victor Frisco, the black trotting son of San Francisco, has joined the stable of the well-known eastern reinsman, Billy Hodson, here. He recently was purchased by A. G. Lord, Nyack, N. Y., sportsman, from McGill and Heinbaugh of Youngstown, O., for a price reported to be about $5,000.

UNION TRUST AT PEAK PRICE

Prices were firm at the opening of the new week on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Business was well scattered among the better grade industrials, with Standard Sanitary and Westinghouse Air Brake in fair demand.

Air Brake moved up early in response to an upturn in New York. The volume handled here was not large, but traders bought confidently on the strength of the movement in the eastern market where the stock was taken on a steady rise during the first hour. Electric opened off a little in New York and suffered a further decline in the initial dealings after which it firmed up and resumed the advance at a more moderate pace. General Electric featured the electrical group with a wide overnight opening and a subsequent advance.

Standard Sanitary held around 35½ with a fair volume of stock changing hands at that level. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt was unchanged in the early dealings. The company's report for 1927 made a splendid showing with the balance sheet disclosing cash of $1,141,000 and marketable securities of $1,694,000. The latter is understood to consist mostly of Liberty Bonds acquired at prices under the current market.

Considerable attention was attracted to the banking group by the sale of a block of three shares Union Trust Company at $10,100 a share, the highest prize ever recorded for a bank stock. Comparison of the stock's advance is made against an "over-counter" sale last week of $9,600. No sales have been recorded in the official market for several months.

Mr. E. S. Eggers, President of Stronach Nail Company, has summarized his letter of February 27, 1928 as follows:

HISTORY: The Stronach Nail Company was incorporated in Pennsylvania in 1927 to manufacture and sell, under exclusive rights, the Stronach Non-Splitting Nail patented in the United States, Great Britain and Canada. This special nail was designed by H. S. Stronach to overcome the objectionable splitting of wood by the ordinary pointed wire nail. In September 1923 basic patents were granted covering this nail and subsequently a machine was developed for its manufacture. For more than two years the Stronach Non-Splitting Nail has been made and distributed to users in all parts of the United States. This Nail has met with enthusiastic approval from sources which represent a large and diversified demand. As a result of this introductory development the indicated demand for the Stronach Non-Splitting Nail is far greater than the full production facilities of the plant.

THE STRONACH NON-SPLITTING NAIL: This Nail has a triangular entering end which has a smaller area than the cross section of the shank of the nail. The triangular end cuts the fibers of the wood as it enters and punches a triangular hole ahead of the nail without spreading the fibers apart with the result that the splitting of the wood is avoided. Government Laboratory Tests developed the fact that this special nail has a holding power as high as 36% greater than the ordinary wire nail of the same size. Specially designed machinery is used in the manufacture of these nails and on account of this equipment manufacturing costs are less than those of the ordinary wire nails. Due to its holding power and Non-Splitting feature the Stronach Non-Splitting Nail commands a higher price than ordinary wire nails.

PROPERTY: The manufacturing plant of the Company is located at Ellwood City, Pa., on approximately 20 acres of land owned free and clear of encumbrance. The buildings are of fire proof construction and provide adequate space for 100 nail machines and complementary wire drawing equipment. Shipping facilities are provided by direct sidings from the Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroads.

INDUSTRY: The production of ordinary wire nails in the United States in 1926 amounted to approximately 33 million kegs. The estimated productive capacity of 100 Stronach Non-Splitting Nail machines is conservatively placed at 400,000 kegs or 1.2% of the present total national production. Present inquiries and orders for the Stronach Non-Splitting Nail indicate that the production capacity of the Ellwood City plant will not be adequate to meet the current demand for this special nail. The demand for this nail should constantly increase as its superior qualities become better known. Its use will make available for commercial purposes the vast timber supply of this country which now consists of over 60% of woods easily split. Comprehensive plans have been developed for the locating of additional manufacturing facilities in five other sections of this country and for the expansion of the business to foreign countries.

EARNINGS: Independent engineers have furnished a report on the Company's property and production costs. Based on this report, with 100 machines in operation, the Company will earn about $8.66 per share applicable to the $2.00 cumulative dividend requirement on this participating stock.

DIVIDENDS: The Participating Stock is entitled to cumulative preferred dividends at the rate of $2.00 per share per year payable semi-annually March 1st and September 1st. In addition to this cumulative preferred dividend of $2.00 per share per year this stock is entitled to participate share for share with the common stock and to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors from the surplus net profits of the Company earned in each fiscal year, an additional participating dividend not exceeding $2.00 per share per year.

MANAGEMENT: The management of the Company will be in the hands of the following:

E. S. EGGERS — President
J. HENRY LEONARD — Vice-President & Treasurer
H. S. STRONACH — Vice-President & Sales Manager
R. F. KIEFER — Vice-President & Plant Manager

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was fair today at the local wholesale produce district. Several changes were made in the prices on vegetables. The fruit market was fairly active. Apples in bushel lots were somewhat higher, while all other fruit was sold at about unchanged prices.

The butter, egg and cheese markets were firm at the quotations listed.

Poultry was in liberal supply and the market was easy. The demand was fair. Live leghorn and heavy hens were a little lower.

Carlot supplies were rather heavy, a total of 615 cars being on track. Arrivals included 21 cars of apples, 15 cabbage, 3 carrots, 2 cauliflower, 8 celery, 1 chicory, 1 grapefruit, 2 lemons, 4 lettuce, 8 onions, 6 oranges, 1 pears, 2 peppers, 2 spinach, 1 peas, 71 potatoes, 3 sweet potatoes, 1 strawberries, 1 tomatoes, 1 turnips and 1 radishes.

That Hermann L., Ludwig I. and Frederick C. Grote, trustees under the Deed of Trust of C. H. Lot No. 20 in the plan of the sub-division of Lot No. 788 in the plan of the Homestead Bank and Life Insurance Company, as recorded in Plan Book Vol. 5, pages 290 and 291, and said sub-division plan in Plan Book Vol. 6, page 239, of the Recorder's Office of Allegheny county, said Lot No. 20 being bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning on the southeasterly side of Fifteenth Avenue at the distance of 57.30 feet southwardly from the corner of West street; thence extending in front or width on Fifteenth avenue southwardly 25 feet to Lot No. 21 in said sub-division plan; thence along the line of said Lot No. 21 southeastwardly 91.21 feet to land of West; thence along land of said West northwestwardly 25.5 feet to Lot No. 19 in said sub-division plan; thence along the line of said Lot No. 19 northwestwardly 80.84 feet to the place of beginning.

BUGS BAER Says

BEEN too much buzzing about Mayor Jimmy's habit of making his appointments wait for him.

He answered it best himself over in England. They told him that the Lord Mayor of London was always on time.

Jimmy asked, "What else has he got to do?"

They couldn't answer it, realizing that the Lord Mayor was an inverted thermometer with zero at the top.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

James may be late in getting there. So was Blucher at Waterloo.

But it was Blucher who pulled Napoleon out of the proscenium box.

George Washington broke more battle engagements than he kept. When he got there he made it a wildcat Chatauqua. The air was filled with hair, teeth and claws.

Suppose Jimmy, who is a Democrat, did keep Coolidge waiting 40 minutes!

Think of how long Harding and Coolidge have kept the Democrats waiting.

Jimmy has the right idea about things. Some people go dizzy over invitations, throw their collars all over the room, lose their cuff links, argue with the wife and otherwise start a run on the bank.

The correct way is to take things the Jimmy way, stay cool, pat the hair down, fold the gloves and march in when everybody is coming out. So far as you are concerned you have had a pleasant evening.

Jimmy didn't see "Abie's Irish Rose" until the third year. He wasn't taking any chances of walking in on a rehearsal.

Keeping Dawes waiting 30 minutes isn't tabulated as a crime in our loose-leaf constitution. Thirty minutes in a Vice President's life is easily spanned by a pipe load of tobacco.

And as for the cabinet, anything you do to them is an improvement. Their sagacity is revealed by numerous photographs showing eight hungry guys seated around a table without a bit of food on it.

Baby's first tooth is an important one, but we don't want to meet anybody until they have got their wisdom snappers.

Which is why we approve of Jimmy's method of establishing appointments. He wants to make certain that he doesn't appear until everybody is older and wiser.

Coal Police Irritate; Should Be Restrained

Whether the coal and iron police on duty at the mines are as hard-boiled and calloused and brutal as the striking miners claim them to be or as gentlemanly as their employers, the coal operators, would lead us to beleive, the fact is that they are a constant irritant in the communities where they make their presence felt.

Mine properties must be protected. It is the business of the state to protect them and they are entitled to the same legal protection given any other property. But the state law-making body has seen fit to delegate part of the state's peace-preservation duty to private hands, hence we have coal and iron police, privately paid officers empowered with all the strength of state laws.

The system is vicious and un-American.

It will be for the law-makers to correct the evil of this thing, but for the present we have the coal and iron police. It is with no intention of prejudicing anybody against them that we repeat they are an irritant. For that reason they should be restrained from making themselves unduly officious and obnoxious.

Complaint has been made that they are patrolling roads in Bethel township a mile away from coal company property.

The state of public opinion concerning them being what it is in Bethel township, they should be prevented from further inflaming the people by unnecessarily appearing among those who regard them with mistrust. That may be an unjust opinion, but as long as it exists it should be recognized as a danger signal.

It seems the coal and iron police are answerable only to their employers. If the latter have the peace of the community in mind they will keep their property guardians where they belong—on the property being guarded.

Film Saves for Posterity Lindy's Inspiring Career

The most dramatic invention of our time is the flying machine. Its most attractive exponent is Col. Lindbergh. The career of Lindy thus makes a moving picture of aviation.

It is most fortunate for posterity that a film made by Hearst film experts for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer preserves the visual story of Lindy's 40,000 miles in the air, from the days of his training through the memorable flight to Paris and his countrywide educational tour to and including his good-will swing through Mexico and the Caribbean countries.

Nothing that has come from picture studios is so replete with human interest or so fraught with what in time will be historic value.

It will be viewed with enthusiasm today, but to our grandchildren it will be of incestimable charm, since it will make history human.

The printed word in textbooks on the past is often dead. The names, the dates, mean little, because bereft of living appeal.

Here the past will reveal itself in terms of life and incomparable daring, as vidid as if the scenes were contemporary.

What would we not give to see re-enacted some of the great events now known to us only through the medium of cold prose? Lincoln at Gettysburg, for example; Lee and Grant at Appomattox; the victory of Dewey at Manila; the famous charge up San Juan Hill.

In putting the camera to the service of future education this depicting of the surpassing achievements of our lone eagle of the air will prove a distinctive contribution.

Gold Star Mother Bill Attempt to Pay Unpayable

This week the Gold Star Mother Bill, which has passed the House, is scheduled to come before the Senate.

Under this bill, gold star mothers throughout the nation will be provided with a free trip to France to view the graves of their warrior sons, lost in battle.

It is estimated that between 3,000 and 5,000 war mothers will take advantage of this generous offer of their government.

To these mothers it will be the realization of long cherished dreams. To the women of France, stricken likewise, it will be an embassy of love and good will. To the government of the United States the trip will represent at least an attempt to pay a debt that can never be paid.

The bill should pass the Senate as it did the House, without opposing vote. It is ten years after the World War and a new generation is growing up. Nevertheless, this country is glad to show that it has lost none of the keenness of its gratitude and sympathy for the gold star mothers who made the supreme sacrifice in the nation's cause.

Orville Wright's Plane

It Should Stay Where It Was Built.

Orville Wright says he has sent his original flying machine to the British Museum, not to the Smithsonian Institution, because the Smithsonian tried to give the credit for the invention to Langley.

Mr. Wright, of course, may do as he pleases with his machine. But it will not be hard for him to realize that Col. Lindbergh would not send his Spirit of St. Louis to stay in England, no matter what any Smithsonian institution might say.

As a matter of fact if Langley had not INVENTED the airplane, if he had not made his necessary, although unsuccessful attempts, no Wright airplane would have been built.

This country appreciates the work done by the Wright brothers, but hopes that the surviving brother will remember that he is an American.

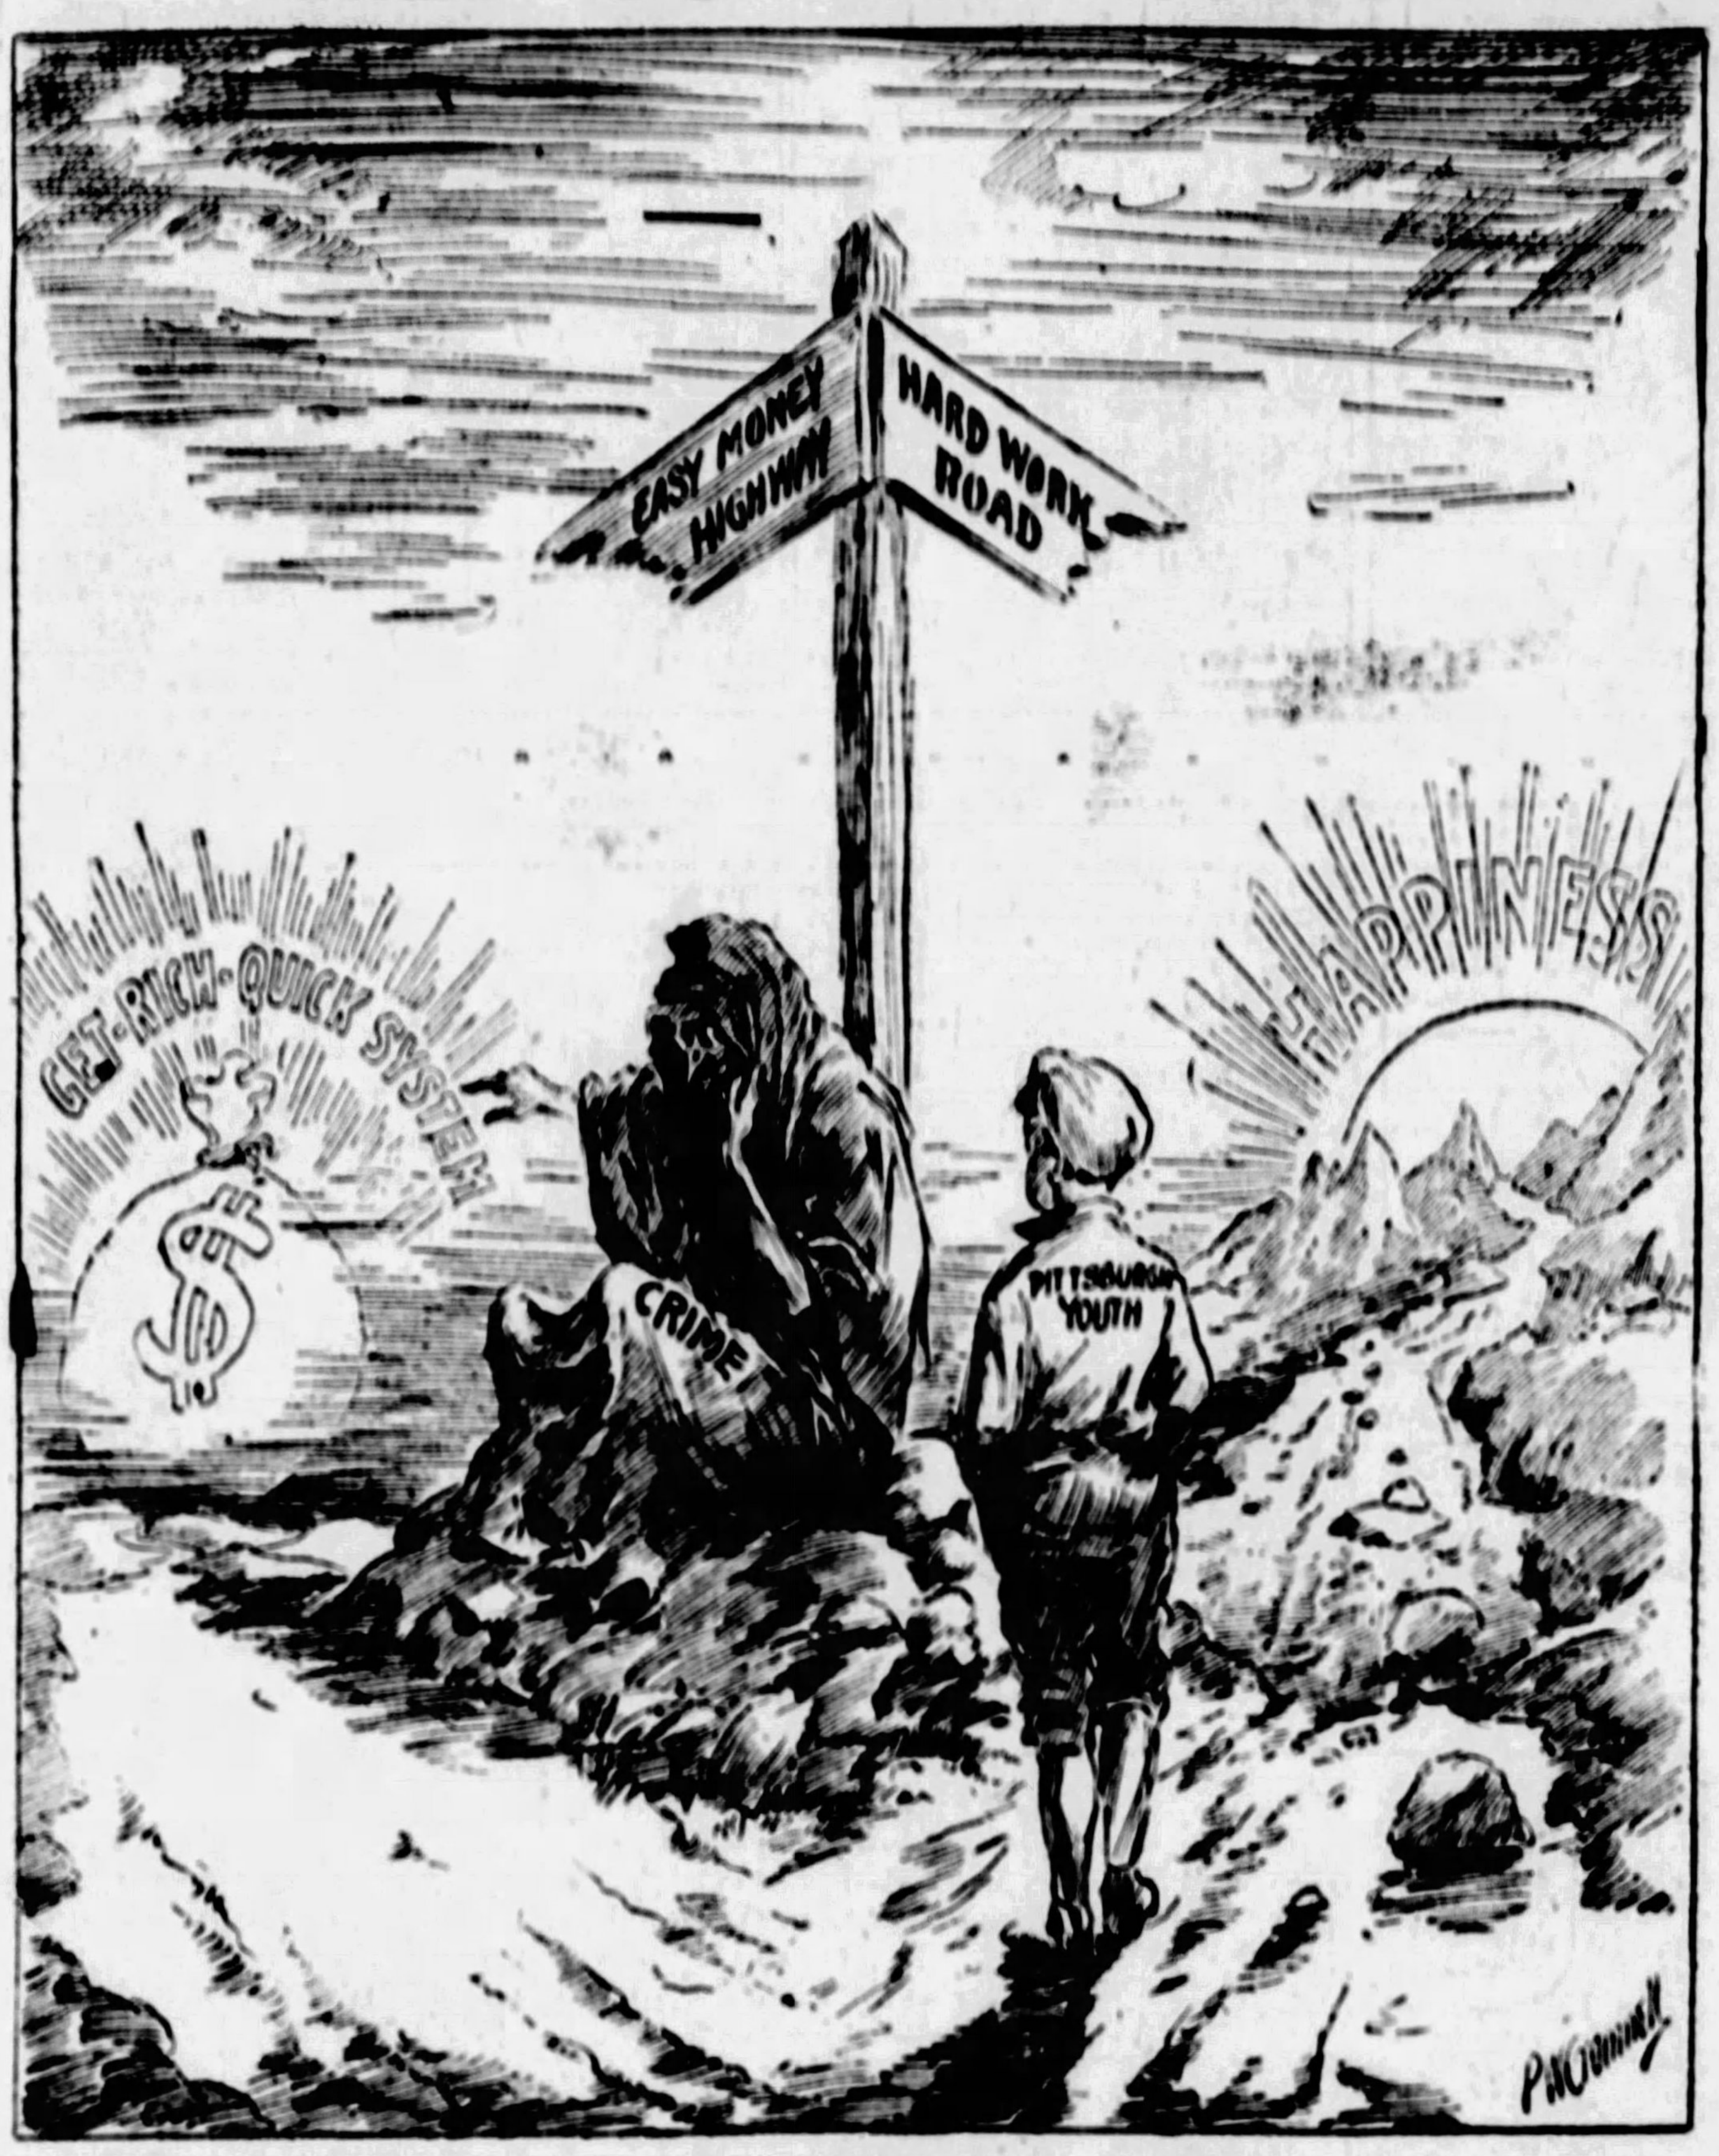
KEEP TO THE RIGHT!



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Magic Underfoot

"A says if a body is withdrawn beneath the surface of the earth, say 3,000 miles, it loses a considerable percentage of its weight. He also contends that Newton's law of weight varying inversely with square of distance does not hold beneath the earth's surface. B contends that a body will gain weight as it approaches the center of the earth in accordance with Newton's law. Which is right?—I. C. H."

B FORGETS that Newton himself proved that inside a spherical shell of uniform density and thickness a particle has no weight, i. e., is not drawn in any direction, for the attraction of the shell upon it is balanced on all sides. Therefore if the earth consisted of a hollow shell of that kind a body or particle placed inside would have no tendency to fall in any direction. It would not need to be at the center of the hollow sphere, because, as Newton showed mathematically, no matter where it was in the interior space the balance of attraction would be maintained.

Now, a solid sphere of uniform density may be regarded as made up of a continuous series of superposed shells. Supposing the earth to be such a sphere, then a particle situated at any depth within it will experience no effect of attraction from any part of the earth's mass that is situated at a greater distance from the center than the particle, i. e., above the level of the particle. It will be drawn toward the center only by so much of the earth's mass as lies below its level.

From this it follows that the nearer to the center the particle is placed the less will be the attraction upon it, or the less its weight, and when it is exactly at the center it will not be attracted in any direction, or will have no weight.

But the earth is not exactly a sphere and it is not of uniform density, so that in applying the principle of Newton above explained some modification of the results is to be expected. Because our knowledge of the interior state of the earth is mostly inferential it is not easy to invent a formula that will truly represent the facts. The great French mathematician Laplace, however, made a formula that has been used in hypothetical calculations of this kind which probably show approximately the real operation of gravity inside the earth.

As applied by Prof. R. S. Woodword Laplace's formula indicates that the force of gravity increases slightly down to a depth of about 610 miles where it becomes a maximum at the value of nearly 1.04. This means that a body weighing 100 pounds on the surface would weigh 104 pounds at a depth of about 600 miles. Below that depth the calculation shows that the force of gravity diminishes at an increasing rate, becoming only 0.4567 at the depth of 3,000 miles, and vanishing at the center.

But, while the body would possess no weight, i. e., no tendency to move toward the center when it was at the center itself, yet it would be subjected there to an enormous pressure on all sides from the superincumbent mass of the globe. Calculation shows that this pressure would amount to about 25,000 tons per square inch. The pressure increases uninterruptedly from surface to center.

If it troubles you to understand how the pressure can become a maximum where the weight becomes zero, you have only to reflect that the pressure represents the weight of a continuous column of matter nearly 4,000 miles in height, while the weight of the particle represents merely the force of gravity upon that particle when it is at certain distances from the center, and since gravity becomes zero at the center the weight of the particle must there become zero likewise.

Businesslike Italy

ITALY is offering to all Americans who travel on ships flying the Italian flag a free visa for their passport.

This means a saving of $10 to the passenger. The offer specifically mentions "Americans" because Americans are the most numerous of travelers.

This offer has been made by Italy to give aid to the Italian merchant marine, now one of the most flourishing on the high seas.

Italy has a right to do anything she desires to give aid to her merchant marine. It is the merchant marine which furnishes big and speedy transports during critical times.

No protest has been offered against Italy's action. Who would protest if we retaliated?

Once Overs

Harsh Criticism

YOU haven't any sympathy for the one who yields to temptation.

You feel that he is weak and his fall is, therefore, less to be regretted.

If misfortune overtakes a strong and important cog in the business world, you feel sorry, but for the one who is tempted and falls, you have nothing.

You ought to be more charitable.

Haven't there been times in your own life when you came near giving in to the desire you had to do something against your conscience?

What kept you from yielding?

Was it not some instruction or advice you had been given, perhaps the thought of disgrace to your family?

Supposing you had not had the environment you enjoyed, the counsel of wise parents, a family of which you were proud, would you have overcome your desire to overstep the bounds of propriety?

Can you imagine the position of the weak and easily influenced one?

If you cannot, you should not be harsh in your criticism.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Grandmother's House

GRANDMOTHER'S house stood, white and low,
Between tall locust trees,
With hollyhocks, prim row on row,
And pinks to tempt the bees.

Within the hallway, cool and dim,
A great clock told the hours,
And there old time, the stern and grim,
Grew fragrant as the flowers.

The large, square rooms were very still
Save when the children's play,
Their peals of laughter, gay and shrill,
Made music through the day.

Grandmother's house was always sweet,
And now faint lavendar
Can make long ranks of years retreat
And take me back to her!

Words of the Wise

A fool is one whom simpletons believe to be a man of merit.—La Bruyere.

Mighty things haste to destruction: this limit have the gods assigned to human prosperity.—Lucan.

Not stones, nor wood, nor the art of artisans make a state; but where men are who know how to take care of themselves, there are cities and walls.—Attributed to Alcaeus.

Mahomet made the people believe that he would call a hill to him and from the top of it offer up his prayers for the observers of his law. The people assembled; Mahomet called the hill to come to him, again and again, and when he hill stood still, he was never a whit abashed, but said, "If the hill will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the hill."—Bacon.

Ye Towne Gossip

by K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.: I know some Janes I'd like to lam in the face with a blueberry pie. And it all grows out of the fact that I have a boy friend, who is a college lad, and whom I loved and who loved me until he got it into his head that he wanted to play around because the other fellows did, and that, if you wanted to rate, you just had to go around with lots of girls, and you had to know your stuff when it came to hot necking parties, smoking and drinking and all the rest of this fraternity rot. And I, just because HE DIDN'T WANT ME TO DO THESE THINGS, AM NOW LEFT OUT IN THE COLD. And he tells me he still loves me just because I'm not like these other girls, but most of the time, he plays around with this other crowd. And that's why I want to throw pies and I don't care where they hit.

IS NECKING your man.
AND BESIDES that Blondie.
IT MAY be true.
* * *
HE REALLY loves you.
* * *
AND I am speaking.
WITH THE wisdom of one.
WHO WAS once a young man.
AND WHO liked to pet.
BUT IN those days.
PETTING WASN'T so ardent.
* * *
AS IT is today.
AND WAS mostly done.
BY HOLDING hands.
EXCEPT IN cases.
WHERE SOME brazen girl.
MIGHT PERMIT an arm.
ABOUT HER waist.
OR ONE more brazen.
AND COMPLETELY lost.
MIGHT SURRENDER herself.
TO A goodnight kiss.
LASTING NO longer.
THAN THE crack of a whip.
AND I can remember.
THAT THE girl I loved
FOR THE longest time.
OF MY early loves.
SHE WASN'T like that.
AND IF ever I happened.
TO BE on a party.
THAT WAS really wild.
WITH KISSING permitted.
IF THE chance should come.
* * *
I'D BE so ashamed.
* * *
WHEN IT was over.
THAT MY love for the girl.
WHO WAS my sweetheart.
WOULD SWELL up so.
THAT I'D nearly bust.
TILL I'D see her again.
AND HOLD her hand.
AND THIS fellow of yours.
MAY BE like that.
THOUGH IN my day.
THERE WERE no autos.
* * *
AND WE packed no licker.
I THANK you.

"Lame Duck" Pests

REPRESENTATIVE HOWARD is severe on ex-members of Congress who haunt the Capitol as trappers of votes for predatory interests. He would put them in jail.

A lobbyist in stripes would be a novelty. But there is no doubt that these "lame duck" pests should be denied the privilege of the floor.

PARIS, March 12.—The Latin Quarter continues to provoke smiles in the same fashion as Greenwich Village. It displays its ridiculous side and the real cultural ferment stirring underneath is rarely seen. Only comic poseurs and the stillborn "arty" what-nots are on parade.

The Cafe du Dome remains the Montparnasse Mecca with the Rotonde across the street and Le Select down the block catching the overflow. Here the boys and girls referred to at home as "studying art abroad" wear berets and smocks and pile up the saucers.

Every freak ism of art finds immediate following. The young man with latticed boots and velvet hat sipping his pernod is a paleo-meditationist. This school will just "meditate" for years before doing anything in the way of actual physical effort. Sometimes they never get around to it.

The young girl with the Dutch bob who wears a robe and sandals and puffs a little cigar is identified with the neo-Something or other. She makes her way through the tables of the Dome like a line-plunging fullback—not showing off, you understand, just thinking great big thoughts. And always Kiki, the Dome hoyden.

Two girls in mannish attire with swagger sticks and monocles debouch from the Metro. They stop as inconspicuously as matinee idols on the curb and discuss something that amuses them tremendously. They slap each other on the back man-fashion, light cigarets and move away.

Then there are those youths with fuzz on their jaws trimmed pointedly who wear the wide black hats of Boulevard St. Michel. They call each other Rene, Pierre and Andre, punctuate their talk with frequent "Voilas" and "Alors" and eagerly await the monthly check from self-sacrificing parents in Twin Oaks, Neb.

It is but fair to say all this is the "side show." Hundreds of young men and women are toiling earnestly in the attics and art schools to furnish the world with greater artistic beauty. But they are rarely seen around the Dome.

The King and Queen of Afghanistan are in Paris and native flags of their country fly from every building. Nothing so thrills Paris as a touch of royalty. Aside from reviving fluttering monarchistic hopes, it gives the town another excuse for a holiday. I have been here 10 days and there have been four fetes with all stores and public buildings closed. A Paris reporter invited me to one of the public receptions but I don't speak Afghan well.

My wife just sacrificed a thumb nail in a French window. I had a feeling that would happen. From now on I intend to sneak up on them wearing boxing gloves.

The law against raising rents in Paris ends shortly and then it is predicted rent prices will be no different from New York. No more $50 a year apartments.

My favorite street is Rue Mouffetarde which seems to be hiding its mean shabbiness back of the Pantheon. Lisle Bell discovered it on a Sunday morning stroll several years ago and ran all the way out to Avenue Henri Martin to tell me and I notice it figures in a recent novel by Robert Service. If a street can scowl, it does. It is just wide enough for a single taxicab and is solid with low drinking dens. Here one sees the picturesque Apache with his fancy muffler and long visored cap. And women so steeped in vice they appear bestial. It slopes down to a market which collects jabbering housewives who bargain in sous like chattering parrots. Residents of Mouffetarde eat horse meat and live in this squalid world of their own and seldom leave it. The air is fetid with stale wine and decaying vegetables. In upstairs hovels live many "sewer rats" of Paris who do not smell so sweet, either.

Paris "sniffles" through the winter. The clinging damp seems to create a collective and continuous head cold and nobody cares.

Lent

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The Lenten season is upon us.

It is the time of year when vast numbers of people will take an inventory of their spiritual furnishings.

There are many who lay no claim to spiritual life and do not regard themselves as especially spiritual, but there is no man exempt from the influence of the spiritualities.

It might be a good thing for every person to take advantage of this season to inquire into his motives.

Let him examine his deeds and wishes and see whether or not he stands four-square with his conscience.

There are many things we all do that may be correct according to the standards of those about us, but that would not be correct compared with our own standards of right and wrong. Opportunity might be taken to clean one's life of suspected motives.

The story has been told of Horace Bushnell that one time while there was a revival at college he was considerably interested, but could get no idea of God. Finally, in his room, alone, he said to himself that while he could not understand this question of God he knew that if there were a God he was on the side of right, and he therefore unqualifiedly pledged his adherence to the right so long as he lived. This was the beginning of his religious life.

It would be a good beginning for all of us. Whoever God may be, he is the embodiment of truth and right, and if we thoroughly line up ourselves with that we are not far from the Kingdom.

If we would all adhere strictly to our notions of right without reference to what other people think, the millennium would not be far off.

No man can be said truly to serve God so long as he is doing that which is wrong. His instincts are his best judge. There is more wisdom in a maiden's blush than in all the books of theology.

Let us all be fundamentalists in the sense of going back to the great fundamental, that is, the idea of doing right all the time. Whatever our creed or notion of religion may be we will not go very far astray if we adhere to the right.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

"PEOPLE should marry while they are young," says Judge Ben Lindsey.

"What do young people of 18 know about what they want?" say the parents.

Now comes Elizabeth Reeves, of Salt Lake, 103 years old, who separates from her husband, 95, with the remark: "Marriage at our age is not a success."

The age to marry must be the age of discretion. If somebody could only find out what that is!

Henrietta Dugmore, 22, goes wild animal hunting with her father, Maj. A. Radclyffe, a Britisher, who claims the distinction of having been fanned by a wild elephant's ears for 15 minutes.

In India when elephants are captured they are given opium daily. It is part of the life in India. And if you give an elephant his poppy juice regularly, he will fan you with his ears all summer. So, of course, over there no distinction is involved.

Felicitas Latteier, 11 months old, is the youngest passenger ever to cross the Atlantic alone. Her parents sent her to Germany on the Dresden, to visit her grandmother. No one is the least bit worried about Felicitas. Like all girls she knows what she wants, and like all American girls she knows how to get it.

A woman politician says: "Lots of men are more punctual than Mayor Walker, but when they get there, what have you?"

A gentleman bromide who was tired of waiting, brought that up about the early worms. The woman informed him: "That's all right. When Mayor Jimmy wants to fish for something he has plenty of friends who will get up early and get him all the worms he wants. He should hurry!"

Most pretty women do their game hunting on Broadway.

I saw a pretty huntress in a railway station drug store the other night, with a well-known theatrical producer. She admired a bottle of perfume.

"How much?" said the producer, showing evidence of producing immediately.

"Fifty dollars," said the clerk, showing him the bolet.

"Huh!" said the producer, shoving the bottle away from him, "that would keep a whole family for a week."

The girl wore that pathetic expression of a consumer with nothing to consume.
